IMPORTANT CONFERENCE AT PRESIDENT'S HOME

Some International Questions Discussed at Length.

Secretary Hay at Sagamore Hill Until Far Into Night — Russian and Alaskan Cases Taken Up—Senator Hanna a Guest.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 7.—Secretary of State John Hay is a guest of President Roosevelt to-night at Sagamore Hill. Matters of grave importance to this country, in its international relations, were under consideration during the afternoon and evening.

The conclusions reached at the conference are not disclosed, both the President and Secretary Hay regarding it as inexpedient at this time to discuss for publication the details of their work. Most of their attention was given to two subjects of serious concern. They considered in all its phases the Russian situation, particularly with respect to the B'nai B'rith petition, which it has been determined will be forwarded to the Russian Government, and the Alaskan boundary question, which next month is to be taken up for what is hoped may be final adjustment by the American and British Commission in London.

Secretary Hay arrived here from Newport, R. I., where he has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Payne Whitney, at 12:20 o'clock this afternoon. He was accompanied by Senator Fairbanks of Indiana. Senator Thomas Kearns of Utah arrived on the same train, although he did not meet the other two until they alighted at the Oyster Bay Station. The party was met by one of the executive carriages and driven direct to Sagamore Hill.

Prior to their arrival at the President's home Senator Hanna of Ohio, accompanied by Mrs. Hanna and their friend Miss Phelps, and Mr. and Mrs. Clement A. Griscom and Miss Griscom, had reached Sagamore Hill on Clement A. Griscom's private yacht Alvina. The visitors landed from the yacht at the J. West Roosevelt pier and were conducted to Sagamore Hill.

It was a distinguished party which assembled soon afterward at luncheon around the hospitable board of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. It included besides those already mentioned, the President's house guests and Guy Wetmore Carryl, the author.

After the luncheon President Roosevelt discussed with Secretary Hay and Senators Fairbanks, Hanna, and Kearns the Alaskan boundary matter. Senator Fairbanks was a member of the Joint High Commission which had that question under consideration several years ago, and the President and Secretary took this opportunity to go over the matter with him. It is understood that the papers in the American case have been made up, and the case is ready for presentation.

Secretary Root, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, and ex-Senator Turner of Washington—the American members of the commission—will leave for England in the course of a month to begin the actual work of the commission in London. After a very full discussion of the question, including consideration of the final instructions to the American Commissioners, Senators Fairbanks and Kearns left the President's house and took a late afternoon train for New York.

Senator Hanna and his party boarded their yacht and sailed for Newport. Senator Hanna will cruise along the North Atlantic Coast for several weeks in the Alvina, going as far north as Bar Harbor, Me.

"Have I retired from business?" said Senator Hanna, repeating the inquiry put to him by the newspaper men, as he was about to enter the launch at the pier to return to the Alvina. "I should say not. I never retire from anything."

The Senator has relieved himself of some of his business responsibilities, but says he has no intention of retiring from active business life. That is a part of his life, he says, and he could never be happy with no business to attend to.

Senator Hanna assured the newspaper men that his visit to the President had no political significance. His health, he said, was getting better, but when one of his persistent interviewers inquired if he thought he would be able to manage the next Republican National campaign, he replied laughingly: "Now, you are getting inquisitive. Really, that is a matter which has not been determined, so far as I know. That question of the National Chairmanship can be determined only by future events."

When the other visitors had gone the President and Secretary Hay continued their conference until far into the night. It was noted as a bit significant that they should begin their conference on the very day the Russian Ambassador, Count Cassini, sailed for home. It is regarded as likely that some developments in the Russian situation may be expected in a few days.

GIRL DEFENDS JAIL FROM MOB.

Eighteen-Year-Old Daughter of South Carolina Sheriff Repulses Masked Men Who Sought Murderer.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 7.—Fourteen years ago eight negroes accused of murder were taken from jail in Barnwell and lynched. The jail was not stoutly defended and the officials were severely criticised.

Last night another demand was made for a prisoner, this time a white man who slew another. There was no official present. The daughter of the Sheriff, a girl just out of school, was there alone. But the girl, armed with a rifle, drove back the mob, and there was no lynching.

Saturday evening a Fourth of July dance was given at the village of Kline, and the country belles and beaus from miles around participated. As usual on such occasions, the bottle was frequently passed among the men, and Herbert Sanders and Seaborn Moore got into a fight over a young woman.

A pistol flashed, and Sanders fell, shot through the body. His friends were threatening, and Moore hurried across country to Barnwell, where he surrendered to Sheriff Louis Creech and was locked in jail.

The Sheriff had to leave Barnwell last night, and, as he occupies rooms adjoining the jail, he gave the keys to his eighteen-year-old daughter, the only adult in his house. Late in the night there was a knock at the door. Miss Creech opened it, and was confronted by a body of masked men.

The spokesman demanded the keys of the jail, saying they had come for Moore. The girl replied readily that she would get them from her father's room.

She disappeared for a moment, returning with a repeating rifle to her shoulder and finger on the trigger. In the bright moonlight the men were good targets. She ordered them to leave or be killed, and they left precipitately.

Miss Creech then sat up with her rifle until the Sheriff returned. To-day she is hailed on all sides as a heroine.

23 KILLED, 9 INJURED IN COLLISION IN VIRGINIA.

Passenger Train from Washington to Atlanta Dashes Head On Into Freight at Rockfish.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Twenty-three persons, nearly all negroes, were killed and nine injured in a head-on collision on the Virginia Midland Division of the Southern Railway at Rockfish, Va., at twelve minutes after three this afternoon. Passenger Train No. 35, leaving Washington at 11:15 A. M. to-day for Atlanta, Ga., dashed into local freight No. 68, standing on the main line of the road at that point, wrecking both engines and the baggage and express cars of No. 35. The baggage car and the second-class passenger coach immediately following it telescoped. The coach was occupied mostly by colored people. The casualties thus far reported in detail are as follows:

KILLED.

Engineer DAVIS of Train No. 35.
Engineer McCORMICK, who was riding as a passenger on No. 68.
A COLORED FIREMAN on No. 68.

The freight train was in charge of Conductor Brubeck and Engineer Hale, and at the time of the accident was on the return run from Lynchburg to Charlottesville. Rockfish Station is midway between these two points and the track there is a single one. Engineer Hale had orders to get out of the way of the fast passenger, but for some reason which has not yet been explained he had overstayed his time by six minutes, and had failed to take a siding so that the passenger train could pass. The trains came together with a horrible crash, and a fearful scene of panic ensued when the occupants of the cars realized what had occurred.

Train No. 35, which ran into the freight, and which left Washington this morning at 11:15, was made up of an express car, a baggage car, two day coaches and two Pullman cars. The two Pullmans formed an early morning New York connection at Washington for Atlanta and the South. The train arriving here at 11:32 A. M. from Boston also connected with No. 35. No. 68 was in charge of Engineer Davis and Conductor Mays. One of the passenger cars of the train was a second-class day coach and the other a vestibuled car.

Engineer McCormick, who was a passenger on the freight train, was going to Charlottesville to take a train South at the time he met his death. The engineer of the freight escaped without injury.

It is estimated here that there were in all probability 120 passengers on the train, including those from Boston and intermediate points.

It was at first reported that Baggagemaster Payne of Train No. 35 had met his death in the wreck. Later reports, however, show that this is incorrect. He was caught under one of the coaches and was badly stunned, but later he revived, and probably will recover.

It is now almost certain that of those killed nineteen were colored persons, as the second-class coach, which was telescoped, was occupied almost exclusively by them.

BANK PRESIDENT'S WARNING.

Mr. Lusk Tells Minnesota Bankers That There Are Signs of Trouble in the West.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 7.—President John W. Lusk of the German American National Bank of St. Paul, one of the prominent financial institutions of the West, sounded a warning of evil to come in his address before the State Bankers' Association to-day. He said:

"There never was a better time for bankers to look a little out than now. We can see as others cannot the earmarks and signs of financial trouble. When I was in Chicago a short time ago I learned that the country bank balances at that point had decreased $10,000,000. All the city banks make similar reports of their country correspondents. The banks of Iowa, for example, are treading on dangerous ground. The majority of the country banks in this State are tied up for money, and their balances are lower than for a long time. Many bankers have been carried away by the idea of prosperity and have invested and speculated until they wish they had not done so. Hardly a day passes in this city but we learn of some country bank in trouble. Several have closed their doors in the last three or four months and others are waking up to the danger of being compelled to close. Many small banks have been started by men with not much experience in banking. They are getting it now.

"There never was a better time to put a bank in good order than in good times, because you can't do it in bad times. It is just like putting a roof on a house in pleasant weather because you can't do it in bad weather. One thing I wish to emphasize, and that is the need of putting our house in order. Good times will not last forever. We go around in a circle from good to bad and bad to good. Prosperous times are very catching. One sees another man making money, and he wants to make some, and if he keeps on he will soon have no bank left."

INTEREST RENEWED IN COLORADO'S ANTHRACITE.

Building of Railroad Attracts Attention to Fields Which May Rival Pennsylvania's.

Special to The New York Times.

DENVER, July 7.—The building of the Moffatt Railroad has renewed interest in the anthracite coalfields of Routt County, and led to new discoveries as to its extent and the quality of the coal.

The existence of an extensive field of genuine anthracite in Routt County has been known for years, but only within the last year or two has its value been demonstrated. The official report of State Commissioner of Mines Harry A. Lee, one of the leading mining engineers of the State, gives analysis of this coal, showing that it is of excellent quality and tests almost as high as the Pennsylvania product.

The field has been extensively explored with diamond drills and proved to be the largest in extent outside of Pennsylvania, and many experts have predicted that it would be developed in area equal to the Pennsylvania field.

The Colorado Fuel Company has been fighting for possession of the Routt County field for years. Losing in litigation, its officials declared that the quality of the coal was not good. Geologists, however, say that it will, with depth, equal any field mined.

SENATOR ALGER WINS CASE.

Court Decides Against Tennessee Company Which Sold Him Land at Too High a Price.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, July 7.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals in this city to-day rendered a final decision in the litigation which has been going on between Senator Russell A. Alger and the Tennessee Land Syndicate, which a couple of years ago succeeded in selling him a tract of Tennessee coal and timber land for $202,000. He sued to have the sale set aside, on the ground of gross fraud and the bribing of his personal agent in the transaction.

The Tennessee Federal court decided for the General, ordering the return of his money and the resale of the lands, which the General bought a second time for only $50,000. The syndicate has been fighting the case in the upper court, but to-day's decision sends it. The court holds that the judgment for Gen. Alger was in accordance with the law and the evidence, and the syndicate is put out of court with the penalty of the costs.

FIGHT TO DOWN LITTAUER

Senator Platt Decides to Use Glove Contract Charges.

Plan to Place Cole Convention Nominees in the Republican Column on the Ballot Next Fall.

When the Republican State Committee next meets, in the latter part of August or the first week in September, the glove contract charges, in connection with which Congressman Lucius N. Littauer has been mentioned, will be taken up indirectly and used by Senator Thomas C. Platt in his fight against Littauer, who secured the nomination of an anti-Platt ticket in the Fulton and Hamilton Assembly District and of a Fulton County ticket. This much was decided upon last night at Manhattan Beach between Senator Platt and Col. George W. Dunn, Chairman of the State Committee.

Congressman Littauer, who won out in the district last year, secured the nomination this Spring of Frank C. Wood for member of Assembly from the district comprising Fulton and Hamilton Counties. Wood now is Recorder of the City of Gloversville, and was nominated through the influence of Postmaster Durey of Gloversville, the Littauer leader of the city.

Assemblyman Clarence W. Smith of Johnstown was defeated in the convention after a row in which the Platt delegates, led by John A. Cole, walked out of the convention. Later in a rump convention the Platt men nominated Smith, so that at the present time there are two candidates in the field from the Assembly district.

This will give the State Committee the opportunity to take up the fight, as the committee will have the power to determine which of the two candidates will be entitled to the regular place on the ballot as the Republican nominee. Following the action in regard to member of Assembly, the two sides nominated full county tickets in Fulton County, and this, too, will come before the State Committee for settlement.

It is the plan of both Senator Platt and Chairman Dunn to place the Cole convention nominees on the regular ballot and thus administer to Littauer the rebuke which they hope will result in ultimate defeat to his political leadership in the district. At the same time it is contemplated to take some action in relation to the glove contracts about which that have come public in the bankruptcy proceedings of Edmund Lyon.

M. Linn Bruce, who has been selected by Senator Platt as the new President of the Republican County Committee, to succeed Robert C. Morris, did not see the Senator yesterday although he returned from Delaware County, where he had gone to spend the holidays. Mr. Bruce went down to Senator Platt's office yesterday afternoon, but the Senator had left for the Oriental Hotel at Manhattan Beach, and so Mr. Bruce will see him to-day.

It was stated last night that Mr. Bruce would in all probability accept the position that was proffered, with the statement by the Senator that both President Roosevelt and Gov. Odell were agreeable to Mr. Bruce's selection, and that the selection will be confirmed at the next meeting of the county committee, which will be held a week from to-morrow night.

TURKISH-BULGARIAN WAR SAID TO BE INEVITABLE.

Sultan's Army Officers Very Eager—More Warnings to the Bulgarian Cabinet.

LONDON TIMES—NEW YORK TIMES Special Cablegram.

LONDON, July 8.—The Times's correspondent at Constantinople says that in striking contrast to the Bulgarian excitement is the calm attitude of Turkey, who, while strongly opposed to war, is prepared for all eventualities and will fight if forced.

Though conscious that there can be no profit by a conflict, the army officers are very eager.

The Times's correspondent at Vienna says that the tension between Sofia and Constantinople is attracting anxious attention in the Austrian capital. The Austro-Hungarian Government has once more urged Bulgaria to refrain from warlike enterprises. Russia, it is understood, is about to address another earnest warning to the Bulgarian Cabinet.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, July 8.—The Constantinople correspondent of The Daily Telegraph quotes an officer of high rank in the Turkish Army as declaring that war with Bulgaria appears to be inevitable; that Turkey was never so well prepared for hostilities, and that the army on the frontier is anxious to begin, but the Sultan's policy is to remain quiet until attacked.

VIENNA, July 7.—In well-informed political circles it is expected that Russia will shortly warn Bulgaria in an unmistakable and public manner against declaring war on Turkey.

BIG OHIO OIL MERGER.

Over $6,000,000 Worth of Property Involved—French Capital Backing It.

Special to The New York Times.

LIMA, Ohio, July 7.—The biggest oil deal ever planned in the Ohio and Indiana fields is reported to-day as having been successfully financed in France and Great Britain.

The merger involves between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000 worth of producing territory, pipe lines, and refineries in the Trenton Rock fields. At the time options were taken on these properties last April it was stated that French capital would finance the company. W. L. Russell, promoter of the merger, who has already organized three big companies having a production of between 40,000 and 50,000 barrels per month, returned to-day direct from Paris and said that everything was cared for and details of the merger would be forthcoming in a few days.

As planned and with the production of crude oil controlled, the merged interests could make strong opposition to the Standard Oil Company, though Mr. Russell says no such intentions are considered by the foreign capitalists. This deal has no connection whatever with the Herrington options, the failure of which has been announced from Findlay.

MRS. STANFORD TAKES HELM.

Becomes President of University Trustees and Shears Dr. Jordan of Appointing Power.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Mrs. Jane L. Stanford, who, with her husband, founded Stanford University, was elected President of its Board of Trustees last night. Judge Leib of San José resigned the Presidency so that she could be elected to it, and was thereupon elected Vice President.

In her address she made the unexpected announcement that the power to choose and discharge professors would be taken from President Jordan and given into the hands of the Trustees. As Dr. Jordan has had this power from the opening of the university, the change of policy has excited much comment.

CARDINAL GOTTI LEADS ALL PAPAL CANDIDATES.

Reported That Leo, with Whom He Conferred Yesterday, Desires That He Shall Succeed Him.

ROME, July 8.—Much significance is attached to an extended visit made by Cardinal Gotti, Prefect of the Propaganda, to the sickroom of Pope Leo, from which other conspicuous members of the Sacred College are excluded by the doctors' orders.

Cardinal Gotti's interview lasted twenty minutes, even the doctors and attendants withdrawing and leaving him alone with the Pope.

This has naturally opened a wide field of speculation. It is even asserted on the authority of one Cardinal that Pope Leo expressed the hope that in the event of the succession falling on Cardinal Gotti he might have the strength to take up and carry forward the great work thus confided to him.

Just what passed between the Pontiff and Cardinal Gotti only they know, but certainly the circumstances and length of the visit strongly support the view that the Pope was giving his attention to the administration of the affairs of the Church when he himself has passed away.

Cardinal Girolamo Maria Gotti, who is the Prefect of the Propaganda, succeeded to that office last year upon the death of Cardinal Ledochowski, the "magnificent Pole." At that time it was generally believed that the selection of Cardinal Gotti for that office was due to the Pope's desire to see him as his successor. During the past year Gotti's name has stood out with those of Rampolla, Parrochi, Svampa, Ferrari, and the two brothers Vannutelli as the most likely candidates for the Papacy.

Cardinal Gotti is the most distinguished living member of the Order of Our Lady of Mount Carmel. This order was founded in 1156 by Berthold on Mount Carmel. Its distinctive dress is a scapulary of gray cloth. Subsequent to the year 1247 the order became divided into several branches, one of which is known as the Barefooted Carmelites. Cardinal Gotti is a member of this branch.

In his private life Cardinal Gotti is very simple and unpretending. Coming from a lowly family, he has never surrounded himself with the pomp or ceremony of many of his predecessors. His rise in the Church has been due greatly to his own efforts and accomplishments. As a politician he is said to have few equals in the Church. By his wisdom he has won the favor of Pope Leo.

Cardinal Gotti is of Genoese origin. His father was a dock laborer and a very pious man. Early in life the present Cardinal went to the Jesuit schools, where he was impressed by the teachings of that order. He early allied himself with them, and by his silence won distinction. He was made Professor of Natural Philosophy and Mathematics in one of their schools. Later he became consulter of the Roman congregations, of which office he was relieved in order to undertake important missions to South America.

While in South America Cardinal Gotti handled the Brazilian difficulty following the overthrow of Dom Pedro so skillfully that he was called to Rome, and in 1895 made a Cardinal. He later became Prefect of the Bishops and Regulars. In 1902 he became Prefect of the Propaganda.

Cardinal Gotti is sixty-nine years of age. He is a man of excellent physique, and is capable of long-continued work. He has the organizing gift far beyond most of those who surround him.

PLANS OF ASPHALT COMPANY.

Organization of Consolidated Concern Will Proceed Despite Suits of Receiver Tatnall.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—John W. Mack, President of the old National Asphalt Company, formerly co-receiver of the trust, says lawsuits of Receiver Tatnall against the trust promoters will have no effect on the plans of the General Asphalt Company, which is now in possession of the properties of the American and National Companies, and of which Mr. Mack will be President.

"The permanent organization of the General Asphalt Company will be effected within two or three weeks," Mr. Mack said, "and everything will be running smoothly. The five voting Trustees will elect the Directors, who, in turn, will choose the company's officers."

Statements made to-day by several of the Philadelphia promoters left no room to doubt that they will vigorously defend the proposed suits.

"Certainly I will have my attorneys defend the suit which Receiver Tatnall proposes to bring against me," said William L. Elkins, who stands virtually charged with making an unlawful profit in the transfer of the Warren-Scharf Asphalt Paving Company to the Asphalt Company of America. George D. Widener and George W. Elkins, both of whom are included in Receiver Tatnall's list of promoters, made a similar answer.

LYNCHING IN MISSISSIPPI.

Negro Charged with Murder Taken from an Officer by a Mob and Hanged.

VICKSBURG, Miss., July 7.—Cato Garrett, the negro who stabbed Harry Stout to death last Saturday morning, was hanged by a mob this afternoon near the scene of his crime. Garrett was taken to Natchez Saturday, Sheriff Brennan fearing an assault on the jail here.

To-day a special Grand Jury found a true bill against Garrett, and an order was issued to bring the negro to this city. Deputy Sheriff Paul, with the negro, took passage on a train.

At Stouts Crossing, a flag station six miles south, the train was held up by fifty masked and heavily armed men. They took the negro off the train and hanged him.

MRS. JAMES G. BLAINE ILL.

AUGUSTA, Me., July 7.—Mrs. Blaine, widow of James G. Blaine, is reported to be seriously ill at her home, in this city. Her children, Mrs. Beale, Mrs. Damrosch, and James G. Blaine, are with her. Mrs. Blaine has been ailing for some time. Her condition is due to a general breaking down of the system.

The Original Simpson, 91 Park Row, will close at 2 P. M. on Saturdays during July and August.—Adv.

POPE FACES DEATH WITH LION HEART

Submits to an Operation with Marvelous Cheerfulness.

Piercing of His Right Lung Gives His Holiness Relief.

Takes Touching Farewell of His Relatives—Receives the Sacraments and Reads the Newspapers—The Day at the Vatican.

ROME, July 8.—3:45 A. M.—Pope Leo is now sleeping, but his head lies uneasy on the pillow. The alleviation brought about by yesterday's operation of removing the fluid from his pleura was followed later in the evening by a restless period, and fresh doses of chloral, digitalis, and caffeine had to be administered. Under their influence the Pontiff fell into a slumber which, however, was not very peaceful on account of the difficulty the patient has in breathing.

Seeing Dr. Lapponi always at his bedside, the Pope, just before falling asleep, said kindly to him: "Now, it is your turn to-night. You must sleep."

Throughout the Vatican absolute calm prevails to-night, the excitement of yesterday having to a great extent died out with the revival of hope after the announcement that yesterday's operation was attended with success.

There is grandeur in the fight which Pope Leo is making against death. His vitality is marvelous, his Christian fortitude inspiring. The venerable patient's rally from the operation was beyond even the most sanguine expectation of his physicians.

His Holiness enjoyed a restful sleep after the operation, and there was a marked restoration of strength. At an early hour this morning Drs. Lapponi and Mazzoni both expressed hope that this increase of strength might be maintained, as the Pope partook of nourishment with a seeming relish. He was given the yolk of an egg, with a small portion of brandy as a stimulant.

The Pontiff's physicians do not hold out much hope of his recovery. That, they say, would be little short of a miracle. But there is ground for reasonable expectation, they say, that the Pontiff may survive several days.

Dr. Mazzoni's Views.

After the operation on the Pope yesterday afternoon Dr. Mazzoni was besieged by relatives and friends of his Holiness and by journalists inquiring as to the result of the operation and his prognosis of the disease. To one of those making inquiry Dr. Mazzoni said:

"When one considers that the Pope should be dead by this time, the unexpected may happen, and there is still hope. His resisting so long and maintaining perfect lucidity of mind means that notwithstanding the pneumonia, the affection of the kidneys, and the difficulty of breathing, there is no poisoning of the blood. Between being at the point of death and returning to what his Holiness is to-night there is certainly such a difference as to permit the most optimistic views.

"To properly understand the change which has taken place it must be considered that yesterday the conviction was so sure that he would die during the night that, notwithstanding the contrary opinion of Dr. Lapponi, those surrounding the Pope insisted on having extreme unction administered. Evil tongues even insinuate that some members of Pope Leo's immediate circle counted on the bad effects that such a function was likely to produce on a weakened organism, but the Pope resisted splendidly. Indeed, he seemed to have fresh strength. I don't dare to say anything positive. It is very easy to be deceived, especially in the presence of such marvelous resistance. I merely venture the impression that there is a probability that the Pope will die, but I do not believe death will occur yet."

Demeanor of Pope.

Shortly before the operation of puncturing the pleura this afternoon the Pope is said to have remarked to those around him:

"I thank God that He has vouchsafed to me the boon of being able to say good-bye to all. I love you all; but I am tired and am glad to go."

He is said to have made the remark with an air more of resignation than depression. After the operation his Holiness felt so much relief that he became quite cheerful, joking with his physicians and showing interest in all that was taking place about him.

YESTERDAY'S BULLETINS.

ROME, July 7.—The following bulletins issued during the day constitute the official account of the Pontiff's condition:

9:30 A. M.—The Pope passed a restless night, without sleep. Nourishment, however, has been more freely taken, and the general condition of the patient is a little more reassuring. An objective examination shows a change in the right of the thorax, and the middle lobe of the lung, which up to yesterday did not permit the passage of air, now allows the air to penetrate. On the other hand, the interior zone has become more obtuse, and the transmission of vocal and tactile vibration is wanting. This leads to the belief that there is liquid in the pleura. An experimental incision will be made. The action of the heart is depressed, so much so as to render the renal function insufficient and to cause cyanosis in the last phalanges of the hands.

LAPPONI,
MAZZONI.

At 3:45 P. M. the following bulletin was issued:

3:45 P. M.—The puncture of the pleura has been made, and 800 grams of liquid have been taken off. A rapid examination showed that some mucus was rattling in the lung which was originally affected.

The Pope underwent the operation with courage. His general condition is now better and he is resting.

LAPPONI,
MAZZONI.

8:30 P. M.—The condition of the Pope, as indicated in the last bulletin, continues sufficiently satisfactory. His circulation and breathing are slow, but they are gradually improving.

LAPPONI,
MAZZONI.

OPERATION ON POPE.

Fortitude and Cheerfulness Shown by His Holiness Astonishes His Physicians.

ROME, July 7.—The Pope's physicians, Drs. Lapponi and Mazzoni, to-day decided that an operation on the Pontiff was advisable to relieve the congestion around the right lung and thereby ease the breathing of his Holiness. The operation was performed and the results were eminently satisfactory from a scientific standpoint. Following the operation the Pope experienced much relief.

His Holiness passed a fairly good night, although he was very restless. Four times during the night he took nourishment. In the morning there was a decided improvement in his pulse. At 6:30 o'clock he left his bed for an armchair. Throughout the morning when the Pope was not asleep he was perfectly lucid and calm. He asked that he be told the moment danger was imminent.

The information was given out at 9:20 A. M. that the pneumonia from which his Holiness had been suffering was complicated with pleurisy, and the Pontiff had paralysis of the fingers.

When Dr. Mazzoni went this morning to the Vatican, Dr. Lapponi made a full report to him as to how the Pope had passed the night. Then both entered the sickroom. Pope Leo smiled benevolently at Dr. Mazzoni, but seemed not to have sufficient strength to speak. The doctor asked, "How is your Holiness?"

To this inquiry the Pontiff, in a faint voice, replied, "I have no illusion and am resigned." Then he raised his eyes, while his lips moved, evidently in prayer.

The doctors then proceeded to make a most minute examination of the patient, listening to his breathing and testing his lungs.

After a lengthy conference the doctors concluded it was advisable to operate for pleurisy, the primary purpose being to explore the affected parts. They hoped incidentally to draw off the collected fluid.

When their determination was communicated to the Pontiff he showed no anxiety. On the contrary, he submitted very willingly, expressing the hope that good results might come, recalling the successful results following Dr. Mazzoni's operation some years ago for cyst. As the operation was not of a capital nature, not suggesting the use of chloroform or other anesthetics, the Pope lay on his bed, with his left side exposed below the armpit to the waist. The immediate direction of the operation devolved on Dr. Mazzoni, who handled the instruments and made the preparatory arrangements.

The Operation.

The calmness with which the Pope underwent the ordeal of the operation was one of the most remarkable evidences of fortitude that he had given in his whole life.

First a slight incision was made in the side of the venerable patient. A solution of alcohol and corrosive sublimate was then injected and cocaine was used to deaden the sensation. The point of operation was just below the seventh rib and the operation itself consisted in the insertion of a large Pravaz needle syringe. This penetrated to the region where the matter had accumulated, and by means of suction slowly drew it off. Under the skillful guidance of Dr. Mazzoni the operation scarcely occupied over four minutes.

The Pope manifested no pain whatever, neither was there the slightest quiver from moral dread of the operation. In the language of one of the doctors, the cocaine so deadened the parts that the Pontiff felt no more than a slight pinprick.

As soon as the liquid was drawn off by the suction needle the patient felt great relief, owing to the removal of the pressure of the liquid on the lung, and simultaneously the doctors could hear air passing through that zone which this morning was declared to be impervious, owing to congestion. From a pathological standpoint the free passage of air was considered satisfactory; but far more so were the results, the mental and physical relief which it brought to the Pope. He immediately showed an exhilarating spirit. With a slight smile on his pallid face he whispered his thankfulness and bestowed benedictions on the doctors bending over him. The Pontiff even stroked Dr. Mazzoni's face, in the benevolent way which is characteristic of him. Then with one hand he rearranged his position, closed his eyes, and in a few minutes passed into a calm, healthful sleep.

The doctors remained by the Pope's side, noting the regularity of his breathing, and pronounced the operation to have been in every way successful and leaving no perceptible adverse results.

The marvelous vitality and recuperative energy of the Pope were never so forcibly demonstrated as by the series of events preceding, accompanying, and following today's operation. Since this morning, when first informed that the operation would perhaps be necessary, his Holiness began to inquire about it.

Turning to Dr. Lapponi with his usual familiarity he asked: "Will it be painful? Remember, I cannot stand much pain."

Instead of Dr. Lapponi, Dr. Mazzoni answered: "I can assure your Holiness that you will feel no pain. A little cocaine will deaden all sensation."

Pope Leo retorted at once: "Remember, you said the same thing when you extracted that cyst a few years ago."

Dr. Mazzoni replied: "That operation went very well, but this can hardly be called an operation."

The Pope then concluded: "Then do whatever you think best."

The Pontiff's Cheerfulness.

When the operation took place nobody was allowed in the room besides the doctors except Pope Leo's valet, Pio Centra. Even his nephew, Count Camillo Pecci, left the room to await with extreme anxiety in an adjoining hall the result. The doctors, desiring a strong light, had the window widely opened, but as it faces the bed the light offended the weak eyes of the Pontiff, so that it was thought desirable that he should reverse his position. As soon as this was proposed the Pope himself made a movement, showing again that spirit of activity and determination which seems constantly to inspire him. Dr. Mazzoni, however, did not give him time to leave the bed, but, taking him in his arms, literally turned the Pontiff about.

Pope Leo smiled and exclaimed: "Bravo, Professor! I congratulate you. Although I have become so light, I must still be rather heavy."

Both the doctors laughed and were at the same time astonished at the brightness of the Pontiff when oppressed by such a dangerous illness and on the point of undergoing a surgical operation for the extreme necessity of his life.

Pope Leo remained sitting up in bed during the whole time of the operation without need of support. When Dr. Mazzoni substituted the Pravaz needle with a Potain aspirator the Pope did not even notice it, going through the whole affair without emitting the slightest lament and without showing any feeling of pain. He was extremely pale, almost diaphanous, and somewhat tremulous. As soon as the operation was closed his Holiness felt much relieved. His eye, from an expression of languid melancholy, assumed its usual vivacity, illuminating the emaciated face.

Dr. Mazzoni at once administered a cordial, which the Pontiff took willingly, thanking him with a grateful look for the brave struggle to preserve his life. He afterward expressed a desire to see the liquid which had been extracted from his thorax. Both doctors assured him that his wish would be gratified later. The Pontiff then asked for minute explanations of the apparatus used in the operation.

"It is a most ingenious instrument," he said, "but your hand is also very clever. That is why the operation was successful in not giving me any pain. I thank you."

Asks to See Bulletins.

After half an hour's peaceful and apparently refreshing repose, the Pope awoke and inquired about the doctors. Hearing they were both in the next room, he said, "I thought they had gone. What do they stay for? What are they plotting?"

Dr. Lapponi, re-entering the room, said: "We were preparing bulletins regarding the operation, saying it was successful in all respects." Dr. Mazzoni added, "We must inform the public, which is waiting with such trepidation, especially as it is so easy to have inexact news spread."

"Very well," replied his Holiness, "I wish to see myself these bulletins in their exact text. I have already seen and meditated on that of last night." He then went on speaking about the causes of his illness. "I would like to know," he said, "from what it comes. I think I have always followed Dr. Lapponi's advice."

"Not always, your Holiness," replied Lapponi gently.

"Well," retorted Pope Leo, "you could not expect to remedy my old age."

After a short silence, the Pope, turning to Dr. Mazzoni, said: "In the last Consistory I appointed as a Cardinal a fellow-citizens of yours, Cardinal Taliani, who comes from the Marches. Do you know him?"

"Yes, your Holiness, I know him. I hope that that will not be your last Consistory."

"I am afraid so," sighed the Pope, sadly. After which his head fell upon the pillow, as though extremely tired, being again the prey of exhaustion.

The happy and cheerful expression of the Pontiff at the moment when he was in the very shadow of death astonished the doctors. The Pope himself seems to glory in his ability to present a calm and bright demeanor, and particularly asked the doctors to tell people about the state of his mind. Accordingly, the doctors have freely discussed the cheerfulness of the venerable patient, repeating the details of his quick sallies, as showing the activity of his mind.

Dr. Mazzoni, assisted by Dr. Lapponi's son, who is also a doctor, made an analysis of the liquid extracted from the Pope's pleura. The color is orange red, and it is prevalently composed of blood with coagulated fibrine without pus. What is feared is a reproduction of serum in the pleura, in which case the operation will be repeated in about two days.

POPE READ THE PAPERS.

Special Editions Printed for His Benefit—Day at Vatican.

ROME, July 7.—There was considerable excitement around the Vatican during the morning, and numerous persons were to be observed going to and coming from the Pope's bedroom. The relatives of the Pontiff, Pope Leo's private secretaries, however, remained in the sick chamber.

Cardinal Rampolla received members of the diplomatic body at all hours of the night and day. He was frequently in the sick chamber during the day.

Several large books kept for the purpose have been signed by members of the Roman aristocracy, high ecclesiastical authorities, notable personages of the Papal Court and distinguished strangers who have called to inquire regarding the Pope's condition.

All the Papal military bodies in permanent service are earning the two months' extra pay which they receive in case of the death of the Pope and extra pay for two additional months from a new Pope.

The telegrams received at the Vatican from all parts of the world up to 9 o'clock this morning numbered 3,782. They included many from America, among which was an especially affectionate one from Cardinal Gibbons.

Cardinal Oreglia, who, by virtue of his office as Cardinal Camerlengo, assumes the management of the Church temporarily, was the centre of all Vatican affairs. Engineers Scheifer and Manucci, who are called architects of the Conclave, as their office consists in walling up the Cardinals when they have gathered for the election of a new Pope, placed themselves at the disposal of Cardinal Oreglia, as did also Prince Chigi, who holds the office of Marshal of the Conclave.

In all the churches masses were celebrated, and these were attended by an extraordinary number of the faithful, who prayed for the recovery of the Pontiff.

The Pontiff during the day manifested great interest in what the press was saying about him, and asked to be informed regarding the printed opinions and views expressed. He showed satisfaction on learning that throughout the world the general regret at his condition was manifested without distinction of creed or politics.

Having expressed a desire to read the Osservatore Romano and the Voce Della Verita to see what they were saying about his illness, special editions of the journals were prepared and sent to His Holiness.

The Pope this morning expressed the desire of again taking communion, notwithstanding the fact that he received the last communion on Sunday and extreme unction yesterday evening. Mgr. Marzolini, one of the Chamberlains, therefore performed both ceremonies. The Pope showed great serenity, repeating that he felt quite prepared to leave the world. In spite of this he now and then expressed the hope that he might yet recover.

Stringent regulations for the preservation of order and quiet were enforced at the Vatican throughout the day, though many strangers were able to take advantage of the situation to invade the palace, present cards and secure access to the apartments. The authorities to-day inaugurated more rigid measures and reinforced the detachments of Swiss Guards and gendarmes on duty at the Vatican.

The guards at the portals kept back the merely curious, admitting only diplomatists accredited to the Vatican and high ecclesiastical dignitaries. Among the diplomatists were the Ministers of Russia and Prussia, the Ambassadors of Spain, Austria, and Portugal, and the Chargé d'Affaires for Brazil. The French Ambassador, M. Nisard, has shown deep interest in the reports from the sick room. He remained after midnight yesterday, and was again at the Vatican this morning. Among the Cardinals arriving were Genmaro, Nocella, Mathieu, Respighi, Cassetta, Cretoni, and Gotti. It was remarked that Cardinal Oreglia, the Dean of the Sacred College, was not among the callers, although it is expected that he will soon be called upon to perform the most important services of the interregnum. Though not calling personally Cardinal Oreglia thrice dispatched his secretary, Father Santo, to learn the exact condition of the Pontiff. None of the visiting Cardinals except Cardinal Gotti saw the Pope, owing to the rigid directions of the doctors that the patient be spared the cares and excitement of the affairs of the Church.

CARDINAL OREGLIA'S HASTE.

Prepares to Take Charge While Pope Still Lives.

ROME, July 8.—According to a dispatch from Rome to the Echo de Paris, Cardinal Oreglia has ordered the apartments in the Vatican which are occupied by the Camerlengo, which post he himself holds during an interregnum, to be prepared.

Cardinal Rampolla, on learning of this, declared the action not to be decent while the Pope was still living. The incident, says the dispatch, has caused much comment.

FAREWELL TO HIS RELATIVES.

Touching Scene Between the Pope and His Nephews.

ROME, July 7.—By the Pope's express desire, all his relations and Count Canali, husband of his niece, were to see his Holiness to-day. The scene was most touching. His nephews, to whom he has been a real father, entered the room sobbing. His Holiness soothed them, saying:

"I feel the moment approaching when I must leave you. Say our last good-bye. I am about to enter eternal life. But do not grieve for me. I am about to enter my real happiness."

Before leaving the room they all kissed the hand of the Pontiff reverently.

CONCERN FOR POPE IN PARIS.

Mme. Loubet and ex-Queen Isabella of Spain Visit Nunciature.

PARIS, July 7.—All the morning callers in quest of news of the Pope's condition flocked to the Papal Nunciature in the Rue de l'Elysée. The register of the Nunciature is rapidly filling up with names, including those of Madame Loubet, former Queen Isabella of Spain, a number of diplomats and many official and political personages.

The Papal Nunciature here received the following dispatch this afternoon:

"The Holy Father is no worse. His condition is very serious, without causing the loss of all hope."

"RAMPOLLA."

CARDINAL GIBBONS HEARS FROM CARDINAL RAMPOLLA.

He Has Made All His Preparations to Go to Rome in Event of Pope's Death.

BALTIMORE, July 7.—Cardinal Gibbons spent to-day at his residence adjoining the cathedral in this city quietly awaiting news from Rome. Bulletins were furnished to him during the day, and all of them had absorbing interest for him. He is prepared to leave for Rome at a moment's notice, and is confident that he will be able to reach that city in time to take part in the Conclave which will elect a new Pontiff in the event of Pope Leo's death.

Cardinal Gibbons sent a cablegram of sympathy to Rome to-day, and to-night received the following in response from Cardinal Rampolla, Secretary of State:

Rome, July 7, 1903.

To James, Cardinal Gibbons, Baltimore, Md.:

The condition of the health of our most Holy Father is certainly serious. However, we may be permitted to hope.

M. CARDINAL RAMPOLLA.

The Cardinal announced to-day that he will be accompanied to Rome by the Rev. Father P. C. Gavan, Chancellor of this Diocese.

The Cardinal's residence has been visited by a very large number of people to-day, mostly prominent Catholics, to express their sympathy for the Pope and their good wishes for the Cardinal on his trip to Rome.

SELECTION OF POPE MIGHT BE VETOED.

Bishop Grafton Says Rulers of France, Austria, and Spain Have That Power.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., July 7.—"It will be interesting to notice who the coming incumbent of the Papacy will be," said Bishop Grafton to-day, "though it is certain he will be an Italian. Italian Cardinals have always regarded their nationality as favored of God, and since the days of Adrian VI., an Englishman, they have always kept the appointment of this office in their own hands.

"It is not ordinarily known by Roman Catholics that the heads of three European countries have a veto power over the election of a Pope. They are France, Austria, and Spain. I understand that some of them have already filed objections to certain of the Cardinals who have been mentioned as likely to be chosen. Cardinal Gotti is a handsome man and a fine scholar. Cardinal Satolli is too young. The older members of the college will hardly vote for a young man."

RECEIVER FOR STOREY COMPANY

Special to The New York Times.

NEWARK, N. J., July 7.—George R. Beach of Jersey City was appointed receiver for the Storey Motor and Electric Company of Harrison and New York by Vice Chancellor Stevens here to-day. The company was incorporated in October, 1901, with a capital of $500,000.

The application was made by Frank T. McDermott of Jersey City and Frederick Weimer of New York, counsel representing Henry E. Fanshawe, Vice President and general manager of the concern. The holders of a $40,000 mortgage and more than 75 per cent. of the bondholders concurred in the request for the appointment of a receiver, which is desired to prevent [illegible] interruption to the reorganization [illegible]. The company's total nominal assets are $[illegible] and total liabilities are $70,000, including $64,000 due the bondholders.

FARLEY'S PALLIUM HERE

Mgr. Farrelly, the Pope's Special Envoy, Arrives.

Grieved at News of Pope's Illness—Partly Reassured by a Cable Message from Cardinal Rampolla.

Mgr. Farrelly of Nashville, Tenn., one of the officials of the American College at Rome and the special envoy of Pope Leo, arrived in this country yesterday on board the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, bearing the pallium for Archbishop Farley. When Mgr. Farrelly was in Rome the pallium was placed upon his shoulders as proxy for Archbishop Farley by Cardinal Macchi. He will transfer it to the Archbishop as soon as the latter comes from his retreat at Dunwoodie, where he is passing the week.

The pallium is a cover for the shoulders made of the wool of lambs which are kept at the Cathedral of St. Agnes, in Rome, and which, on the feast of St. Agnes, are taken to the altar and there sheared. The wool is then placed for a night on the tomb of the Apostles, after which it is made into pallia. As soon as the pallium is placed upon the shoulders of the Archbishop he is allowed to exercise all of the functions of his office. It is worn only at the consecrating of other members of the clergy or when pontificating. It is always buried with the person for whom it was designated.

In the absence at Rome of Cardinal Gibbons, in the event of the Pope's death, Mgr. Falconio, the Apostolic Delegate at Washington, will officiate at the consecration of Archbishop Farley. The service will take place on July 23, unless the Pope's death occurs during the week previous, under which condition it will be postponed until after the period of mourning which all Roman Catholic churches will observe.

Mgr. Farrelly was met at the Hamburg-American Line pier by Father Lewis, secretary to Archbishop Farley, and Father McMackin of the Cathedral. After his baggage was examined he went to the Archbishop's residence, where he will remain while in this city. It is his intention to go to his home in Nashville before returning to his work at Rome in October.

Upon landing at the pier at Hoboken Mgr. Farrelly was handed a copy of a cablegram which had been sent to Archbishop Farley by Cardinal Rampolla. The message was in Latin and translated read:

Rome, July 7, 1903.

Condition of the Holy Father is worse. However, all hope is not abandoned.

F. RAMPOLLA.

The first news the passengers on the Kaiser Wilhelm had of the Pope's illness was upon their arrival at Quarantine. Mgr. Farrelly said:

"When I left Rome the Pope was in the best of health. He was holding his regular audiences, and, though advanced in years, seemed to carry on his business affairs well. At Paris I saw by the papers that his Holiness had walked in the Vatican gardens. That was the last news I had of him until the steamer stopped down the bay. I am deeply grieved to hear the serious reports.

"His life is simplicity itself. He is the purest, noblest, grandest man that I have ever met. To see a man of his years carrying on the great amount of business which he does, and giving to each little item the same amount of regard that he gives to the great things, to note the activeness of his mind, which for so many years has cast its influence upon the world, to see the light which is yet in those eyes which have looked upon many great events in the world's history, is enough to compel the love and respect of all who have been fortunate enough to have come under his glance.

"He was one of the hardest workers in Rome. Every morning he was up at 5 o'clock, and after a light breakfast was at work, which would occupy his time until evening, and on many occasions I have known him to be still at his work at midnight. Audiences were held regularly, and everything carried on just as though he were a much younger man.

"I do not know of his ever having complained of the weight of the work of his office. Fatiguing though it was, he did it without a murmur, never asking for help where it was often needed. He is a most remarkable man, and by his death the Church will lose a lifelong and unfailing servant."

Under the customs laws of the United States the pallium is admitted free of duty. The law says that any religious regalia which is worn on the person or carried in the hand, are not liable to duty. The customs officials were slightly puzzled for a while, especially since the pallium was carried in the traveling bag of Mgr. Farrelly. Finally after a conference between the custom officers the pallium was allowed to go through as coming under the head of regalia carried in the hand.

MGR. ROOKER ARRIVES.

New Bishop of Jaro Talks of His Future Philippine Work and of Pope Leo.

The new Bishop of Jaro, the Rev. Father F. Z. Rooker of Albany, arrived on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse yesterday direct from the Vatican in Rome, where he personally received his appointment from Pope Leo XIII.

"I understand it was the original intention to send me to another bishopric—one on the Island of Luzon"—said Father Rooker, "but instead of going to Neuva Caceres, through the offices of Mgr. Guidi, Papal Delegate at Washington, I was appointed to the bishopric on the Island of Pana. It seems he very much desired that I be sent to Jaro."

"You have heard of the critical illness of the Pope?"

"Yes, and with deepest sorrow. I learned of it when we received the newspapers this afternoon at Quarantine."

In answer to a question regarding the Papal succession the Bishop said: "I don't think it would be in good taste to discuss it." It was the general opinion among the clergy gathered at the pier to welcome Mgr. Farrelly and Mgr. Rooker that the new Pope would surely be an Italian.

Continuing, Mgr. Rooker said: "Two weeks ago Thursday it was my good fortune to have a personal audience with his Holiness. Mgr. Dougherty was with me. The Pope was simply fine. He was positively brilliant.

"'I have summoned you together,' said the Pope, 'because you are both going to the Philippines and what I would say to one I would have to say to both. Ah! Mgr. Rooker, you have been our Secretary of Legation at Washington for eight years with Satolli and Martinelli—'

"'And with Falconio, too, Holy Father,' I added," said Mgr. Rooker.

"The Pope talked to us about our future work. He told us how important the field was and how a record could be made by both of us. He then presented us with Pontifical crosses and sets of Pontifical books, the editions of which were about exhausted. They were rare specimens of bookmaking.

"The day before I left the Pope held a public consistory. It wearied him visibly. His Pontifical robes were very heavy, and the mitre was worn with difficulty. Next day I inquired after his health, and was told that he was feeling excellent. A very little rest seemed to suffice for him. I bade farewell to his attendant, Pioccetra, who has always been very friendly to me, and he said that the Pope was 'very bright.'

"I saw some papers when I reached Paris that said that the Pope was walking in the Vatican gardens, so I concluded that the reports I had heard all the way from Rome to the French capital that he was seriously ill were without foundation. They were—then.

"The illness of Pope Leo has disarranged many things, of course, though I shall continue my preparations for my new work. I will go to my old home in Albany and pass some ten days with my relatives, and then return to New York, where I will need at least six weeks to complete my arrangements for the 'exile' to the Philippines."

Mgr. Rooker was met by his sister and other relatives. In addition to his work in Washington he has passed some time in Rome in an official capacity. He went to Rome the last time about the middle of April. Mgr. Dougherty, who participated at the joint audience with the Pope, was appointed Bishop of Nueva Segovia, Island of Luzon.

BELIEVES POPE WILL LIVE.

Bishop McDonnell of Long Island Thinks Leo Will Become Centenarian.

That Pope Leo will recover from his present illness and live to be one hundred years old is believed by Bishop Charles E. McDonnell, head of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Long Island, notwithstanding the reports from Rome as to the Pontiff's condition. Bishop McDonnell returned to Brooklyn yesterday from a trip on Long Island.

"Believing that the Holy Father will recover," he said, when seen at his residence, "I have not called the Bishop's Council together to formulate plans for services in the event of his death. However, if it should happen that he does not survive his illness, there will be a solemn mass at the cathedral, and probably at all the churches in the diocese.

"I cannot believe, however, that he will die. With his rugged physique, obtained by long years of service in the mountains, and his strong will, I believe that the Pope will live to be more than a hundred years old."

CHOOSING A NEW POPE.

Election by Ballot Twice a Day—Provisions for Averting Delays and Breaking Dead-Locks.

When the last rites have been performed over the dead Pontiff, and after the mass of the Holy Ghost, the supreme electors enter the conclave chanting the "Veni Creator." They walk two by two, the Bishops in front, the priests behind them, the deacons afterward. A master of ceremonies precedes them. He carries a cross the face of which is turned toward them. Formerly the Governor of Rome stood at the side of the Dean Cardinal. The procession comes out of the church by the large door and goes to the Pauline Chapel by the royal stairway. It passes before the pontifical major domo, who waits for it in front of the equestrian statue of Constantine. In the Pauline Chapel the Dean Cardinal recites the orison "Deus qui corda fidelium," invites the Cardinals to unite for a prompt and holy election, then tells the Secretary to read the bulls of the conclave, which all the members of the Sacred College take oath to observe.

The Cardinals then take possession of their cells. The first master of ceremonies dismisses the Ambassadors, the Princes, and the prelates who have remained until the last moment with the Cardinals to encourage them, and causes all the means of exit except that to the royal stairway to be closed. The three Cardinals who are chiefs of the orders visit the conclave with the master of ceremonies in order to assure themselves that it is in order. Should a Cardinal arrive in Rome after the opening of the conclave he would be introduced to his colleagues by the door of the royal stairway. It is at this door that Ambassadors present themselves.

The day after the opening of the conclave the chiefs of orders and Camerlingo pass in review the members of the solemn assembly. The Dean Cardinal celebrates the mass of the Holy Ghost in the chapel adjoining the conclave. After the mass the Cardinals enter the hall of the conclave and begin balloting.

The election by ballot takes place twice a day in the Sistine Chapel, in the morning after the mass and in the afternoon after chanting the "Veni Creator Spiritus." All Cardinals are compelled to vote under pain of excommunication. The ballots are of the size of ordinary letter paper, with blanks for names and seals. Each Cardinal inscribes his name and that of the Cardinal for whom he votes. The formula is as follows:

Ego......Card.........Eligo in summum Pontificem Reverendissimum Dominum meum D. cardinalem......

The elector folds this paper in a certain manner indicated by black lines, holds it between the thumb and the index finger, and deposits it in a large silver chalice ornamented with a figure of the Holy Ghost. He kneels at the altar, makes a brief prayer, and pronounces in a loud voice the words of an oath, the formula of which is written on a blackboard near the tabernacle.

If, on the first ballot, one of the Cardinals receives two-thirds of the votes of those present, he becomes Pope by law immediately. The Cardinals then sing the Te Deum as a thanksgiving to God for the election, and one of the Cardinals proceeds to the balcony overlooking the Square of St. Peter's and announces the election to the people assembled there.

Immediately on being elected Pope, the Cardinal so chosen selects the name by which he desires to be known as Pope.

If on the first ballot there is no election, the Cardinals retire to their rooms, reassembling either on the evening of the same day or the next morning. In order to avoid delay in the choice of a Pope, there is a provision which gives to every Cardinal the right to rise in his place after the taking of a ballot and transfer his vote to that Cardinal who has received a majority of the votes, but not two-thirds. Election by this method is called "electio per accessum."

When the Cardinals find it impossible to agree in the choice of a Pontiff, they may delegate the right to designate a candidate to one or several of their number.

Should not the number of votes correspond to the number of Cardinals in conclave, all the papers are burned. After accesso the ballots are burned in a furnace, whether the election was accomplished or not. The daily burning of the ballots, added to the smoke of the wax candles which were maintained night and day in the Sistine Chapel, so blackened the frescoes in this chapel that it was decided, in order to avoid greater damage, to burn the ballots in a closed furnace provided with a chimney that led this smoke out of the window.

When the election is finished, the Secretary of the Sacred College, the Cardinals who are the chiefs of orders, and the masters of ceremonies assemble in the Sistine Chapel and receive the elected one's consent. When his consent has been drawn in the form of a state paper, the Deacon Cardinals take the elected Cardinal's ornaments and replace them with the Pontifical insignia. He is led before the altar of the Sistine Chapel, where he sits in an armchair, and the Deans of the Cardinals adore him—that is, kneel before him, kiss his foot, his hand, and receive from him a kiss on the cheek. After the adoration the Camerlingo puts on his finger the Fisherman's ring.

The next day the conclave is demolished. Its hangings and provisions are given to the two masters of ceremonies. They are perquisites of their office.

BONDS FOR PASSAIC SEWER.

Commission Authorizes a $1,000,000 Issue—Litigation May Begin.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWARK, N. J., July 7.—The Passaic Valley District Sewerage Commission adopted resolutions this afternoon providing for the issue of $1,000,000 in bonds with which to begin the construction of a trunk sewer to New York Bay to relieve the Passaic River from pollution. The commission also passed a resolution declaring the estimated cost of the entire project to be $9,000,000.

This is the first step taken by the commission, and it is expected that it will be attacked by the Paterson authorities, who have threatened to carry the first "overt act" of the board to the courts.

The resolution providing for the bond issue was passed after formal notification had been received from Gov. Murphy to the effect that the commission might legally proceed with the work it was created to perform.

May Not See Grand Jury Minutes.

Judge Thomas, in the United States Court, Brooklyn, yesterday denied a motion by counsel for George F. Miller to inspect the minutes of the Federal Grand Jury, which indicted him. Miller, who is an agent of the Brandt-Dent Company, was indicted as a result of the investigation into the sales of automatic cash registers to the Post Office Department.

BIDS FOR PIERS TOO HIGH

Contractor Says He Was Told That Was Why He Got No Lease.

Van Wyck Dock Board Inquiry Brings Forth a Silent Partner of Silent Mr. Egan.

Assistant District Attorney Marshall B. Clarke, who is conducting the secret investigation on the Dock Board charges, examined new witnesses yesterday and received additional information on the doings of Commissioners Murphy, Cram and Meyer.

The second arraignment of Alderman James E. Gaffney and Charles F. Murphy's brother, John J. Murphy, before Justice Mayer of the Court of Special Sessions on charges growing out of their lease of the West Seventy-ninth Street pier in 1901, when both were city officials, will take place this afternoon. Mr. Clarke yesterday caused subpoenas duces tecum to be served on both requiring them to produce in court to-day the books of their firm, the New York Contracting and Trucking Company. Alderman Gaffney was served at the City Hall, where he had gone to attend the regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen. John J. Murphy was served at the Tammany Wigwam, in Fourteenth Street.

Alexander Crawford Chenoweth, a contractor, was examined at length before Justice Mayer. He had many discouraging experiences with the Tammany Dock Board, which "turned down" every application made by him for leases or permits on dumping boards necessary to him in his business.

Mr. Chenoweth, it is understood, testified that when he went to Pier A to learn, if possible, why he was discriminated against, he was told that in making his bids he had committed the grievous error of overbidding some of the firms which were regularly favored by the old Dock Board. Mr. Chenoweth said he was told plainly that if he wanted his applications to receive any attention whatever, he had better leave figures out.

Chief Engineer Bensal of the Dock Board, who has not yet figured in connection with the investigation, is to be questioned by Mr. Clarke concerning portions of Mr. Chenoweth's testimony.

One of the things Mr. Clarke would like to verify from the books of the New York Contracting and Trucking Company is the statement made by Mr. Chenoweth regarding a "filling contract" at the foot of East Twenty-third Street, which was awarded by the Murphy Dock Board to the firm of the Tammany leader's brother.

Mr. Chenoweth told Mr. Clarke that he understood the contract was given to the New York Contracting and Trucking Company for $750 and that the firm realized $67,000 by letting Holbrook, Cabot & Daly, who were doing work on a portion of the subway in that vicinity, dump earth and rocks there.

In William McTeague, another witness examined before Justice Mayer, Mr. Clarke found a partner of Joseph Egan, who got a lease of the bulkhead at West Twenty-ninth Street from the Murphy board under conditions so peculiar that on advice of Mr. Murphy's lawyer he declined to testify regarding it, on the ground that it would tend to incriminate and degrade him. McTeague did not get in on that deal, but, according to his testimony yesterday, he was a silent partner in a "filling in" contract obtained from the board on the North River front somewhere in Harlem.

"Filling in" contracts, it would appear, were privileges very much sought after and greatly appreciated by contractors and others. A hole in the ground, or some portion of the river front, where filling in was to be done, was a great money-maker in parts of the city where rapid transit subway excavating was going on.

The contractors generally were at their wit's end to obtain dumping privileges, and even under the most favorable circumstances had to pay for scows to carry their stuff away. Those who got the holes in the ground from the Dock Board would tax subway contractors stated fees for each of the many hundred loads a day that they would dump.

McTeague, when he sought the "filling-in" contract, went to Nicholas Hayes, a Tammany district leader, who arranged the matter with the Commissioners. Hayes was told that McTeague could not have it all for himself, as one half of the contract had already been bestowed on Egan.

McTeague told Mr. Clarke that though Egan was his partner he did not know much about him. He had met him only in the coal office of William H. Burke, who was Secretary of the old board, and knew him only as a clerk in Burke's employ.

JILTED WIDOW TAKES POISON.

Coroner Jackson Allows Petit to Remain Under Police Surveillance Until the Autopsy.

Jeannette Sanders, forty years old and a widow with five children, committed suicide yesterday at her home, at 58 East One Hundred and Fifteenth Street, because Thomas Petit, alias Thomas Gilbert, No. 6,886 in the Rogues' Gallery, had married another woman.

Thomas Petit has served five terms in Sing Sing Prison for assault, and was restored to citizenship by Gov. Hill in 1891. About five years ago he came to board with Mrs. Sanders, and up to two years ago had paid his bills regularly. After that time he did not do so, and as there was no protest from Mrs. Sanders, it was understood that he would marry her sooner or later. Last Sunday he told her that he was going to get married and left the house.

He was married Monday night, and when Mrs. Sanders heard of it she went out for some few hours and verified the rumor, returning to her home with a box of writing paper and a four-ounce bottle of carbolic acid. She then went to Petit's trunk and took all the clothing out of it, tearing most of the garments to shreds. After doing this she wrote a letter to her children. As she was finishing this a knocking was heard at the door, and when she asked who it was, Petit answered that it was he. She told him that he could not come in, and he broke the door down and demanded his clothes. She told him that they were all torn up, and when he tried to pass by her she blocked the way. He knocked her down, and when she got to her feet and opposed him, he did so again. Mrs. Sanders's sixteen-year-old daughter Annie was in the house, and she screamed and ran out of the back door, looking for the police.

Policeman Miller of the East One Hundred and Fourth Street Station was found, and he accompanied her to the house. When they got there Petit was gone, taking with him a few trinkets that he had in the trunk, and Mrs. Sanders was lying on the floor unconscious, with the acid bottle at her side. Miller telephoned the Harlem Hospital and Dr. Krauskops answered the call, but found that she was quite dead. The letter left by the dead woman said that Petit had killed her twelve-year-old son a few months ago. He was taken to the hospital and treated for appendicitis, when he was suffering from the effect of a kick that Petit was said to have given him. She also said that Petit owed her for two years' board.

When Coroner Jackson heard of the case he immediately ordered Petit arrested, but after viewing the body decided to allow him to remain at large under police surveillance. The body was removed to the Morgue for the autopsy to-day, and the Coroner said if he finds that there are marks of violence upon it he will have Petit arrested immediately. Mrs. Sanders's oldest son, a boy of fourteen, says he is of the opinion that his mother was murdered and that it was not acid that killed her.

Revising Methodist Catechism.

Special to The New York Times.

OCEAN GROVE, N. J., July 7.—A joint committee representing the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Episcopal Church South met to-day in Association Hall and proceeded to revise the Methodist catechism so that it may be uniform throughout the Church in the United States. The commission is made up of fourteen ministers and laymen, seven representing the Northern branch and seven the Southern faction. Bishops S. M. Merrill of Chicago and I. W. Joyce of Minneapolis are members of the committee representing the parent body, and Bishops W. W. Duncan of Spartansburg, S. C., and A. Cotte Smith of Norfolk, Va., represent the Southern committee. The committee will sit daily for a week.

APPELLATE DIVISION CASES.

Excise Writ Dismissed — Injunction Against Cantor Affirmed — Other Decisions Handed Down.

Among the decisions handed down by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court yesterday were the following:

The order of the Special Term dismissing the writ of certiorari obtained by George A. Gress to review the action of Deputy Commissioner George Hilliard was affirmed. The relator sought to compel the Commissioner to issue a liquor tax certificate to him for $750. His place of business is in the Borough of the Bronx, in that portion which is a part of the First Judicial District, and which, he claimed, came in the classification for cities or boroughs having less than 500,000 population, but more than 50,000. Justice Hatch, who writes the opinion of the court, says that "it is idle to attempt to harmonize the respective provisions" of the law, but after an extended survey he concludes that the intent was to increase the fee from $800 to $1,200 for the locality in question. Justices Patterson, Ingraham, and McLaughlin concur. Presiding Justice Van Brunt dissents.

The court affirms an order restraining President Cantor from making a contract for paving Seventh Avenue, from One Hundred and Tenth to One Hundred and Twentieth Street, in accordance with terms stated in the official proposal for bids. It was provided that the "bitulithic pavement," otherwise known as "Warren's Bituminous Waterproof Pavement," should be used. This pavement, however, is a patented article, and the court holds that, under the charter, bids must not be limited to such articles. Separate actions were brought by the Barber Asphalt Paving Company and by William G. Rose, as a taxpayer.

The court reversed judgments convicting Joseph Green and others of a misdemeanor for having posted advertising bills upon a fence around vacant property fronting upon or adjacent to a public park. The court holds that the law giving municipal corporations power to regulate bill posting, so as to insure safety to people in the streets, does not justify regulations which forbid property owners from displaying advertisements upon their property.

The court affirmed an order denying a mandamus directing Commissioner Robert Grier Monroe to issue permits for laying electrical conduits as applied for by the Consolidated Telegraph and Electrical Subway Company. The Commissioner refused to grant the permits unless the company agreed to pay for inspectors, who, however, were to be appointed by himself. The company refused to agree to such an arrangement.

The court ordered the reversal of an order denying the motion to remove James J. Coogan as a receiver on the application of John Fleming. The matter had previously been before the Appellate Division, which decided against Mr. Coogan. The latter asked for a reargument. He claimed that he had been appointed, at the express solicitation of the Judge who appointed him, against his wishes; that he had been unjustly stigmatized as insolvent and incompetent, and that he had been prevented from having an opportunity to vindicate himself. The court denied the motion for a reargument, but ordered the reversal of the order without prejudice to the right of the receiver to apply to the court below for a rehearing of the motion at special term, and for leave to present additional affidavits.

A CITY OFFICIAL REMOVED.

Public Works Commissioner of Mount Vernon Charged with Malfeasance.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., July 7.—Commissioner of Public Works John O'Toole was to-night removed from office by the Common Council. This decision was reached last night by the councilmen meeting as a committee of the whole. The fight was alleged to be a political one. O'Toole being a Democrat and the majority of the council being Republican, but two of the Democratic members voted with the Republicans in the committee last night and again to-night in the Council meeting.

Charges of malfeasance and nonfeasance were made against O'Toole several weeks ago. There have been many hearings. The charges were based on the Bedford Avenue improvement, and it was alleged the contractor was paid about double for the work really done. Mr. O'Toole says he will carry the case into the courts.

HURT ON BANKER'S YACHT.

Two of the Crew of the Selicia, Owned by Charles Steele, J. P. Morgan's Partner, Burned in Explosion.

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I. July 7.—Two of the crew of the Selicia, the steam yacht of Charles Steele, partner of J. P. Morgan, were severely injured to-day by the bursting of a cylinder while the yacht was in Peconic Bay.

The injured men are William A. Kruger of 5,411 Fourth Avenue, Brooklyn, and Allen J. Whewell, who lived aboard the yacht. They were burned by the escaping steam. Whewell is the more seriously injured.

The men were taken ashore and brought here. Later they were taken to the Presbyterian Hospital, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Steele, their two daughters, and a son were aboard the yacht, which carries a crew of twenty men. The boat had been at Greenport and was proceeding to land the family at Rose's Grove on their way to their Summer residence here when the explosion occurred.

TROLLEY CAR HOLD-UP.

Passengers bound on a trolley car from Yonkers to New York Monday evening at 5 o'clock refused to allow themselves to be held up by men they believed to be robbers, and going to the aid of the conductor, succeeded in capturing two of four men who were said to have created a disturbance. The car was crowded at the time with men, women, and children, many of them standing up. Among them were four Italians, neatly dressed, and seemingly well behaved until the conductor had collected all the fares.

The Italians, who were in the forward part of the car, began, according to the passengers, to ring up fares, and when the conductor protested one of the men grappled with him, another rifling his pockets. At the same time a third man began vigorously ringing up fares. One of the passengers cried out that his watch was gone. The men in the car seemed to act all at once. The motorman was signaled to stop and they, with the aid of the motorman, went to the rescue of the conductor.

In the tumult that followed, while the women passengers were pointing out different men as those who had started the trouble by ringing up the fares, the men had pulled two men off the car and held them on the ground. Another car came along about this time. Its passengers added to the ring around the prisoners, threatening them with violence.

Policeman James Maloney, hearing the noise, rushed to the scene of trouble, and took into custody the two men, taking them to Police Headquarters in Yonkers, where they denied any wrongdoing, and claimed that they had been attacked by the crowd because they were Italians. The men arrested gave their names as James Beckard, twenty-five years old, laborer, of 158 Madison Street, and Alfred Manzironi, twenty-five years old, miner, living at 273 East One Hundred and Sixty-seventh Street. Beckard was charged with assault in the first degree and Manzironi with petty larceny. They were held in the Yonkers Court yesterday for examination to-day in $200 bail each.

Thomas Francis Wolfe, a lawyer at 38 Park Row, who lives at 50 West One Hundred and Twelfth Street, was a passenger on the car at the time of the alleged attempt at a hold up. He says that the men were desperate, and would undoubtedly have robbed every one in the car if it had not been for the immediate and concerted action of the passengers. There were a couple of lively minutes' struggle with the two men, who were captured and taken back to Yonkers in charge of the policeman.

On the way back to the city several of the passengers explained that they had before been victims of "hold-ups" on trolley cars under similar circumstances, and that it was their previous experiences which made them so quick to jump to the rescue of the conductor when he was attacked.

STOLE A RIDE AND WAS SHOT.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., July 7.—Michael Holland of New York City was shot by Robert Calder of Nelliston, N. Y., at St. Johnsville to-night. Holland was stealing a ride on a New York Central train. Commanded by Calder, who was searching for car thieves, to throw up his hands, Holland started to run. Calder pursued him, and as he was passing through a barb wire fence he fell accidentally, he claims, discharging his revolver. The ball entered Holland's right hip, inflicting a dangerous wound.

Railroad Receivership Denied Here.

The application of the Knickerbocker Trust Company to Justice Giegerich, in the Supreme Court, for the appointment of a temporary receiver for the Oneonta, Cooperstown and Richfield Springs Railway Company has been denied. The Justice holds that the motion must be made in Otsego County, where the home office of the railway company are located.

CHIEF ENGINEER OF AQUEDUCT BOARD OUT

W. R. Hill Resigns and Leaves City Before Examination.

LEAKY RESERVOIR IS A JOKE

Evidence That Constructors Laughed at Indications of Bad Work—Tarred Rope to Stop Cracks.

On the eve of the time set for his examination concerning the affairs of the Aqueduct Commission, now under the fire of the District Attorney, William R. Hill, Chief Engineer of that body, resigned his office yesterday and left this jurisdiction, going to Atlantic City. His reason given for his action was ill-health.

The day's proceedings in the "John Doe" inquiry before Justice Mayer of the Court of Special Sessions were full of interest. The testimony adduced bearing on the charges of contumacious neglect of duty brought by the Merchants' Association against Commissioners William H. Ten Eyck, Joseph T. Windolph, and John J. Ryan was of such a nature that when Assistant District Attorney Train saw Mr. Jerome in the afternoon his report was in this form:

"Judge, I think we have a cinch."

Earlier in the day Mr. Train had announced that President Ten Eyck, Chief Engineer Hill, and Divisional Engineer Daniel Uhlrich, employed on the construction of the Jerome Park Reservoir, would be called as witnesses to-day.

Among the witnesses examined yesterday were Thomas S. McPherson and Charles H. Babcock, both formerly employed as Inspectors on the Jerome Park Reservoir work; Benjamin L. Blauvelt, a leveler; Divisional Engineer Edward Wegmann, who at one time had charge of some work on the Jerome Park Reservoir, but was transferred to the Croton Valley after he had trouble over material used by a contractor in constructing a retaining wall; Thomas J. Fleming, Superintendent of dam construction on the Jerome Park Reservoir, and Edward P. North, ex-President of the American Society of Engineers, and consulting engineer of the Merchants' Association.

Frederick B. De Berard, statistician of the Merchants' Association, who attended the hearing, said last night regarding the day's proceedings:

"The testimony given to-day was altogether in corroboration of the charges preferred by the Merchants' Association, that not only the construction of the walls, but the work of excavation also had progressed much more slowly than would have been the case under proper management and supervision, and that much of the work had not been up to the standard required by the specifications. Witnesses also testified to overcertification of material delivered on the ground for use and payments for excavation never made."

District Attorney Jerome announced in the afternoon that the one piece of testimony brought out during the day was that the wall erected was found so leaky that tarred rope had to be used for the purpose of filling up crevices to prevent water from running into the reservoir from the outside. Mr. Jerome was also told that during the Winter huge icicles formed in many places where the water trickled through the leaky walls, and that this was considered a great joke by the Inspectors employed upon the work.

Rumors of forthcoming arrests were again strong yesterday. Mr. Train, when questioned on this point, said:

"This is a criminal proceeding, and you can always have an arrest on criminal grounds. If Justice Mayer should find reasonable ground to believe that a crime had been committed, I suppose he would issue warrants."

Mr. De Berard gave information regarding the appointment by Mayor Low of William Edmund Curtis, the fourth Commissioner, who is not included in the charges brought by the Merchants' Association.

Mr. Curtis, prior to his appointment on the Aqueduct Commission, was a member of the Board of Directors of the Merchants' Association. After he had been appointed he was asked to resign from the association, because the rules of that organization prohibit any city official from holding a place on its official board.

"I know the man who recommended the appointment of Mr. Curtis," said Mr. De Berard, "and I am credibly informed that he was appointed for the purpose of harmonizing the differences between the Merchants' Association and the Aqueduct Board."

George L. Duval, Chairman of the special committee which prepared the charges against the Commissioners, declared that Mr. Curtis had repeatedly kept urging the Merchants' Association to drop these.

"He wrote a letter for the purpose on July 1 last year," said Mr. Duval. "In the letter he urged that the charges be dropped, or that, at any rate, we go slow, as innocent people might else be injured. On Sept. 15 the Mayor made him a member of the Aqueduct Board. Since then he has tried unsuccessfully for months to induce Mr. King to call me off. I have repeatedly told him not to interfere, but to let these people fight their own battles."

The fact of Engineer Hill's resignation was rumored early in the afternoon, but at that time it was denied at the office of the Aqueduct Commission that any communication had been received from him. Later in the day, after the meeting of the Aqueduct Commission, the following copy of Mr. Hill's resignation was given out:

City Engineer's Office,
Aqueduct Commissioners,
New York, July 6, 1903.

To the Aqueduct Commissioners:

Gentlemen: The leave of absence which you recently granted me on account of my debility has not, I regret to say, given me back the strength that would enable me to resume the duties of my office, and my physician forbids my undertaking any arduous work now.

Realizing that this is imperative, and to avoid embarrassing you with the uncertainty as to when I could return, I deem it best to resign the position of chief engineer. With appreciation of the consideration and courtesies shown me during my incumbency, I am, yours respectfully,
W. R. HILL, Chief Engineer.

Accompanying this came a statement from Harry Walker, the Secretary of the commission.

"Mr. Hill presented his resignation solely because of his serious illness," declared Mr. Walker, "and the matter was a great surprise to the Commissioners. Mr. Hill was appointed Chief Engineer in 1899, coming here from the Syracuse Water Works, where he was acting as the Chief Engineer. When he took charge of his office here, on Jan. 1, 1900, he apparently was in robust health, but April 15, 1902, he was taken dangerously ill, and was unable to return to his work until June 23 of the same year.

"During the last Spring he suffered from an affection of the heart, which reached such a stage that he was unable to continue his work, and last month he applied for a leave of absence, which was granted. That time expired to-day. On his return from a trip he stated that his condition was such that he could not properly discharge the duties of his office, and the letter received to-day states that, under the advice of his physician, he resigns. It is evident that he was in no condition to resume work, which during the last few months has become especially arduous and which has been performed under trying circumstances. At the meeting of the Aqueduct Commissioners to-day, on the motion of the Controller, the resignation was laid on the table."

Mr. Hill has been living at 242 Sixth Avenue, in Brooklyn, and both his resignation and the fact he had left for Atlantic City caused considerable astonishment in official circles. As he is beyond the jurisdiction of the State authorities, there will be no means of securing his presence to testify in the "John Doe" proceedings until he cares to come back.

When Mr. Hill was appointed Chief Engineer he succeeded Alfonse Fteley. At that time Alfred Craven was the assistant engineer, and expected to be promoted. When this promotion was not given to him, Mr. Craven became dissatisfied. He resigned from the employ of the commission some time ago.

FLOOD VICTIM'S MOTHER DEAD.

Death Came When Mrs. Donnelly Saw Her Daughter's Body.

GREENSBURG, Penn., July 7.—Overcome with grief over the death of her daughter, Mrs. Kate Donnelly of Jeannette, in Sunday's disaster at Oakford Park, Mrs. Martha Garvin of Greensburg dropped dead this morning.

The body of her daughter was brought to Greensburg this morning for interment, and the mother was sitting by a window where she could see the approach. When it came in sight she fell over dead.

The mother and daughter will be buried at the same hour to-morrow afternoon.

NEW RAILROAD TO THE GULF.

Plans of Rock Island and 'Frisco Will Divert Much Trade to Galveston and New Orleans.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 7.—The Gulf system soon to be completed by the Rock Island and 'Frisco combination will greatly injure the export trade of New York and other Atlantic seaports, as the companies are preparing to divert to the South a large portion of the Mississippi trade. New Orleans and Galveston will profit by the change.

The Rock Island will soon reach the seaboard by its purchase of a half interest in the Houston and Texas Central, while the Frisco will soon enter New Orleans, thus giving these two lines access to the Gulf ports, heretofore denied them.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois, the St. Louis, Memphis and Southwestern, and the New Orleans extension and terminals are to be combined and will be known as the Chicago, St. Louis, Memphis and New Orleans Railroad, making a new system of 1,500 miles. This will form a through line from Chicago to New Orleans, and a water level line from St. Louis south. The new line, although longer than some competitors, will doubtless become an important factor for New Orleans, and a stronger competitor of the Illinois Central and the Louisville and Nashville.

This system of more than 16,000 miles will throw a large portion of the business of the Mississippi Valley to the Gulf. It may also be decided to include the Choctaw, Oklahoma and Gulf, of about 1,000 miles, and make it a feeder from the great wheat section.

ACCUSED BY ANGRY INVESTORS.

A. M. Ross of Newark Arrested on "Get-Rich-Quick" Charge.

NEWARK, N. J., July 7.—A. M. Ross, manager of the Empire Trust and Securities Company, an alleged "get-rich-quick" concern, with offices in this city, was arrested at his home in South Orange to-night by Post Office Inspector Cortelyou and Detective Sergts. Murphy and Tyler. He was taken to the Police Headquarters here and locked up.

Ross had been living in South Orange under the name of M. A. Malcom, but he was recognized as Ross by Inspector Cortelyou, who, he says, is wanted in New York, where he was indicted about a year ago.

It is alleged that the Empire Company guaranteed to its certificate holders 5 per cent. a month, and, further, it insured them in the profits of the company, which amounted to about 300 per cent. a year. The matter was brought to the attention of the local authorities by a number of letters, in which the writers claimed they had received absolutely no return from the concern. Some of these people bought certificates valued at $25, $50, and $100.

KILLED WIFE AND SELF.

A. B. Young, Son of Minister, and a Philippine Soldier, a Murderer and Suicide.

WASHINGTON, Penn., July 7.—A. B. Young, a member of the Allegheny County bar, with an office at 438 Fourth Avenue, Pittsburg, shot his wife and then committed suicide at the Hotel Stegel some time last night or early this morning.

The couple came here last night. They had not risen at noon to-day and when an effort to get in the room failed, it was broken open, and on the bed lay the dead bodies of the couple. They had on only their nightrobes.

Two wounds were in the woman's breast and one near the heart of Young, who still clutched the revolver in his hand.

No reason for the deed is known. Mr. Young was the son of the Rev. J. W. Young of the Presbyterian Church at Prosperity, this county, and is well known here. He went through the Philippine campaign with the Tenth Regiment.

DEMONSTRATION BY PEDDLERS.

Pushcart Men to Parade and Hold Meeting to Protest Against Commissioner Woodbury's Plans.

The pushcart peddlers of the lower east side will make a demonstration to-day against Commissioner Woodbury's plan to drive them off the streets and restrict them to a narrow territory near the Brooklyn Bridge.

The demonstration will consist of a parade of the Orchard Street, Mulberry Street, Hester Street, and Grand Street Pushcart Peddlers' Unions, comprising about 6,000 men. They will start at 9 o'clock in the morning, and after marching in Grand Street, the Bowery, and Canal Street, will gather in Apollo Hall, 628 Clinton Street, to make speeches of protest. Samuel Weiner of 363 Grand Street, head of the Grand Street Union and leader in the protest, will preside.

There will be a complete tie-up in the pushcart business in that district, and the wholesale suppliers will close their places of business.

The Citizens' Union of the Eighth Assembly District will hold a meeting in the evening at 3 Ludlow Street as a counter-demonstration. James B. Reynolds will make an address. Both parties have scattered handbills throughout the district.

FISHMEN MAKE A PROTEST.

Want Mayor to Enforce Sanitary, License, and Weight Ordinances.

The Fish Cutters and Oyster Openers' Unions, which recently united for the purpose of obtaining a charter from the Central Federation of Labor, held a meeting last night to demand the enforcement by the police of the ordinances intended to prevent the sale of decayed fish, the peddling of fish without a license, and the use of short-weight scales.

A committee of ten was chosen to call on Mayor Low and bring to his notice the alleged laxity in the enforcement of the ordinances.

The meeting was held at the American Theatre, in Eighth Avenue. Walter F. Murphy of 517 Tenth Avenue was made Chairman of the protesting committee. The protests are supported by the Central Federation of Labor.

HAS AN ELEPHANT IN BOND.

Coney Island Show Is Made a Warehouse by United States Government.

The thousands of persons who stroll in Surf Avenue, Coney Island, wouldn't suspect it, but one of the shows that line that thoroughfare is a bonded warehouse, duly named by the United States Government for the keeping of goods upon which the duty has not been paid.

A ship arrived in this port July 3 from some Eastern port, carrying for the Bostock show a young elephant. There is a tariff on elephants, so the value of the beast was declared at $500. That didn't satisfy the customs officials, and Collector Stranahan ordered it appraised at a greater value.

Then Bostock became dissatisfied, and he has put in motion the usual appeal from the decision. The Government had to order the elephant to be stored in bond pending the appeal. Having no elephant warehouses, the next best thing was done, making Bostock's show at Coney Island a bonded warehouse, where the elephant will remain till the question of her import duties is decided.

CECIL RHODES SCHOLARSHIPS.

Final Instructions Given for Choosing of American Students for Oxford Next Year.

The trustees of the will of Cecil Rhodes have prepared a memorandum for the information of college authorities and candidates for the Rhodes scholarships in the United States. The first election of scholars in this country under the bequest will be held between February and May, 1904, and those chosen will commence their residence in October.

In each State and Territory a committee has been selected, each of which is to make one appointment from the list of those successfully passing the qualifying examination, which will be held in each State or Territory during the time from February to May.

This examination, which is not competitive, will be based on the requirements for responsions—the entrance examinations of Oxford. They consist of tests in arithmetic, either algebra or geometry, Greek, and Latin grammar, Latin prose composition, and Greek and Latin authors. Under the last head candidates must offer two books, one Greek and one Latin, or sight translation, from the following list:

Demosthenes—(1) Philippics 1-3, and Olynthiacs, 1-3, or (2) De Corona.
Euripides—Any two of the following plays: Hecuba, Medea, Alcestis, Bacchae.
Homer—(1) Iliad 1-5, or 2-6; or (2) Odyssey 1-5, or 2-6.
Plato—Apology and Crito.
Sophocles—Antigone and Ajax.
Xenophon—Anabasis 1-4, or 2-5.
Caesar—De Bello Gallico 1-4.
Cicero—(1) The first two Philippic Orations; or (2) the four Catiline Orations, and In Verrem, Act. I.; or (3) the Orations Pro Murena and Pro Lege Manilia; or (4) the treatises De Senectute and De Amicitia.
Horace—(1) Odes 1-4; or (2) Satires; or (3) Epistles.
Livy—Books 21 and 22. (After Michaelmas, 1903, Books V. and VI.)
Virgil—(1) The Bucolics, with Books 1-3 of the Aeneid; or (2) the Georgics; or (3) the Aeneid, Books 1-5, or 2-6.

Where several candidates present themselves from a single State or Territory the committees of selection will decide between their claims on the basis of the suggestions in Mr. Rhodes's will.

Scholars must be unmarried, must be citizens of the United States, and must be between nineteen and twenty-five years old. Candidates may apply either in the State in which they were educated or in their home State.

In most of the Western and Southern States the President of the State University or college is Chairman of the Committee of Selection. For the other States the following Chairmen have been named:

Connecticut—President Arthur T. Hadley, LL. D., Yale University.
Illinois—President W. R. Harper, Ph. D., D. D., University of Chicago.
Kentucky—President D. B. Gray, D. D., Georgetown College.
Maryland—President W. A. Remsen, LL. D., Johns Hopkins University.
Massachusetts—President Charles W. Eliot, LL. D., Harvard University.
New Hampshire—President W. J. Tucker, D. D., Dartmouth College.
New Jersey—President Woodrow Wilson, LL. D., Princeton University.
New York State—President Nicholas Murray Butler, LL. D., Columbia University.
Rhode Island—President W. H. P. Faunce, D. D., Brown University.

In the following States appointments will be made by the chartered colleges and universities, in rotation:

California—University of California, Leland Stanford University. Smaller colleges every seventh year.
Maine—The order of rotation yet to be fixed.
Vermont—University of Vermont, Middlebury College.
Washington—The order of rotation yet to be fixed.

No candidate may compete in more than one State.

ARRESTED AFTER CHASE OVER THREE CONTINENTS.

Man Accused of Forgery in Alaska Fled to the United States, China, Manila, Australia, and South Africa.

Special to The New York Times.

TACOMA, Washington, July 7.—James M. Beasley was arrested yesterday at Johannesburg, S. A., for the alleged forgery two years ago of a duplicate draft on the United States Treasury for $3,800. Officers have been on his trail for nearly two years, and during that time have followed him 17,000 miles.

He belonged to the contracting firm of Burns & Beasley, doing Government work at Nome and St. Michaels. After cashing one draft for $3,800 Beasley is accused of securing a book of duplicate checks from officers with quarters at St. Michael, using one of them to duplicate the draft which had been recently honored by the Bank of Cape Nome. The second draft was honored by some bank after some hesitation, but thrown out when it reached the Sub-Treasury at San Francisco.

Beasley disappeared soon after Capt. Green, in command at St. Michael, discovered that his duplicate checks were missing. The United States Marshal's office at Nome set its best men to find Beasley. Deputy Marshal Dwyer, accompanied by a United States secret service man, followed Beasley to the United States, China, Manila, and Australia. They arrived there only to learn that he had departed for South Africa.

CABMEN "HIGHWAY ROBBERS."

Magistrate Cornell, in the Jefferson Market Court, yesterday morning denounced the methods used by cabmen to obtain fares, and ended by saying he thought a good name for the average cabman would be a "highway robber."

The case was that of Francis Degnon, a cabman, who was arrested Monday evening on the complaint of William H. Egan, the ferrymaster at the foot of West Twenty-third Street.

Egan claimed that he had seen Degnon try to force an aged German couple into his cab in an effort to take them to a hotel, for which he was going to charge $3. Egan said the couple tried to get out of the cab, but Degnon would not let them, and was about to drive away when Egan said he interfered. The German couple told him, he said, that they were to sail yesterday on the Prinz Wilhelm II. for Germany and had asked Degnon to tell them where they could get rooms in the neighborhood.

The cabman in court said that he was being persecuted by the ferry officials, who wanted, he said, to let the cabmen hired by the railroad have the preference of getting fares.

"I do not believe you," said Magistrate Cornell. "I have always found the railroad officials to be fair on cabmen. You independent cabmen are veritable highway robbers."

Degnon was fined $5, which he paid.

$500,000 LOSS BY FLOOD.

PITTSBURG, Penn., July 7.—Nearly 1,500 men are at work repairing the damage done to the Pennsylvania Railroad lines by the recent flood at Jeanette and vicinity.

Until this evening the officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad had not formed a full estimate of the amount of damage sustained on the main line and the different branches. All day Monday and Tuesday parties of Pittsburg officials were engaged in walking over the damaged portions of the road.

After walking over every part of the damaged sections of the road and formulating a report of their observations, the officials have estimated the entire damage sustained in the disaster at more than $500,000. More than eight miles of track was destroyed, several buildings washed away, and a large amount of valuable masonry undermined and otherwise damaged.

All of the damaged bridges will be trestled and traffic will be resumed on all of the branches by to-morrow evening.

YOUNG WOMAN TOOK ACID.

Under a bench on Washington Bridge, within a few feet of Amsterdam Avenue, Policeman John Coughlan of the West One Hundred and Fifty-second Street Station late last night found the unconscious form of a young woman. Her lips were seared with carbolic acid and an empty vial was near by. She was sent to the J. Hood Wright Memorial Hospital.

The young woman is about twenty-two years old, fair complexion and hair, and blue eyes. Her clothing was of fine quality. She wore gold-rimmed eye glasses attached to a thin gold chain. She wore also a gold watch and chain, the number of the watch being being 152,928. In a black chatelaine bag were a few keys, a handkerchief, a pair of white silk gloves, $2.20, and a slip of paper on which was written in pencil: "Mrs. E. Wilson, 1,016 Third Avenue."

NO POLYGAMY IN SALT LAKE.

Special Grand Jury Investigates and Cannot Find a Single Case.

Special to The New York Times.

SALT LAKE, July 7.—The Mormons of Salt Lake are jubilant over the report which the special Grand Jury made late this afternoon on its investigations of the charges of polygamy since the issuance of the manifesto. The jury reported that it could not find evidence in that direction, and rebuked the citizens of Zion for circulating such rumors. That part of the report referring to the polygamy charges reads as follows:

"We at once began the investigation of the very prevalent rumors of the violation of that provision of our State Constitution, which says that 'polygamous or plural marriages are forever prohibited.' We have investigated thoroughly all such cases brought to our attention by the District Attorney and by citizens who have appeared before us, which were reported to have occurred within the jurisdiction of this court, and have not been able to secure evidence that a single case of polygamy has occurred in this district since Utah became a State.

"The rumors of the commission of this crime seem to have grown out of innocent circumstances, which in ordinary communities would have created no suspicion nor scandal, but which, however, probably owing to a feature of our territorial history, have been seized upon, and the crime assumed without evidence, much to the chagrin and injury of innocent citizens and greatly to the detriment of our State and its reputation throughout the Nation. Those who prize the fair name of our State and the rights of neighbors should hereafter be more careful to secure facts and evidence before charging this crime."

The non-Mormons had hoped that the jury would have returned indictments against some of the alleged polygamists, among whom are City Judge Harry S. Tanner and Joseph A. Silver, Vice President of the Commercial Club, as the findings would have been used by the Ministerial Alliance in the fight to be made against United States Senator Reed Smoot of Provo. On the other hand, the report is to be used by the friends of the Senator before the Senatorial Committee on Privileges and Elections in circumventing, if possible, his unseating. The enemies of the Senator will resort to the fact that the majority of the members of the Grand Jury were Mormons.

BISHOP BURKE FOR REGENT.

Candidate to Succeed Father Hendrick When the Latter Goes to Cebu.

With the announced appointment of the Rev. Thomas A. Hendrick as Bishop of Cebu, Philippine Islands, interest is beginning to centre on his successor in the Board of Regents, as no doubt he will resign if he goes to the Far East.

The candidacy of Bishop M. A. Burke of Albany has already been declared. When Regent Hendrick was elected, in 1900, Bishop Burke was a candidate. In fact, he has not been averse to the honor for the last few years. In 1900, when Regent Hendrick was elected, Bishop Burke was the candidate of the Albany County Assemblymen and Senator.

Father Hendrick had been practically indorsed by the Republican State Committee, and George W. Aldridge, with his four Monroe Assemblymen and two Monroe Senators, had no trouble in bringing winning support to his candidate. William Barnes, Republican leader of Albany County, was then and is now in favor of Bishop Burke's candidacy.

Albany has always been noted for having a large proportion of Regents. It now has three—Bishop William Croswell Doane, elected in 1892; Dr. Albert Van Der Veer, elected in 1895, and Robert C. Pruyn, elected in 1901.

The last Regent to be elected was Charles A. Gardiner of this city, who was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Martin I. Townsend of Troy.

BRYN MAWR SCHOLARSHIPS.

Special to The New York Times.

BRYN MAWR, Penn., July 7.—The award of graduate scholarships for 1903-1904 at Bryn Mawr College has just been announced. With one exception these scholarships are of the value of $200. They may be held by graduates of any college in good standing. Four of the successful candidates this year—Miss Walker, Miss Stites, Miss Hodge, and Miss Branson—are Bryn Mawr graduates, Miss Geer and Miss Nichols come from Cornell, Miss Schaeffer is from Dickinson, Miss Waddell, Miss Johnson, and Miss Downing are from Toronto University, Miss Johnstin is from the Pennsylvania College for Women, and Miss Hill from Earlham College. The full list is as follows:

Physics—Leah H. Johnston, Toronto, Canada.
Chemistry—Ruth Frances Johnstin, Pittsburg, Penn.
Biology—Susie Percival Nichols, Madison.
Teutonic Philology—Sarah D. Hill, Richmond, Ind.
Economics—Sara Henry Stites, Wyoming, Penn.

HE WOULD DEFEND WOMEN.

Lad Was Instructed to Steal Satchels and Later a Prisoner, He Thrashed a Boy Who Struck a Housekeeper.

Charles Coye, a fifteen-year-old boy who was arrested on Friday last for stealing a handbag belonging to James McGovern, at the Grand Central Station, pleaded guilty to the charge yesterday morning when arraigned before Justice McKeon in the Children's Court.

The boy told the Justice that he arrived in New York hard up about four weeks ago. His father, he said, lives at Naples, Ontario County, N. Y., and his mother lives in New Mexico.

"But what have you been doing these last four weeks in this city?" asked the Justice.

"I met a man in front of the Mills Hotel, 87 Bleecker Street," Coye answered, "and he told me he knew of a good graft for me to work. He told me to go up to the Grand Central Depot. 'Any bag you find, just pick it up,' he told me. 'If there is nothing in it, turn it over to the station agent, but if there is anything valuable in it take the whole business.' So I went up and tried it."

James McGovern, the complainant, who is a broker, of 566 Pearl Street, told the court that on Friday last he left his handbag on the floor of the Grand Central Station while he got into the line at the ticket window. He was in the line fifteen minutes, he said, and when he went for his bag he found Detective Sergeant McMullen in charge of it and the Coye boy under arrest.

Representatives of the Children's Society informed the court that on Sunday last Coye had shown a very commendable spirit, while being detained at the rooms of the society by severely thrashing Charles Boyce, a boy larger than himself, who struck the housekeeper when she tried to keep the boys in line. After beating Boyce, Coye quietly said that "no boy can strike a woman while I am around."

The Justice said he would like to know more about the boy, and remanded him until the 14th, during which time the society will try to communicate with Coye's father.

CORNELL SUMMER SCHOOL OPENS

Attendance Less Than Last Year—Many Regular College Students Enter.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., July 7.—The attendance at the Cornell Summer school, which opened to-day, is somewhat less than a year ago. At noon 402 students had registered for work in the Summer courses. Last year at this time about 475 had registered, and this number before the end of the session had increased to 550.

Of the number registered this year, probably 200, or nearly half, are students who lost work during the regular college year because of the fever epidemic, and are taking this chance to make up. Usually regular college students are very few. Of the bona fide Summer school students, therefore, there are only about 250. To show the actual decrease this number must be compared with last year's attendance of 550.

Man Shot by His Wife Dies.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., July 7.—Samuel J. Beatty, who was shot by his wife, Sarah, during a quarrel between them here yesterday afternoon, and who was removed to St. Francis Hospital, at Trenton, in the evening, died at that institution this morning. Mrs. Beatty, who had been locked up in the city jail here, was placed in a wagon at midnight last night and driven to the Burlington County Jail and locked up. The woman, who is said to have been intoxicated, claims she shot her husband in self-defense during a quarrel.

Men's Suits

It's no trick at all to build a heavy suit that will stand up under hard wear. But take a light homespun or wool crash suit, and it's a different matter to tailor it so that it will keep its shape under Summer conditions.

These suits do, though, and at the same time they are built to give the greatest possible amount of comfort to their wearers in hot weather.

The stock offers splendid variety:

Light homespuns, single and double-breasted; also fine cheviots and worsteds, all quarter-lined, at $8.50 to $18.

Norfolk Suits of light homespuns and wool crashes; quarter and half-lined, at $8.50 to $18.

Suits of fine cassimere, white and striped flannels; some broken lots, specially priced at $12 to $22.

Young Men's Norfolk Suits, in new, stylish patterns of wool crash and homespun; all quarter-lined; sizes for 15 to 19 years—large enough also to fit men weighing up to 35-inch chest measure—at $10, $12 and $15.

Young Men's Three-piece Suits of mixed cheviots; sizes for 15 to 19 years; odd sizes; formerly $10 to $18.50, now $7.50 a suit.

Second floor, Fourth avenue.

Men's Underwear To Be Cool In

Underwear, to be thoroughly comfortable, should absorb moisture from the skin and distribute it; and also allow the skin to breathe freely.

If the underwear is right, you are well on the way to the fullest comfort the weather will allow.

Here are some sorts that are right:

50c a garment—German mesh lisle shirts; English gauze cotton shirts; long or short sleeves. American made drawers to match.

French balbriggan shirts with long or short sleeves; drawers to match; seats reinforced; inseams 28 or 31 inches; shirts of white ribbed lisle thread; short sleeves; no front opening. Drawers of jean or nainsook, with string ties or balbriggan anklets, in various lengths of inseam.

At $1 a garment—English lisle thread shirts, with closed or open fronts and no sleeves, or open front, long or short sleeves. Drawers to match, with spliced seats.

Shirts and drawers of fine French balbriggan or natural colored merino.

Also mercerised colored cotton shirts or Drawers.

At $1.75 a garment—Extra fine English lisle thread shirts, with long or short sleeves; drawers to match.

Also fine lisle thread union suits that are guaranteed to fit.

At $2.50 a garment—Full fashioned and regular-made open mesh lisle thread Shirts, with short sleeves; drawers to match. Very comfortable hot-weather underwear.

At $3 a garment—Open mesh spun silk shirts or drawers; extra fine and light. Broadway.

Boys' Suits

A Money-Saving Resume

Just three indications that possess a good deal of hot-weather significance to mothers on economy bent.

Included are Sailor Suits of blue serge; double-breasted suits of fancy cheviots, and Russian blouse suits of galatea; and there's money to be saved on each:

At $1.15, worth $1.50

Boys' Russian Blouse Suits of striped galatea; sizes for 2½ to 6 years.

At $2.75, worth $5

Sailor Suits of blue serge; handsomely trimmed with black soutache braid; sizes 3 to 12 years.

At $3.50, worth $5

Double-breasted Jacket Suits with extra trousers; medium shades of fancy cheviot; will give splendid all-round wear. Sizes for 7 to 11 years.

Second floor, Ninth street.

Shirt-waist Dresses Of Satin Foulard

Some of the daintiest, most charming silk shirt-waist suits that you ever saw; and at a specially low price, too.

They are prettily made of Satin Foulard of excellent quality—thin and cool, in black, or blue, with white figures and dots, and various light colors in various patterns.

Dresses have plaited blouses, with matching ornamentation of broadcloth on shoulders and down front. Skirts are plaited from yoke, and hang stylishly.

Ideal summer dresses of distinctive style, at a moderate price—

Second floor, Broadway.

Vacation Shoes

For a day, a week, a month, or Saturday afternoons, you want proper shoes, to get the most comfort out of your vacation.

Here are the right sorts to pick from:

Men's White Duck Oxfords, $3

Rubber or leather soles; welted and stitched; cool and smart-looking for the real vacationer.

Men's Tan Calfskin Oxfords, $3.50

Red rubber soles of the best grade; welted and stitched; spring heels; for tennis, golf or any recreation.

Little to Pay for a New Summer Hat

We're doing radical clean-up work among the summer stocks these days—that is our only apology for making today's little price on about a hundred and fifty handsome hats for women. Shapes and colorings are most desirable, and there are no two alike.

Former prices were $10, $12 and $15; today all are marked at $5 each.

A fine opportunity, sure enough.

The Apron Legions

This is a mighty opportune time to have an Apron Sale that offers such unusual values—just when so many families are starting off for the Summer, and need to fit out their maids and nurses with a new supply of pretty, crisp Aprons.

All the following are brand new, perfect, and in attractive styles. We took ten thousand at a clip from a manufacturer. Hence these savings of one-third to one-half:

At 10c, worth 15c—Lawn Aprons with pockets; plaited or plain, 4-inch hems.

At 15c, worth 25c and 35c—Lawn Aprons, daintily embroidered or hemstitched; with or without bretelles and bib; over twenty patterns, 40 to 60 inches wide.

At 25c, worth 40c to 50c—Lawn Aprons, embroidered or with two or three rows of insertion, or four, five or six plaits and deep hem. With or without bibs and bretelles; wide strings.

At 35c, worth 50c to 75c—Fine Lawn Aprons, elaborately trimmed with embroideries, insertion, beading and hemstitching; 40 to 60 inches wide.

At 50c, worth 75c to $1—Fine Lawn Aprons, in beautiful designs of embroideries, two and three rows of insertions, and edgings.

At 75c, worth $1 and $1.25—Aprons of superior quality of lawn and embroidery; some extra large sizes.

At $1, worth $1.75 and $2—The finest Aprons this manufacturer made—best workmanship, best lawns and best-liked styles. Broadway.

Women's Lawn Ties

If women aren't wearing stocks they wear lawn ties in summer. And they can buy a supply to "change off" on, at half prices, from among this tempting collection—

25c and 50c

Formerly 50c to $1

Some are in white, with white or colored embroidery, with hemstitched and plaited ends; others have turnover top collars. Most are in straigth-around effects; including a number of neat designs in handkerchief prints.

All of them launder well. Broadway.

Take a Bathing Suit Along

Many of you had your first dips this season on the Fourth. Many more would have done so, if the bathing suit had been provided in time to be taken along.

If you didn't have your own bathing suit last Saturday, better have it ready for the next one—get it today.

It's very easy to pick out a becoming costume here. Our collection of is superbly adapted to meet every variation of taste and need.

They are all stylishly and well made, and represent the prettiest styles that Paris and New York have evolved. Prices are $2.25 to $34.

Mohair Suits are best for all-around use, because they shed water easily, and look as well out of the water as in. But we have all other kinds—flannel, silk, surf cloth—as well. Hints:

At $3—Suits of black or blue mohair; plaited in front, round sailor collar of white duck, short sleeves, plaited skirt.

At $4.50—Shirt-waist suits of black mohair; plaited waists with stock collar; gored skirt. Very stylish.

At $4.50—Suits of black mohair; round sailor collar, piped with white duck fastened with bow; gored skirt.

At $5—Suits of black or blue surf cloth; Russian blouse, choker collar, prettily trimmed with braid and plaits; box-plaited skirts.

At $7.50—Suits of black or blue mohair; Russian blouse, box-plaited waist, with black and white braid; gored skirt.

At $9—Suits of black mohair; round collar of striped silk; mohair shield, stock collar; suit finished with small plaits. Second floor, Broadway.

Parasols and Sun Umbrellas

The need is urgent now. The smile of the sun, which was so much desired in June, is rather unpleasantly sistent now, and a parasol or sun umbrella must be intervened for one's protection.

Here are right sorts at wrong prices:

Fancy Silk Parasols, with plain white silk tops with wide fancy borders, at $1.25 each, worth $2.50.

Fancy Silk Parasols, in plain colors, stripes and and checks; also white, silk-lined, with striped borders; at $1.50 and $1.90, worth $3 to $4.

24 and 26-inch all-silk Sun Umbrellas, in black and navy blue, at $1.50 each, worth $2.

Rugs to Enthuse Over

The point that we particularly wish to impress on the men and women with rug-buying tendencies, is that this Rug Sale is the occasion of the Summer.

At the new prices at which we have marked these Smyrnas, Wiltons, Axminsters and Brussels, they are veritable bargains. Patterns, colorings, qualities are the best imaginable; the reasons for these stirring price-reductions are purely technical.

They bear chiefly upon simplifying our stock-sheets, by removing rugs of which we have only a few of a kind, or in patterns to be replaced, on the part of the manufacturer, by new, but similar designs.

And bear in mind, if a bare floor in your house is yearning to be covered with a handsome rug, that you will have to delve deeper into your pocket to get rugs of these qualities, if you go elsewhere now, or wait to buy them later.

Comfort Plus Economy in

Women's Summer Garments

Even fashion yields to common sense in Summer, when it's a case of being comfortable first, and everything else afterwards.

But coolness and easiness have been cleverly combined with charm in many of the typically summer garments. And now economy is added—truly enticing combination. These offerings, of Silk Waists, White Negligees and Colored Wrappers, at reductions that run up to half original prices, exemplify it:

Silk Waists Reduced

Silk Waists of pongee, peau de cygne, peau de soie, Louisine or taffeta, in solid colors or neat stripes; some trimmed with plaits, shirring, lace or medallions; others piped with contrasting colors.

At $3.50, formerly $5 to $6.75

Negligees Newly Priced

At $1.75, from $3.50—Of white lawn, Empire style; elbow sleeves, trimmed with plaits, ribbon and beading; or plaited front, with revere and sailor collar, trimmed with plaits, Valenciennes lace and insertion; fitted back, flounce on skirt.

At $2.75, from $5.50—Of white lawn, kimono style; low neck and flaring sleeves, trimmed with point de Paris lace and insertion; or lace-striped lawn, with full front and fitted back; collar and sleeves trimmed with embroidery.

At $3.50, from $6.75—Of white lawn; full front, fitted back; low neck and elbow sleeves, trimmed with cluster plaits, insertion and lace; flounce on skirt.

Negligees Newly Priced

At $4, from $8—Of white lawn; Kimono style; collar, sleeves and front trimmed with handsome embroidery.

At $6.50, from $8.50—Of dotted Swiss muslin; Empire style, large sailor collar, angel sleeves and flounce on skirt trimmed with point de Paris lace and insertion; ribbon-trimmed.

Not all sizes in each style, but all sizes in the lot.

Colored Lawn Wrappers

At $1.50—In stripes or figures; some full front, yoke effect, front and back of cluster plaits and revers, trimmed with Valenciennes lace or embroidery; fitted back, flounce on skirt. Not all sizes in each style, but all sizes in the lot.

At $1.50, formerly $2.25 and $2.75

And then a timely hint of

At 85c—Umbrella ruffle, trimmed with stitched bands.

At $1—Umbrella ruffle, trimmed with stitched bands.

At $1.25—Deep flounce, trimmed with two small ruffles. Second floor, Tenth street.

Dream Cream vs. Sunburn

With "Dream Cream" to fall back on, the effects of sun and wind, produced by a day spent on the water or in motoring, may be safely disregarded.

For this soothing, healing preparation is remarkably efficient in its work upon the sunburned and roughened skin. It allays the smarting and takes out the burn. Besides, it cures freckles, moth patches and eczema; for "Dream Cream" is distinctly a cure, not a cosmetic, and attains its results by legitimate ends.

The original prescription was prepared by a skin specialist for a New York society woman; and after having it refilled time and again for the benefit of her friends, she was finally prevailed upon to allow it to be prepared for public sale.

The ingredients are absolutely pure and healthful; and the cream is prepared under the direction of an expert chemist.

Price, $1 a jar, sufficient for three months' treatment.

Dream Eyebrow and Eyelash Cream beautifies the brows and lashes, making them dark and lustrous, and keeping them in perfect condition. Price 50c a jar.

Tenth street.

Albums for Your Photos

The best part of the fun of photography is looking over the pictures afterward; hence the need of neat albums like these to mount them in.

Today there is price news, too.

TWO MORE WOUNDED DIE AT EVANSVILLE

Committee of Public Safety Appointed by Mayor Covert.

Negroes Leaving Scene of Race War—Capt. Blum's Account of the Battle at the Jail.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., July 7.—The City of Evansville is now under the control of Brig. Gen. W. J. McKee and Mayor Charles C. Covert, assisted by a Committee of Public Safety, chosen by the Mayor at a conference held this evening. The conference was called by Gen. McKee, who inquired of the Mayor what precautions had been taken to prevent a recurrence of last night's lawlessness.

Gen. McKee informed the Mayor that the State would not assume control of the city until the municipality had exhausted its resources. The Committee of Public Safety discussed the situation with the Mayor and Gen. McKee and decided to place the guarding of the city in the hands of Chief of Police Fred Heuke, and to increase the regular police force by thirty-two men, making it 100.

The military forces will assist the police to-night and patrol the city. All persons found on the streets who cannot furnish a satisfactory explanation of their business will be sent to their homes under guard. The plans of the Committee of Public Safety also provide for the relief of all the Deputy Sheriffs appointed by Sheriff Kratz. The policemen are armed with shotguns and revolvers, and their instructions are to force the people to respect their authority.

Mayor Covert to-night made the following statement:

"I anticipate no further acts of violence, but to be fair I will say that I did not expect the possibility of such an occurrence as that of last night. I believe that the presence of the troops in the city and the strict measures adopted are having the effect of quieting the people."

Fred Kappler, aged fifteen years, who was shot by militiamen last night, died this afternoon. Frank Lamble, the eighth victim of the battle in front of the county jail last night, died this evening. He was twenty-three years old and a stove molder by occupation.

Little business was transacted here during the day. After conference with responsible citizens, Mayor Covert has ordered all saloons closed.

The fight last night began through the proceedings of a hundred armed rioters with several thousand people behind them. This crowd was pressing back the Evansville Company of the Indianapolis National Guard, which, assisted by 200 special Deputy Sheriffs, sworn in during the day, was guarding the County Jail, in which sixteen negro prisoners were confined.

The soldiers were slowly forced back despite their protests, and the mob jeered and threatened them and then began to throw missiles. Then the soldiers fired, and when the smoke cleared away there were thirty-one bodies lying on the pavements—six killed instantly and twenty-five wounded, four fatally.

There is a contention as to who fired first—the soldiers or the rioters. That the troops were fired on is proved by the fact that of the fallen, four were members of the company. Their wounds were slight.

After the shooting the mob scattered and disappeared. The dead and wounded were taken to homes and hospitals and the line of soldiery was reformed. At 2 o'clock this morning, under orders from Gov. Durbin, the Vincennes company of militia arrived and relieved the Evansville troops, who lay down in the court house yard and slept on their arms. There were no demonstration when the relief troops arrived. There were still several hundred persons on the streets, but no attack was made, and the incoming troops were not disturbed.

Capt. Blum of Company E made the following statement of the shooting:

"The mob crowding up at the corner of Fourth and Division Streets forced the guards back inch by inch, clear to the jail gate, and we would not be beaten back. A man in the crowd fired a shot which struck a soldier. Then the firing became general from the mob, and the soldiers fired in return. Orders to cease firing were given the soldiers almost at once and the crowd turned in flight.

"No order to fire was given by myself or an officer. It was done spontaneously and in self-defense. The mob had been repeatedly begged to go back. Bolders and bricks were thrown long before the firing commenced, and one soldier was knocked unconscious. The men were given orders to fire only in self-defense. Officers and soldiers greatly deplore the shooting, but they feel they acted only in the line of their duty."

The police arrested fifteen negroes during the night. All were armed. Among the majority of the negroes great fear was felt throughout the night. Fully 2,000 men, women and children left their homes yesterday evening and tramped to the Fair grounds, where they went into camp. For hours the men kept up a fusillade of shots to intimidate the whites.

A freight train that left here last night was stormed by twenty-five colored men, who rode to Vincennes. "Baptist Town" was practically deserted during the night. Hundreds of fear-stricken refugees appealed to the police for protection and were guarded in the station house and at nearby boarding houses.

Negroes are leaving the city in large numbers and dozens of families are camped in the country. Officials believe there will be no further outbreak, although the utmost vigilance will be maintained.

The New Albany and Terre Haute companies of militia have been ordered under arms by the Governor, and are ready to start for this city at once.

Gov. Durbin is considering the advisability of declaring martial law.

Dayton Leland May Survive Wound.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA, N. Y., July 7.—Dayton Leland, the young New Yorker who shot himself yesterday at Dresden, will probably recover. He was brought to the Saratoga Hospital for treatment. It is believed that Leland attempted suicide, but no reason for such an act is divulged.

MURPHY ASKED TO INTERFERE.

Tammany Leader Advises Nagle, Haveron, and Kennedy to Settle Their Own Fight.

The various factions of the Democracy in the Thirty-fourth Assembly District, south side, are still apart on the question of the Tammany leadership to succeed John Haveron, although all sides have been in conference with Charles F. Murphy, the leader of the Wigwam, during the last twenty-four hours. Last evening Mr. Haveron and Thomas J. Kennedy, who has been fighting Percival E. Nagle, and who last Fall made possible the election of Mr. Haveron, went over the situation again with Mr. Murphy, who earlier in the day had been called upon by Mr. Nagle, but no compromise was suggested, and none of the men in question consented to withdraw in favor of any one else.

Mr. Murphy so far has declined to interfere in the district fight, although the matter in its entirety has been put up to him for a settlement. At any rate, it is understood that conferences in regard to the fight are at an end, and Mr. Murphy has advised all sides to get together and effect a settlement between them. With Nagle and Kennedy still apart, and both opposing Haveron, there seems to be no immediate chance of this being effected.

MOTHER JONES MARCHING HERE

Coming with a Caravan of 400 Workers to Collect Strike Funds.

The local Executive Committee of the Social Democratic Party was notified yesterday that "Mother" Jones, the woman labor agitator, who was heard of frequently during the coal strikes, has started on her proposed march on New York. "Mother" Jones is a Social Democrat, and will be received by a committee of the party here. She comes accompanied by 400 juvenile textile workers who are on strike, and a commissary department including eight wagons containing bread and canned goods, the gift of the grocers in Kensington.

The party, flanked by outsiders on bicycles, made the first stop yesterday at a point ten miles above Easton, where it encamped. To-day it will start again and make its next stop at Brewsters. It will reach this city by degrees, the time being dependent on weather conditions.

"Mother Jones's" descent on New York is to collect funds for the 75,000 or more striking textile workers at the mills of Philadelphia and vicinity, who want a 55-hour working week. She brings an assortment of glass jewelry, fancy dresses, masks, megaphones, and other articles for use in getting up tableaus. "Mr. Capital" and "Mrs. Millionner" will be shown gorgeously attired. When the party reaches here it will be taken in hand by the committee of Social Democrats, and arrangements will be made at once for a mass meeting and tableaus in Madison Square Garden.

DEATH OF "POOL ROOM QUEEN."

Gussie McKee Was a Total Abstainer, a Church Member, and Part Proprietor of a Betting Resort.

Gussie McKee, known in this city as "The Poolroom Queen," died last evening in her home, at 118 West Forty-seventh Street, from cancer of the stomach. She recently obtained a divorce, her husband having been an officer in the United States Army.

William Webb, a relative of Mrs. McKee, and a friend, Mr. Mack, who formerly acted as her theatrical manager, said that it had been a cause of great sorrow and annoyance to her that so many stories had been printed about her. She had been particularly annoyed, it was said, by pictures of herself, surrounded by champagne bottles. It was declared that she never drank, and that she greatly disliked any one who did. Her friends declared that throughout her residence in New York she had been persistently misrepresented, and that she was a Christian woman, who gave much of her means to charity, and had been an active worker in the Methodist Church ever since her childhood.

Mrs. McKeew as born in Livonia, Ind., twenty-five years ago. She was graduated from the Southern Indiana Normal College at the age of sixteen years, and obtained a license to teach. She taught school in Livonia for three years, and then went to Mitchell, Ind., where it is said that she was an active worker in the Methodist Church and sang in the choir. From Mitchell she removed to Chicago, where she obtained a position as a telegraph operator. Five years ago she came to New York, and soon after that gained notoriety with the raiding of a poolroom in which, her relatives declare, she had only a slight interest.

During the last few years she was leading woman in several theatrical companies, one of the best known being "Lost, Strayed, or Stolen." She came back here a few months ago in poor health, and failed steadily until her death.

The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon, with burial in Woodlawn cemetery. The Rev. Dr. Bell of the Union Methodist Church, Broadway and Forty-eighth Street, of which the dead woman was a member, will conduct the services.

RUSSIA TO ENTER THE SALMON MARKET.

Plans to Develop the Fisheries of the Siberian Coast and Sell Product in Europe.

Special to The New York Times.

TACOMA, July 7.—Russia will soon become a formidable competitor of Washington and Alaska in the salmon markets of the world according to Edward A. Chase, who has made a study of the fish industry of Alaska and the Pacific Coast for thirty-two years.

Mr. Chase says Russia is quietly preparing to develop the fisheries resources of the Siberian Coast on a scale comparable to the growth of the salmon business on Puget Sound and the Alaskan Coast. Work has been started as a Government enterprise by the employment of Robert Forbes, a cannery expert, to examine the Siberian Coast and locate a cannery site. He is now engaged in this work.

One object of the Russian Government is to furnish tonnage for the trans-Siberian Railroad. Mr. Chase says it is intended to supply with canned fish the markets of Europe that heretofore have been supplied exclusively by American canneries. Chinook salmon grow on the Siberian Coast to the size of 20 to 150 pounds. The canned product is of a reddish color, and brings the highest market price. Japanese will operate the fish traps and canneries.

MOTHER DIES TO SAVE HER THREE CHILDREN.

Crushed by a Train After Putting Little Ones Out of Danger.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 7.—After rescuing her three children from impending death, Mrs. Giuseppe Canovino, a young Italian woman, was crushed beneath the wheels of a New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad train on a trestle to-day.

Mrs. Canovino and her children, together with several other women, were crossing the trestle when a train came upon them. The other women sought safety by lying down on a plank on the side of the trestle.

Mrs. Canovino sought to save her children. She lay down upon the track and pushed the little ones to one side. She succeeded in saving them all just as the train came upon her, and she was crushed beneath the wheels.

CONDEMNS FUSION RULE.

Manhattan Municipal League to Invite A. H. Green, Grout, Purdy, Feitner, and Wells to Speak.

At an adjourned meeting of the Manhattan Municipal League, held last night at the Savoy Hotel, an amended constitution was adopted stating its object to be to obtain equal and just taxation, to investigate taxation and public improvements, and to promote efficient municipal government.

Resolutions were adopted condemning the present administration as having increased the city's expenses, procured legislation enabling it to spend the surplus of the Sinking Fund for current expenses, increased the debt limit by raising valuations of real property, and proposed to issue bonds and increase the debt.

The league voted to invite Andrew H. Green, Edward M. Grout, Lawson N. Purdy, Thomas L. Feitner, and James N. Wells at speak at future meetings on finance and taxation as affecting this city. An Executive Committee was appointed, and standing committees on the various municipal questions will be appointed by the Chairman. James W. Gerard presided.

PENNSYLVANIA LINE OPPOSED.

Mayor of Jersey City Vetoes Resolution Permitting Widening of Street Bridges.

Mayor Fagan of Jersey City yesterday sent to the Street and Water Board a veto of its resolution allowing the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to increase the width of its bridges over Avenues C and D from 55 to 110 feet. These bridges are part of the company's new freight line from Greenville to Waverly. Mayor Fagan says that to widen these bridges to 110 feet would practically make tunnels of the streets under them. Another objection he makes is that the company is not required to place pans beneath the bridges to protect pedestrians from the drippings from the tracks. He adds that this condition has converted the company's trestle at Newark and Railroad Avenues into a nuisance, against which he has frequently but vainly protested.

STREET CAR WRECKS A TRUCK.

Two Men Slightly Injured in Third Avenue Accident.

North-bound car No. 7 of the Mount Vernon surface line collided with a double truck on Third Avenue, near One Hundred and Sixty-fifth Street, last evening. The car was derailed and the truck wrecked. No one was seriously injured, although a panic among the passengers in the car followed the collision.

The truck had been backed up to the curb on the west side of Third Avenue, where a load of paper had been left, and the driver of the wagon, Walter Corestin, with his helper, Alexander Reich, was about to drive across the car tracks when the car came bowling along.

Corestin and Reich were tossed into a six-foot ditch by the trackside, and were cut about the face and hands.

BABY FARMER ARRESTED.

So-Called Day Nursery in Philadelphia Broken Up by Police, Who Tell Shocking Story.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—A story of the revolting conditions under which a number of infants have been compelled to exist in a so-called nursery at 714 Wood Street was told in the Central Police Court to-day by Acting Lieut. Buchanan, when Herbert J. Stahl, the alleged proprietor of the place, was arraigned before Magistrate Kochersperger.

The house was in a filthy condition, testified Buchanan. In the dining room were boards nailed together for tables. Bones, grease, and moldy bread were scattered about the floor. The children were in a filthy condition. Mary Coleman said she paid Stahl $15 in advance to keep her two-weeks'-old baby. The child was taken from the place July 1 to St. Christopher's Hospital, where it died to-day. Stahl was held under $1,200 bail.

Englishman a Suicide in Atlantic City.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 7.—An English visitor who registered at a beach front hotel as C. D. Turner of New York, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head to-day. No reason except despondency can be given for the act. He destroyed everything that would give any clue as to his home address or relatives.

Driven to Suicide by Heat.

Special to The New York Times.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., July 7.—Made temporarily insane by the heat, Gustav Warta, a well-known resident of Scotch Plains, committed suicide early this morning by taking paris green. Warta was sixty years old, and leaves a widow and one son, the latter a resident of Carlisle, Penn.

Harburger Heads Primary Committee.

At a meeting of the Tammany Club and General Committee of the Tenth Assembly District, held at 42 Second Avenue last night, the following committee was appointed to select the primary ticket to be voted for on Sept. 15: Julius Harburger, ex-County Clerk William Sohmer, Judge George V. Roesch, William P. Mitchell, Assemblyman John McCullough, Alderman Leopold W. Harburger, and John Ruff.

ART NOTES.

The tragic end of John Donoghue, the sculptor, recalls the gallant struggle he made in Rome to embody in a gigantic statue a cosmological idea—"The Spirit of the Abyss"—and the extraordinary adventures the colossal figure had while the sculptor was trying to get it to Chicago for the World's Fair. Donoghue conceived the design on so tremendous a scale that nothing would do for a studio but one of the old Roman baths. He was from Chicago himself, and knew the love of his fellow-townsmen for everything that is big. To those who deprecate the size of the winged brooding figure he replied with invincible optimism that Chicago would find a place for it, even if it had to stand without the grounds of the exposition. Perhaps he was right in his belief; he claimed that a site had been granted. But when the transport from the United States reached Italy to take away the work of American artists Donoghue was not ready, and the ship had to sail. Then he determined to get it over as freight by an ordinary steamer. It was too large for the railway, and had to be sawed into sections. At last he got it to Genoa and aboard of a steamer, but there was no one to guarantee payment for the freight. Even then Donoghue's pluck did not fail him. With the lightheartedness which in the course of his career gained him so many friends, he paid that freight with promises, and returned to New York to await the coming of his statue. But here his luck turned. "The Spirit of the Abyss" was, indeed, unloaded on a dock in Brooklyn, but no one could be induced to take it out of pawn, and so it perished. One must not suppose, however, that this blow saddened or scared the buoyant spirit of the sculptor of "The Dancing Sophokles." Only during recent years, when he found that his designs were not successful, did he lose heart and give up the struggle. His early sketch, "Hannibal Swearing at the Altar Vengeance on Rome"; his "Sophokles Dancing Nude at the Triumph for the Battle of Salamis," and his "Athlete," modeled from the pugilist, John L. Sullivan, were sculptures that gave warrant of greatness. All that Donoghue seemed to lack to attain substantial success was steadiness in labor. A vein of self-indulgence was perhaps the only serious flaw which caused so much promise to fail of attainment.

A fine portrait of the sculptor Rodin, by John W. Alexander, which was shown last Winter at the National Arts Club, has been bought by the Museum of Fine Arts in Cincinnati. It took a gold medal at the Paris Exposition of 1900.

Pigeon Roost is the notable name of a town in Indiana which cannot exist longer without a monument. A commission named by the State Legislature has accepted the design of B. F. Allen of Indianapolis, who is willing to guarantee a simple obelisk with a monolith shaft thirty-two feet high, standing on a plinth and base about ten feet high, all for the $2,000 appropriated by the State. On the plinth will be an appropriate bronze relief. The question of site, however, is agitating the gentle breasts of all the Pigeon Roosters. The site most liked by the commission costs $100 per acre, and not one Rooster has come forward with the price.

Additions to the Layton Art Gallery, Milwaukee, presented by Mr. Frederick Layton, are "In Britanny," a shore and surf view by Henry Davis of the Royal Academy, containing white and brown cattle, sea gulls, &c., and "Seeing Them Off," by the late Thomas Faed, R. A., whose genre pictures of Scottish peasant life and ideal figures of sentiment have been favorites for reproduction during the past fifty years. "Seeing Them Off" is a young Scotch lassie in red underskirt and dress of different dark colors, who leans against an oak with a black kittee in her arms. A collie and a terrier add liveliness to the group by their attitudes of expectancy.

An Italian model eighty years old who came to Philadelphia forty years ago and is said to be in comfortable circumstances was arrested the other day as a confirmed beggar. Although it was suggested that from his advanced age he had become slightly irresponsible, the Judge committed him to the almshouse for sixty days. Now, if he had only bribed legislators and stolen city franchises—

Some one has purloined from the exhibition of the French Artists (the old Salon) a frame containing works by Achille Jacopin. There are two bronze and two silver medals with family portraits, and a gold watchcase decorated with the likenesses of a lady and her children. The three pieces are valued at $1,000.

Ghent is having an exhibition of the paintings of Gustave Vanaise, who was born in Ghent and died in 1902, after painting large historical pictures like "Louis XI. and Olivier le Dain," "The Duke of Alva Sitting to His Portrait by Guillaume de Kay," "Jacques van Arteveldé," (now in the Museum at Ghent,) and "Saint Lieven—Dieu le Veut!" Vanaise had great facility with the brush, and studied Rembrandt, Frans Hals, Jordaens, and Velasquez. His nudes, "Eve" and "Après le Bain," are much admired. Toward the close of his life his portraits made him even more famous in Belgium than his historical pictures.

A very remarkable loan collection of paintings by old Dutch and Flemish artists is open this month at The Hague. It will close August 31. The 150 canvases and panels belong to private owners in Holland, England, and other countries.

WOMEN TO FIGHT REED SMOOT.

President Stevens of W. C. T. U. Tells of Campaign Against Utah Senator.

Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, President of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, arrived on the Minnehaha yesterday morning in company with Miss Anna A. Gordon of Portland, Me. They were delegates to the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union Convention held in Geneva in June.

"I expect to be very busy from now on," said Mrs. Stevens, "for we women are about to engage in warfare against polygamy. We shall wage war against Senator Reed Smoot. We hope to prevent him from sitting in the Fifty-eighth Congress. A committee of three, of which Mrs. John G. Martin is a member, has been appointed to conduct the campaign against polygamy.

"The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union is leading in this movement, and it hopes to bring about the passage of a Constitutional amendment expressly prohibiting polygamy. The plans for the anti-polygamy campaign have been formulated by the Interdenominational Council of Women."

PRISON FOR WOMAN THIEF.

Mary Wright, Colored Servant, Robbed Many Mistresses.

In a courtroom whose audience numbered many women in whose households her alleged propensities to steal had caused losses varying from a few dollars to $1,500, Mary Wright, a colored servant girl, was sentenced by Judge McMahon in General Sessions yesterday. On one indictment to which she pleaded guilty she was given a year in the penitentiary. On another indictment on which she was convicted she was sentenced to four years and five months in the prison for women at Auburn, N. Y., the sentence to follow the penitentiary term.

The woman was brought back from Freehold, N. J., where she was arrested, under extradition. Her method was to obtain employment, work only long enough to gather up her employer's valuables, and then make off with the loot. Not a thing she ever stole has been recovered.

KLEPTOMANIAC IS SENTENCED.

Youth Who Robbed Charles Scribner's Sons Is Sent to Reformatory.

Albert S. Brown, twenty years old, of 210 West Twenty-first Street, whose home is in Danbury, Conn., and who was found guilty of grand larceny in the second degree for stealing a set of books valued at $300 from Charles Scribner's Sons, by whom he was employed as clerk, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Newburger to an indeterminate term in the Elmira Reformatory.

Brown was shown by the evidence to be a "book fiend" and to have suffered from kleptomania since his childhood. He took the books from his employers, and after reading them had sold them to a second-hand dealer.

Judge Newburger said he believed it might help in curing the young man's habit if he were confined in the reformatory for a year or so.

Dr. Smith is professor of pathology in the Medical Department of the Texas University and is also Dean of the Medical Department.

Brokaw Will Fight Poillon Case.

Carl Fischer-Hansen, brother-in-law to William Gould Brokaw, and personal counsel for him, obtained from Justice Truax, in the Supreme Court, yesterday afternoon, an order extending his time to answer the complaint in the action for breach of promise of marriage brought against him by Mrs. Katharine Poillon, in which she seeks to recover $250,000 damages, for twenty days from to-day. The reason given for asking for the extension of time to answer was that Mr. Brokaw has decided to fight Mrs. Poillon's suit to the end.

CHICAGO ELEVATED REORGANIZATION PLAN.

Lake Street Securities Committee Receives Sufficient Deposits of Stock to Carry Scheme Out.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 7.—It was officially announced to-day that the Lake Street Elevated Securities Committee had received sufficient deposits of stock to warrant it in proceeding with its reorganization plan. It is known that in the main this plan provides for an assessment on the stock, the retirement of the present 5 per cent. bond issue with a 4 per cent. issue, and the giving of stock in a new company in return for whatever assessment is made on the present stock issue of $1,000,000. The plan, whenever presented, will be backed adequately by interests represented by Blair & Co. of New York. In fact, it substantially will be underwritten before it is presented.

J. B. Dennis of Blair & Co. was in conference to-day with Lake Street and Northwestern Elevated officials. The decision to go ahead with the consideration of the reorganization plan resulted immediately from Mr. Dennis's presence here. The protective committee appointed by the stockholders is busy securing stock, and thinks it will be able to get a majority. This may or may not complicate matters from the Reorganization Committee's standpoint.

Mr. Dennis was quoted to-day as saying the Ravenswood extension of the Northwestern Elevated would be actively taken up as soon as the ordinance is passed by the City Council. It is not expected that building operations can begin before next Spring.

GEN. JIMENEZ HERE.

Ex-President of Dominican Republic Said to be on a Mission to Raise Money.

Gen. Juan Isidro Jimenes ex-President of the Dominican Republic, arrived yesterday in this city from Santo Domingo, by way of Havana. Gen. Jimenes, who returned to his country from the United States, on the termination of the recent rebellion, has been appointed by the new President, Gen. A. Wos y Gil, as fiscal agent of Santo Domingo, in the United States and Europe.

The Dominican Government, it is reported, is trying to negotiate a loan either here or abroad, and Gen. Jimenes will probably have charge of the negotiations at this end. At the Hotel Muro, where he is living, the ex-President would only say last night that Santo Domingo is getting along very well under the new government of Gen. Wos y Gil. He refused to talk about his mission.

While Gen. Jimenes was in Santo Domingo a story came from there saying that he was again seeking the Presidency, declaring that if he was elected certain New York bankers would immediately loan the country $30,000,000. President Wos y Gil put an end to his campaigning by sending word to Jimenes that unless he stopped he would be considered an enemy of the Government.

BOY KILLED BY TROLLEY CAR.

Victim, Playing a Game in Third Avenue, Fell in Front of Vehicle.

Bernard Tarr, the five-year-old son of Adolph Tarr, a cigarmaker of 2,009 Fulton Avenue, the Bronx, was run over and instantly killed by a south-bound Fordham car in Third Avenue last evening.

The boy in play had climbed an elevated railroad pillar verging on the track, and, losing his balance while descending, fell directly in front of the car, which crushed out his life.

The motorman of the car, Andrew Fisher, was arrested and taken to the Tremont Police Station. Coroner O'Gorman later ordered the release of the motorman.

The pillars where the accident occurred are set very close to the car tracks and the police have been trying to stop the dangerous sport of pillar climbing among the boys, as similar accidents have resulted from this sport.

MARRIED HALF A CENTURY

Mr. and Mrs. Berg Celebrate Anniversary in St. Paul's Chapel.

Composer and His Wife Were Married There—Sole Survivor Among Attendants Again Officiates.

Religious exercises were held yesterday in St. Paul's Chapel in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the wedding of Albert W. Berg and Helen McGregor Morse. The Rev. Robert Kemp officiated as the representative of St. Paul's, where Mr. and Mrs. Berg were married a half century ago. He was assisted by the Rev. Olin Scott Roche, rector of St. Peter's, in West Twentieth Street, where Mr. and Mrs. Berg now worship.

The clergymen had been a little perplexed as to the proper exercises, as such an occasion is not provided for in the ritual of the Episcopal Church. They had decided on changing of the text so that the present tense should be made the past in a part of the regular marriage ceremony, and in addition read selections from the Priest's Prayer Book, so far as they related to the sacred character of marriage. This idea was carried through, with the reading of the lesson from St. Matthew, xix., 3-10.

Edmund Jaques, the organist and choirmaster, rendered the music, most of it composed by Mr. Berg. With the first strains of the wedding march, the composition of the bridegroom of fifty years ago, the gray-haired couple started up the aisle. The congregation stood to see Mr. Berg and his wife approach the altar, where they were made one by the Rev. Dr. Haight so long ago. They were preceded by the officiating clergymen. Immediately behind them, as maid of honor was Miss Sophie Virginie Berg, sister of the bridegroom, the sole survivor of the attendants at the original wedding. Following were the children and grandchildren of the aged couple.

Mrs. Berg did not wear her wedding gown, but in its stead a part of her trousseau, a white taffeta gown, trimmed in lavender, with a bonnet to match. She wore a bracelet and carried a mantilla, which had been a part of her wedding gifts, and which were with her when she met her husband at the altar on the day of their marriage.

The church was filled, not only with old friends, but also the curious from busy Broadway, who had been attracted by the music. Out-of-town visitors, looking through the churchyard, quickly guessed that something unusual was in progress, and added to the congregation. No bride ever heard a more genuine "Isn't she beautiful" than was the murmur of appreciation that came up from the body of the church, almost in chorus, "Isn't this beautiful."

Mr. and Mrs. Berg, with their children, Elizabeth Payne, Albert Ellery, Louis de Coppet, and Walter Gilman, and their grandchildren, Louis Otto, Grace Lillian, and Lily D'Angelo, reaching the steps of the altar, were seated in the front pews.

After the exhortation, Dr. Kemp read the Lord's Prayer and Versicles. Psalm 148, read, with Gloria Patria sung, was followed by the reading of the following from St. Matthew:

The Pharisees also came unto Him, tempting Him, and saying unto Him, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife for every cause?

And He answered and said unto them, Have ye not read that He which made them at the beginning made them male and female,

And said, for this cause shall a man leave his father and mother and shall cleave to his wife: and they twain shall be one flesh?

Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What, therefore, God hath joined together, let no man put asunder.

The chair rendered Mr. Berg's "Benedic Anima Mea."

The Rev. Dr. Kemp read the following from the Priest's Prayer Book:

Almighty and everlasting God, who in the beginning of creation didst make man in Thine own image, didst frame woman also out of his side to be his inseparable helpmeet, thereby teaching us that, as they were one at first, so they should never be parted; and who by this wonderful mystery didst in the marriage foreshadow the union between Christ and the Church; Thou in whose hand alone is the heart, who so joineth that no man can put asunder and so blesseth that no man can curse; grant, we beseech Thee, that these who were united here in the sacrament of matrimony may be so truly joined together by Thy gracious heart and affection that, as Thou only art one and Almighty, so they may be one in Thee, loving, faithful, and chaste; see their children's children unto the third and fourth generation, and after a happy old age attend to the rest of the blessed and the Kingdom of Heaven.

Parts of the regular marriage ceremony were read with the tenses of the verbs changed. The Te Deum to the music of Mr. Berg was sung by the full congregation. After the service the golden wedding party marched to the rear of the church. Mr. and Mrs. Berg became separated by the many trying to shake hands with them. Persons they had never seen before joined their old friends in hearty well wishes and congratulations. Among the many who attended the service were:

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sage,	Dr. Elderkin,
Mrs. Morse,	Mrs. O. B. Bunce,
Mr. and Miss Bates,	Mrs. Claire Bunce,
J. Cleveland Cady,	A. Howden King,
A. C. Thomson,	Stewart Peck,
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gilmour,	Maurice O'Laughlin,
Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Schuyler,	Miss Laura Sedgwick Collins,
W. G. Rogers,	The Rev. Dr. Henry B. Chapin,
Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Jahn,	J. D. Little,

Mr. Berg for many years has been known as a musician and composer. The music, largely his own, used at yesterday's service was prepared by him for the quartet choir at Zion Church, then Thirty-eighth Street and Madison Avenue. It subsequently was used by his choir at the Church of the Transfiguration, where under the late Dr. Houghton, Mr. Berg for many years officiated as choirmaster and musical director.

Mr. Berg is seventy-eight years old and his wife five years younger. A golden wedding dinner was given last night at their home, 366 West Twentieth Street.

ORGANIZING HOTEL HELP.

Preparation for Mass Meeting of Chefs, Cooks, Bartenders, Waiters, and Miscellaneous Employes.

Fred Bauman, general organizer for the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance, who has been here for some weeks to organize the employes in the hotels and restaurants, from the chefs to the dishwashers, if possible, has made his headquarters at 147 East Fifty-third Street, and is arranging for a mass meeting this week to form a plan of action. In reference to his plans he said yesterday:

"We propose to thoroughly organize the waiters, cooks, bartenders, and all the miscellaneous help in all the hotels and eating houses. The miscellaneous help includes the dishwashers, pantry workers, vegetable men and women, chambermaids, bellboys, and baggage men; in fact, every one, including even the cashiers. Then we propose to improve the condition, not by striking, but by peaceful methods."

Organizer Bauman said also that one of his objects was to abolish the "vampire" system of hiring waiters in saloons. By this system the head waiter makes his headquarters in a saloon and has generally a fee from the saloon keeper. The waiters he employs are for transient jobs. They stand in a long line and are expected to buy drinks, the men who spend the most money at the bar having the best chance of being employed.

STRIKE OFF IN ONE MILL.

Textile Workers at Dobson's, Falls of Schuylkill, Give Up—The Rest Still Out.

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—Of the 1,550 hands employed in the John Dobson cloth and blanket mill, Falls of Schuylkill, 1,400 returned to work to-day, terminating a strike of five weeks' duration. The operatives went back on the old basis of sixty hours a week. Most of the employes were unorganized, especially the day workers. The cloth mill, however, employs 800 union weavers, and 225 of these were among the strikers who reported for work to-day.

All the streets leading to Dobson's mill were thronged with union strikers from other sections of the city, who endeavored to dissuade the employes from their intention of resuming work. The members of the Executive Committee of the Central Textile Workers' Union said that the action of the Dobson strikers will have no effect whatever on the 8,000 cloth weavers of the Kensington district, which is the textile centre of the United States. In that section not one of the weavers has returned where the fifty-five-hour week has not been conceded.

McLAUGHLIN AS AN ORACLE.

His Delphic Utterances as to What Sort of Man Democrats Should Name for Mayor.

Before leaving town yesterday afternoon to spend the Summer at Jamesport, L. I., Hugh McLaughlin, Democratic leader of Brooklyn, made a Delphic utterance anent the Democratic candidate for Mayor this Fall, declaring that he would have to be a man able to rob the people and at the same time have a reputation like that of Caesar's wife.

"If a man can be found," said the "Sage of Willoughby Street," "who believes in the principles of Democracy, whose ability to rob the people is unquestioned, and who is as much above suspicion as Caesar's wife, I am for him as the candidate for Mayor. Of course I would rather that he come from Brooklyn. There are such men, but not many of them, I guess.

"If you don't know what I mean, I'll tell you. You fellows don't know about big graft—only small graft. Why, when I was a young man there used to be a gang over in New York which was a great one. The fellow who could lift only a shirt stud was considered of little account. He would be scorned by his pals, who would show him pockets filled with gold watches and the like. No, I don't think you fellows know much about real graft. The woods are full of fakirs these days."

Mr. McLaughlin declined to throw any more light on these oracular utterances. It was understood, however, that he meant that he favored as a candidate a man who, while having ability to rob the people, would be above doing such a thing. It is understood in Willoughby Street that the veteran leader already has a candidate in mind and that he is a Brooklyn man.

Mr. McLaughlin was accompanied to Jamesport by his wife and two daughters. He will stop at the Great Peconic Bay House.

TO EXAMINE GEN. C. M. CLAY.

Physicians, Appointed by Court at Instance of Children, Will Investigate His Sanity.

LEXINGTON, KY., July 7.—Two physicians of this city and Louisville left here to-day for White Hall, the home of Gen. Cassius M. Clay. They go at the instance of the Madison County Court to examine into his mental condition and report to the court on a lunacy writ gotten out by his children.

Gen. Clay is under the hallucination that his children are trying to kill him and he refuses entrance to all. They took this method to reach him and care for him.

His home is barricaded and he guards his room with weapons. How the doctors will get in is a problem. He is 93 years old.

DO DOGS HAVE SMALLPOX?

One in Cleveland is Under Observation, and the Health Officer Will Make Experiments.

CLEVELAND, July 7.—A dog belonging to a family that has been ill with smallpox is under observation at the detention hospital. He has symptoms of smallpox, his hide being covered with postules.

To satisfy himself whether or not dogs are susceptible to the disease, the Health Officer will experiment with other dogs and try to give them the disease. The experiments will begin in a few days.

McKNIGHT GOES TO PRISON.

End of Fight Made by ex-President of Wrecked Louisville Bank.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 7.—The long fight made by J. M. McKnight, the ex-banker, to keep out of prison, ended in defeat this afternoon, when in the United States Court, Judge Evans ordered the prisoner to be taken to Atlanta to-day to serve his sentence of six years.

It has been about four years since McKnight began his fight to keep out of the penitentiary. He had five trials and four verdicts were against him. His trouble with the Government grew out of the wrecking of the German National Bank. He was convicted of the misuse of the bank's funds while President. His friends claim the bank was insolvent before he took charge.

Charges Against Mrs. Mooers Dismissed

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., July 7.—Mrs. Lena Hill's charges against Mrs. Dorothy Mooers, whose husband is in the Ludlow Street Jail because he cannot or will not give bail in his wife's suit for divorce, were to-day dismissed. Mrs. Mooers was charged with taking articles belonging to herself from Mrs. Hill's boarding house. Mrs. Hill claimed they had been left there as security for board under the former owner of the house. Mrs. Mooers denied this.

Condition of Franklin Fyles.

There was but little difference in the condition of Franklin Fyles last night. It was said at his house, 114 West Ninety-fourth Street, that, if anything, he was slightly worse, but the change was small.

Amsterdam Boy Killed.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., July 7.—William Mitchell, the sixteen-year-old son of John Mitchell, proprietor of the Brunswick Hotel, was run over by a freight train on the New York Central to-day and killed.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Generally fair weather has prevailed during the last twenty-four hours, except in the East Gulf States and the extreme Northwest, where there have been light showers.

The temperature is generally above the seasonal average, except in Montana and the plateau region. Fair weather is indicated for Wednesday and Thursday, except in the Gulf States, Florida, and locally in the Missouri Valley and upper Lake region, where local showers are probable.

It will be cooler in the Missouri and Upper Mississippi Valleys, and the temperature will rise slowly in the lake region and Northeast districts.

The winds along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts will be mostly fresh and variable; on the Great Lakes light to fresh westerly.

Steamships which depart Wednesday for European ports will have light southwest winds and fair weather to the Grand Banks.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY.

New England—Fair Wednesday and Thursday, warmer Wednesday in northwest portion; light southwest winds.

Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, Eastern New York, Eastern Pennsylvania, and New Jersey, fair Wednesday and Thursday; light, variable winds.

Western Pennsylvania and Western New York, fair Wednesday and probably Thursday; light west to southwest winds.

North Carolina and South Carolina, partly cloudy Wednesday and Thursday, with occasional showers; light, variable winds.

West Virginia—Fair Wednesday and Thursday.

North Dakota—Showers Wednesday, cooler in south portion Thursday; fair and warmer.

South Dakota—Showers and cooler Wednesday; Thursday fair, warmer.

LOCAL FORECAST—Fair, winds variable.

The record of temperature for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from THE NEW YORK TIMES's thermometer and from the thermometer of the Weather Bureau, is as follows:

ADAMS VERDICT UPHELD

Appellate Division Affirms Sentence of "Policy King."

Papers Seized in Adams's Office Under a Search Warrant Held to be Competent Evidence Because Offered by the Police.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court handed down a decision yesterday affirming the decision of the lower court convicting Albert J. Adams of a violation of Section 344 of the Penal Code, commonly known as the Anti-Policy act. Justice Ingraham writes the opinion of the Appellate Division. He says in the beginning that the constitutionality of the act has already been sustained by the court in the case of the People ex rel. Wilson against Flynn, so that question is not open to further debate. The next question was as to the sufficiency of the indictment.

The Justice says that the objection based on the fact that it was not alleged that the defendant had any knowledge of the character of the papers found in his possession was insufficient. The indictment was drawn in the words of the statute, and that was sufficient.

The Justice also says that it is quite clear that the evidence was sufficient to show that the manifold slips were found in the defendant's possession.

Justice Ingraham then reviews the evidence as to the finding of the papers in the desk, the three tin boxes, and the trunk in Adams's office. The officers who seized the papers acted under a search warrant. The Justice says these papers were competent evidence, and their introduction was proper. The defendant's counsel protested vehemently that this was compelling the defendant to be a witness against himself, and so violated the Constitution of the United States and of the State of New York. Justice Ingraham discussed a case cited as proving such action a violation of the Fifth Amendment of the Constitution of the United States. Justice Ingraham, however, says the question in that case was as to the right of the court to require a defendant to produce his private books and papers in court himself. In the present case a police officer testified as to the facts regarding the papers, making the case entirely different. It was the possession of the papers which was the crime. The law declares that having the paraphernalia of what is called "policy" makes the possessor a "common gambler," and may be punished by imprisonment.

Justice Ingraham says that no right of the defendant was infringed and concluded as follows:

"The defendant had a fair trial. He was defended by experienced and able counsel. The jury, upon competent and sufficient evidence, found him guilty, and there is nothing in the record that would justify the court in revising the sentence."

The judgment is therefore affirmed. All the Justices concur.

Francis V. S. Oliver, who is associated with his brother, James Oliver, as counsel for Adams, when seen at his office, said that he had heard of the judgment of the Appellate Division confirming the conviction of Adams, and that the case would go to the Court of Appeals, which will convene in October.

District Attorney Jerome had no comment to make on the case except to say:

"It has been a great day for us in the Appellate Division. We have had eight affirmations, including the Adams case."

TO EXHUME COL. BEST'S BODY.

California Authorities to Learn Cause of New Yorker's Death—Dr. Woods May Be Arrested.

SAN RAFAEL, Cal., July 7.—District Attorney Boyd is in receipt of a sworn affidavit of Charles Sumner Best of Grand-View-on-Hudson, N. Y., and the Secretary of the A. L. Best Company of New York City, asking that a warrant be issued for the arrest of Dr. John Donald Woods and his sister, Mrs. Alice Cloy Woods of Morristown, N. J., upon charges of robbery, forgery, and obtaining money under false pretenses.

He also wants the pair held pending an investigation into the cause of death of his father, Col. William J. Best, a millionaire Wall Street operator, who died suddenly in the house of Woods at San Rafael in April last. The body was buried without investigation at the time, after being embalmed.

Attorney Boyd will have the body exhumed and an autopsy performed to see if there was foul play. If poison is found he will bring Woods and his sister to this State to answer charges.

ASSAILS POSTAL INDICTMENT.

Upton, One of the Prisoners, Claims It is Defective.

BALTIMORE, July 7.—In the United States District Court here to-day a motion was made to quash the indictment against C. Ellsworth Upton, who, with Thomas W. McGregor, was recently indicted by the Federal Grand Jury charged with complicity in mail county frauds.

The point is made by Upton's attorney that the indictment is illegal, because it was founded on admissions made by Upton to the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, before whom he was taken and questioned by Post Office Inspectors without being told that criminal proceedings were to be instituted against him, or that he was at liberty to refuse to give any testimony against himself.

Judge Morris will hear arguments on the motion next Saturday.

Child Smothered in Feather Bed.

Frances T. Kerchner, eighteen months old, was smothered in bed at her home, at 237 Richmond Road, Concord, S. I., yesterday morning. Her mother had left the child asleep in a feather bed on which there was a feather pillow. The child in some way had pulled the pillow over her face and had smothered. She was dead when the mother returned.

FISHING SMACKS TIED UP

Fulton Market in Throes of Determined Strike.

Six Hundred Members of Boat Crews Determined to Get Bonus of 1 Cent Per Fish—Walking Delegates Blamed.

Hard on 600 fishermen are without boats and fifty fishing smacks unable to get crews are lying idle either off Fulton Market or at South Brooklyn.

The fishermen who are striking are mainly Swedes and Norwegians, according to a weather-beaten Captain who was sitting yesterday afternoon upon the after cabin of one of the fleet belonging to George Moon. His own crew, he said, were Portuguese, and all had refused to go out for fear of the Swedes and Norwegians who, in the fleet at large, outnumber them ten to one.

It is only recently that the fishermen on the smacks which supply the Fulton Street Market dealers have been unionized. The Swedes and Norwegians and a few Portugese are in the union. Most of the Portugese are not in the union. This union has an entrance fee of $5, a monthly assessment of 75 cents, and promises members out of work $8 a week from the treasury. Walking delegates receive $15 a week. Two of these were strolling yesterday afternoon on what these fishermen call "the beach"—that is saloon-lined South Street.

The strikers want besides their present wage of $35 a month, with "grub," a cent bonus for each fish caught.

The skipper of the Augusta told what the existing system is. "We carry seven boats," he said, "and each boat has two men. The boat that catches the greatest number of fish gets a $3 bonus, the next boat a $4 bonus, the next $3, and the fourth $2. The three 'low boats' get no bonus. What the strikers want is to even it up between the green hands and the experienced fishermen—but although we have had catches of 1,100 and 1,200 fish this season, a boat rarely got 1,000—which would be $3 a man. Years ago we used to get a bonus of a cent a fish on the catch, but then there was only one man in a boat."

George Moon, the owner of several smacks, blamed the walking delegates for the trouble. "They came down," he said, "from Gloucester and other such places and organized the men. Most of the men would be ready to ship now, but they are afraid, especially the Portuguese."

The few men hanging about the "beach" sitting on the decks of the idle boats seemed a listless lot. It was said that most of the strikers had gone home to South Brooklyn—many with a good cargo of rum aboard—and that the attempts to load the smacks with ice had led to blows in some cases.

One fishmonger said that the master fishermen were determined not to yield to the demands of the men; that the wages they got were good and the grub excellent. He said, too, that he had heard "down East fishermen" were coming to take the strikers' places. George Moon, already quoted, said he would tie up his boats till the men came to terms, and put them out of commission for the season, if necessary, but he did not think the trouble would last more than ten days. As to the price of fish, the fishmongers did not think the advance would be great. This for the consolation of intending buyers of fresh fish for Friday. Still no smacks are going out, and if the strike continues the question of fresh fish may become more or less serious.

Referee to Hear Bolte Charges.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court granted an order yesterday appointing William H. Willis of 115 Broadway as referee in the matter of the charges brought by William Travers Jerome as a citizen against Municipal Justice Hermann Bolte. Mr. Willis is to hear and take testimony and report the same and his opinion to the Appellate Court with all convenient speed.

AFRICANDER BROKE RECORD IN BIG RACE

Eastern Colt Won Rich Realization, with Savable Third.

Victor Lowered World's Best Time for Distance by Big Margin at Sheepshead Bay Track.

In the best and fastest race that has ever been run for the richest stake event for three-year-olds that the Eastern turf offers, the Lawrence Realization, at one mile and five furlongs, Africander yesterday at the Sheepshead Bay track broke a world's time record and by a narrow margin was first before the best select field that the great prize could attract to the post. Aside from the positive honor of winning the big event, Africander beat not only the best horses that the East could send to the post, but was well off in front of the best colt of the West, Savable, the victor in last year's Futurity, who finished third, nearly two lengths behind Africander.

To win, Africander had to run 2 2-5 seconds better than the world's record for the distance, made a year ago by the great black colt Major Daingerfield, the winner covering the distance in 2:45 1-5, after a race that was remarkable for the fast pace that was carried from beginning to end.

The race was as spectacular as it was meritorious, and still was decisive enough to satisfy even the most critical turfmen that the winner was unquestionably the best horse under the conditions. For all that, Africander had a fair share of luck in getting to the post first, for until almost on the winning line he was shut in behind two horses, and though able to come on as soon as there was an opening, it looked very much as if Golden Maxim would be the first horse for the fifteenth Realization Stakes until within a hundred yards of the post, when the Western colt, Savable, the contender with Golden Maxim into the last furlong, tired and swerved just enough to let Africander through.

GREAT CROWD SAW THE RACE.

The attendance was big enough to do justice to the occasion, for the crowd that gathered for the Realization was equal to the largest of the popular Sheepshead Bay meeting, the attendance being estimated at 30,000 by th track officials. The weather was perfect, and a dry and safe track helped out in making fast time possible. The Realization was the fourth race on the card, and proved to be the only event of the closing day at Sheepshead Bay, which brought out the full field named to run, every horse of the seven named on the programme answering the call to the post. When the horses were warming up for the race, and through the time that they were receiving the last preparations in the saddling paddock, each of the seven runners was the centre of a crowd of partisans, the larger crowds, however, gathering about Savable, who had been sent on from Chicago especially for this race, and about Shorthose, who through stable information was installed the favorite.

John A. Drake and a party of friends had come on from the West to see Savable win, and their confidence was demonstrated by their bets, though they did not make any plunge as the ring seemed to have anticipated. B. F. Clyde, owner of the Goughacres Stable, also was present, and was so sure of success for Shorthose that the clubhouse contingent by a considerable majority favored Shorthose, while Africander held the place of second choice. Golden Maxim was about equal third choice with Savable, while Whorler from the Westbury Stable of H. P. Whitney and H. B. Duryea was the next in favor, with Cardinal Wolsey from the Keene Stable and Black Hussar, the carrying colors of W. S. Fanshawe, the outsiders.

Cardinal Wolsey led away from the post, with Whorler second, but before half a furlong had been covered Cardinal Wolsey had dropped to the rear, Golden Maxim, fifth at the lifting of the barrier, taking the lead as the field came out of the chute and with Whorler hanging second, a length away, going on to make the pace, while Savable and Africander, two lengths back, rated on, lapped third and fourth, Shorthose holding fifth place in the first furlong, and never being able to improve on it. Past the stand the first time Golden Maxim led at a stiff pace, rating along well within his powers, though he carried a speed that in the first half mile had Odom hustling Whorler to keep in place, though both Savable and Africander waited patiently behind. Around the paddock turn, through the back stretch, and to the beginning of the far turn the order was the same, Golden Maxim still rating along in the lead in superb style. At that point Whorler was doing about the best he could to hold his place, while Africander still waited behind, Savable at this point beginning to move forward a bit, and taking third place by a pronounced margin.

To the middle of the big turn, and almost to the beginning of the last quarter of a mile, Whorler held on in second place, but there he weakened and dropped back, Savable promptly taking his place, and Africander moving up as Whorler fell to the rear. Into the stretch Golden Maxim led by a length, Savable at that point overhauling him stride after stride, and at the head of the stretch looking a winner all over, the Western colt then appearing to have so much the better of the leader that in anticipation of a victory, the backers of Savable began to shout exultantly. Africander moved forward at the moment the stretch turn was completed, but his effort at first seemed to be too late as he dropped in behind Golden Maxim and Savable, and until the last furlong had been reached was almost out of sight behind those two horses.

AFRICANDER WON BY A HEAD.

Golden Maxim held steadily to his work, with Cochran sitting still and permitting the colt to run on his own courage, and though Savable got up to him at the last furlong post, and there appeared to be winning, the effort was the last for the Western colt, as he shot his bolt in the move, for they were hardly in the final eighth of a mile when Savable began to tire and swerved slightly, his swerving letting Africander through on the rail. Africander at once went through and set out in pursuit of the pacemaker. From the last furlong pole to the finish Savable was stopping, and though Africander was closing steadily, Golden Maxim had so great an advantage in the lead that it looked impossible for Africander to catch him, and the crowd almost unanimously was shouting the name of the pacemaker, when Bullman made his last call on Africander.

There was no need for a whip, as Africander generously settled down to do the best that he was capable of, and closed with a whirlwind rush in the last strides, getting up in the very last jump and winning by the shortest of heads from Golden Maxim, who also was ridden out without a whip, Cochran sitting still to the end and permitting his mount, who was tiring fast, to finish on his courage. A length and a half away Savable was third, four lengths in front of Whorler, who beat Shorthose a length and a half, while Cardinal Wolsey was last, pulling up after he was hopelessly beaten.

Bullman, who rode the winner, was complimented on all sides after the race for the patience he showed in timing his run with Africander, but by the mischance of having been beaten, Cochran, who rode Golden Maxim, was severely criticised for not having ridden a more energetic finish on that colt. It looked very much, however, as if Cochran rode an exceedingly well-judged race and was the closer up at the end for sitting still, as Golden Maxim was tiring so fast at the finish that had the boy moved on him he might have stopped altogether.

The time of the race, 2:45 1-5, in addition to making a new world's record, was so fast throughout as to cause amazed comment among horsemen. The fractions were: First quarter, 0:24; half mile, 0:47 3-5; five furlongs, 1:00; three-quarters, 1:13; seven furlongs, 1:26 1-5; one mile, 1:39; one mile and a furlong, 1:51 2-5; mile and a quarter, 2:05; mile and three furlongs, 2:18 3-5, and mile and a half, 2:31 1-5. The value of the stakes was $20,545 to Africander, who thus leads the winners at the Sheepshead Bay meeting with a total of $44,500 earned in three races, while earlier victories he has brought the total of his earnings for the season up considerably above $50,000. The great colt, now owned by C. F. Dwyer and B. Deimel, was bought for $10,000 last season, but his owners seem to have been awake to his real value, as they refused $25,000 for his early last Spring.

Only five horses ran for the second part of the Double Event, with Conjurer, from S. S. Brown's stable, the post favorite, and Pulsus and Gallant equal second choices, the race being over the six furlongs down the Futurity course. Gallant was in front from the lifting of the barrier until within two jumps of the winning post, where Conjurer, hard ridden by Odom, got up and won by a head. Gallant second, beating Pulsus, third, by two lengths and a half. Conjurer proved to be the only successful favorite of the afternoon. Summaries:

BRIGHTON HANDICAP ENTRIES.

Fifteen Horses Named to Run for Sea Side Track's Big Race.

The Brighton Handicap, last of the great Spring handicaps of the metropolitan racing season, for three-year-olds and upward, over a mile and a quarter course, will be run to-day as the feature of the opening of the Brighton Beach Racing Association's Summer meeting on the famous and popular "track by the sea." Fifteen horses are named to start for the big events, which with that number of starters will have a gross value of $[illegible], with J. B. Haggin's fast four-year-old, Waterboy, winner of the Suburban Renewal Sweepstakes in record-breaking time, the top weight and favorite in the betting on the big event last night.

One other notable horse named to start in the announcement of the entries over night is the great three-year-old Africander, winner of the rich Realization Stakes yesterday in world's record-breaking time, and the hero of the Suburban Handicap, in which race he was first before a lot of good class old horses. In spite of his hard race yesterday Africander will command a lot of respect for to-day's big event, and in view of his remarkable performances earlier in the season horsemen generally would not be greatly surprised should he again finish first. All of the other horses in the race have been seen in public trials within the past few weeks, and should any of them show quality enough to beat Waterboy and Africander the result will be a distinct upturn of public form, though, as horsemen generally admit, the erratic Blues may be capable of anything. The entries for the race are as follows:

The Summer Man and His Clothes.

When the days turn hot and sultry a man's thoughts turn to clothes comfort—clothes that are light weight enough to coax the summer breezes. And most men are interested in the style of their summer clothes, too. If there ever was a day when baggy, ill-fitting clothes stood for comfort that day is past. Here are suits that are made with our "Concave" Shoulder, "Closefitting" Collar and all the little touches which distinguish our suits from the ordinary sort.

Our Suits at $15.

Makes a man feel cool to look at 'm—homespuns, light weight rough-faced cheviots from the plain black to the high-colored sort, undressed worsteds and thibets, cassimeres, blue and black serges, etc., etc.

Other light-weight suits $12.50 to $30.

TENNIS CHAMPIONS LOST

Ward and Ware Won in Westchester Invitation Tournament.

The Western Doubles Team, Collins and Waldner, Had Little Trouble Beating Millett and Forbes.

Two distinct styles of lawn tennis were played yesterday afternoon in the continuation of the invitation doubles tournament on the courts of the Country Club of Westchester. The animation of the Westerners, Kreigh Collins and Louis H. Waldner, was most enlivening, and it was doubles tennis of the highest order that won in the easiest sort of fashion from Stephen C. Millett and Joseph D. Forbes. The spirited dash of Collins and Waldner was in direct contrast to the work of the two teams engaged in the other match—Holcombe Ward and Leonard E. Ware and William A. Larned and Malcolm D. Whitman. These men played very slowly and most carefully in the first two sets of their contest. Then, as Ward and Ware found that they had it well in hand, they went to the net and became more aggressive in the last set, which they won by the easy score of 6—2.

From the manner that Ward and Ware played the first and second sets of their match it was evident that they did not intend to be defeated, for they did not take any risks whatever. Ware was the most aggressive of the t[illegible], but even he had few opportunities, [illegible] Whitman lobbed every ball that came [illegible] deep into the opposing court. This made it slow work, and as there was practically no volleying to speak of the teams scored the games rather evenly, and brought the first and second sets to deuce before Ward and Ware won them. The summary:

Men's Invitation Doubles—Second Round—Kreigh Collins and Louis H. Waldner, Kenwood Country Club, Chicago, defeated Stephen C. Millett and Joseph D. Forbes, Orange Tennis Club and Country Club of Westchester, 6—1, 6—3, 6—2. Umpire—Wylie C. Grant, New York Lawn Tennis Club.

Holcombe Ward and Leonard E. Ware, Harvard University, defeated William A. Larned and Malcolm Douglas Whitman, Orange Tennis Club and Crescent Athletic Club, 7—5, 8—6, 6—2. Umpire—George T. Adee, Country Club of Westchester.

The standing of the teams follows:

	W.	L.
Robert D. Wrenn and George L. Wrenn, Jr.	1	0
Holcombe Ward and Leonard E. Ware	1	0
Kreigh Collins and Louis H. Waldner	1	1
William A. Larned and Malcolm D. Whitman	1	1
Stephen C. Millett and Joseph D. Forbes	0	2

TENNIS AT NEWPORT.

Miss Busk and H. Sands Win the Mixed Doubles Amateur Event on the Casino Courts.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 7.—The amateur lawn tennis tournaments have begun at the Casino this season much earlier than before. The first event, which began Saturday and ended to-day, was a handicap contest in mixed doubles. Eight pairs were entered, one failing to put in an appearance. The final round was virtually a walkover for Miss Busk and H. Sands, who won by the default of Miss Potter and Mr. Sheffield. The prizes were silver cups.

The matches played to-day were close and interesting throughout, requiring an odd set to decide each match. The match between Miss Cynthia Roche and Mr. Smith and Miss Dorothy Potter and Mr. Sheffield was unusually close. The games were watched by a large number of spectators. The summary follows:

First Round—Miss Anita Sands and F. H. Potter beat Mrs. Barger Wallach and T. S. Tailer, 2—6, 6—3, 8—6; Miss Busk and H. Sands beat Miss M. Sands and H. Sedgwick, 6—4, 7—5; Miss Potter and J. E. Sheffield beat Miss Sands and partner, by default; Miss Cynthia Roche and Mr. Smith beat Mrs. J. E. Sheffield and Mr. Wright, 6—2, 9—7.

Semi-Final Round—Miss Busk and Mr. Sands beat Miss Sands and F. H. Potter, 6—2, 2—6, 6—2; Miss Potter and Mr. Sheffield beat Miss Roche and Mr. Smith, 9—7, 5—7, 6—3.

Final Round—Miss Busk and Mr. Sands beat Miss Potter and Mr. Sheffield, by default.

Monmouth Beach Tennis for Women.

Special to The New York Times.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., July 7.—Interest was centred in the women's tennis tournament at Monmouth Beach, and there were some closely contested matches in the first round. Only one match in the second round was finished. The summary:

First Round—Miss Neese beat Mrs. Symington, 6—2, 6—0; Mrs. H. N. Camp, Jr., beat Mrs. A. V. Stout, 6—3, 6—1; Mrs. Hamilton beat Mrs. Lane, 6—4, 6—1; Miss Herrick beat Miss Victor, 6—2, 6—4; Miss Knox beat Miss Prentice, 6—4, 8—4; Miss Street beat Mrs. Kellogg, 6—2, 6—1; Mrs. Boardman beat Mrs. McAnerney by default.

Second Round—Mrs. Camp beat Miss Neese, 4—6, 6—4, 6—1.

POLO AT ROCKAWAY.

Bryn Mawr Defaulted to Great Neck—Big Teams Meet To-day for Ladies' Challenge Cup.

Many expectant witnesses of polo yesterday at the Rockaway Hunting Club, Cedarhurst, L. I., were disappointed, as the Bryn Mawr second team of Philadelphia sent word to the club that it would be unable to come on, and therefore defaulted to the Great Neck team. The match was to have been the second for the Blizzard Cups. The Great Neck team consisted of J. P. Grace, Arthur Iselin, C. H. Robbins, and Morgan Grace. They will, therefore, meet the second Rockaway team in the third competition for the Blizzard Cups to-morrow.

The game to-day will be the first of two events for the Ladies' Challenge Cup. This contest is of peculiar interest, because the teams meet on a scratch basis, no handicaps being given. The opponents will be the Westchester Country Club first and the Rockaway first. The former is the present championship team, and were handicaps considered, it would have to allow Rockaway 17 goals, as the aggregate rating of the Rockaway four is 16 goals, while Westchester has 33. On the latter team will be J. E. Cowdin, J. M. Waterbury, Jr., Harry Payne Whitney, and Lawrence Waterbury. The home club team will be W. A. Hazard, Rene La Montagne, Jr., F. S. Conover, and P. F. Collier.

This is the fifth year that the Ladies' Challenge Cup has been in competition, and it is always productive of good polo. The trophy will become the property of the club winning it three times. Meadow Brook won it in 1899, the Country Club of Westchester in 1900, and Bryn Mawr for the last two years. The latter team will defend its title and will meet the winner of to-day's game on Friday.

POLO CHAIRMAN SAILS TO-DAY.

H. L. Herbert's Foreign Trip May Result in More International Games—Going to Dublin Horse Show.

H. L. Herbert, chairman of the American Polo Association, will sail to-day for Europe with his wife on the steamer New York. M. and Mrs. Herbert will be away about two months, traveling chiefly through the British Isles. Besides his devotion to polo, Mr. Herbert is a great fancier of horses, particularly of hunters and jumpers, and he said yesterday that, although he would doubtless visit many of to leading polo headquarters in England, what he looked forward with most interest to was the annual Dublin horse show, which will be held toward the end of August. This is probably the greatest horse show in the world. Judging is going on in half a dozen rings at the same time, and the show is famous for the large number of classes of hunters and the excellent breed of those horses.

Mr. Herbert said he would surely go to Hurlingham. He could say nothing regarding any further nekotiations with the English polo men concerning a possible visit of an English team next year. The statement has been made at some of the English polo contests that an American team would make another try for the international cup nxet year. Mr. Herbert said he knew nothing of it, and he would not admit that any negotiations looking toward that end were likely to ensue. He will be back in September, and if anything definite regarding international polo is done he will announce it then.

SHAMROCKS GIVE EXHIBITION.

Sir Thomas Lipton Sails His Boats in Light Wind to Gratify Distinguished Guests.

There was not wind enough yesterday for the Shamrocks to race. They were towed out to the Sandy Hook Lightship by the Cruiser and started about 2 o'clock, after having drifted about for more than two hours. They would probably not have been started except that Sir Thomas had some guests on board the Erin who were anxious to see the yachts sail. One of those was Commodore Robert E. Tod of the Atlantic Yacht Club, who went with Col. Neil on the old Shamrock. Sir Thomas and Designer Fife went aboard the new boat.

The most distinguished guest on the Erin was Gen. Joseph Wheeler. The others were members of Commodore Tod's party, which went down to the Horseshoe in the morning on the schooner yacht Thistle. They were Gen. B. F. Whitlock, Louis T. Jackson, William E. Peck, Fred Bilmer, Tremont Spicer, Lindsay Russell, Mrs. Claggett, Miss Claggett, and J. C. Wilson.

There was no breeze at all, but occasional catpaws from the south, and the yachts, after drifting for more than an hour in a show of beating to windward, abandoned the attempt and were towed back to the Horseshoe.

The steam yacht Narada, Vice Commodore Henry Walters of the New York Yacht Club, went down to see the race, but left when there was no longer any hope of a breeze. The United States gunboat Newport went to the lightship, and afterward steamed away to the east. In the afternoon August Belmont's Scout steamed into the Horseshoe.

Sir Thomas brought Commodore Tod and his party up to Sea Gate in the evening and subsequently dined with the Commodore.

The Shamrocks will race to-day if there be a breeze.

RELIANCE LEAVES BRISTOL.

Defender in Racing Trim Again and Starts, Under Sail, for New Rochelle.

BRISTOL, R. I., July 7.—The Reliance sailed at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon for New Rochelle after being four days in the hands of her builders, during which time she had a thorough overhauling, and her bow plates, which were dented during the race off Newport last Thursday, were brought back into shape.

During the greater portion of the morning the crew was actively at work hoisting some new sails which have just been completed for the yacht. At one time the Reliance had on a complete suit, including mainsail, clubtopsail, and three head sails. These were all taken down, and the mainsail unbent and taken back to the shop for recutting. Another one was brought out, and as soon as it was bent on the yacht the Reliance started down Narragansett Bay under sail, beating against a light southerly breeze. Her tender, the Sunbeam, followed, towing working boats and carrying extra gear. The yacht is not expected back here until after the New York Yacht Club cruise, which starts at Glen Cove on July 16.

Notes for Tennis Players.

News has been received by the committee in charge of the international matches that the English team composed of Reginald F. Doherty, H. L. Doherty, and Frank L. Riseley will sail for this country next Saturday aboard the Cunard liner Campania. They are expected to arrive in this city Friday, July 24. It is probable that they will be accompanied by Capt. W. H. Collins, who looked after the management of the challenging Britons last year.

The challenge match for the Middle States championship will probably be held some day next week, as both Holcombe Ward, the defender of the title, and the challenger, Stephen C. Millett, are playing in the Westchester tournament this week. Ward has declared that he will not defend his trophy, but the committee has prevailed upon him not to let it go by default, as it has been done for the past two years.

American Rifle Team at Bisley.

LONDON, July 7.—The rifle team which will represent the United States at Bisley on Saturday in the competition for the Palma Trophy has finally been selected. It consists of:

Lieut. A. E. Wells of the Seventy-first Regiment, N. G. N. Y.
Sergt. George Doyle of the Seventy-first Regiment, N. G. N. Y.
Corp. W. B. Short of the Seventh Regiment, N. G. N. Y.
Lieut. K. K. V. Casey of the Seventy-first Regiment, N. G. N. Y.
Sergt. J. H. Keough of the Sixth Regiment, N. G. Mass.
Corp. C. E. Winder of the Sixth Regiment, N. G. Ohio.
Private George Cook of the First Regiment, N. G. D. C.
Lieut. Thomas Holcomb, Jr., of the United States Marine Corps.

The Americans were disappointed to find on their arrival here that they will be unable to compete in other important competitions unless they use the English service rifles, which they decline to do.

Philadelphia Oarsman Easily Beaten.

HENLEY, England, July 7.—The attendance at the opening of the annual regatta here to-day was markedly smaller than usual, and there were fewer houseboats present. The weather was threatening and a strong wind was blowing. The only race of special interest to America was the heat for the Diamond Sculls between James B. Juvenal of the Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia, Penn., and J. Beresford of the Kensington Rowing Club. The Englishman won by a length and three-quarters. Time, 9 minutes 30 seconds. Juvenal was beaten from the start.

Champion Automobilist Challenged.

Another candidate for automobile racing honors has appeared in the person of F. A. La Roche of this city, who yesterday posted $500 with the Empire City Trotting Club as a forfeit for a match with Barney Oldfield, who covered a track mile last week in 56 2-5 seconds, and who is the acknowledged champion automobilist of America. Upon wiring Oldfield an answer was received that he would race La Roche at the Empire City track on July 25, in connection with the automobile meet that is scheduled for that day.

Two Trains Chicago to Colorado

Rocky Mountain Limited—leaving at 5:45 P. M., arriving at Colorado Springs and Denver next evening.

The equipment is brand new, and includes sleeping, dining, buffet-smoking-library and reclining chair cars. The entire train, with the exception of the chair cars, is lighted by electricity. Dining Car Service is the best in America.

Big Five—leaving at 10:00 P. M., arriving at Colorado second morning. Has sleeping, dining and reclining chair cars. West-bound travelers who take this train lose but one business day, Chicago to Colorado. Through tourist sleepers Tuesdays and Thursdays from Chicago.

Reduced rates to Colorado are now in effect—$30 for the round trip from Chicago. July 1 to 10 a special rate of $25 will be in effect.

West-bound travel is unusually heavy just now, and sleeping car berths should be reserved as far in advance as possible.

Leaflet giving full information about our service to the west will be mailed to any one who will ask for it.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE.

We alluded recently to the situation with which the Republican Party may be confronted at any time upon the currency issue. It is not what may be called an imminent situation, but it is one that reasonable men should study with care, for it is of immense importance that when it arises it may be met adequately.

There are two elements in the present condition of the currency system of the country which may be called elements of weakness and danger. One is the fact that the legal tender notes are still outstanding, and the other is that there is no absolute provision for the constant redemption, in gold, at the option of the holder, of the legal tender silver dollars. In other words, we have the gold standard unequivocally declared. We have the general obligation acknowledged of preserving the parity of all sorts of currency issued by the Government. But we have not in actual and continuous and secure operation the gold payments which alone can always and under all conditions maintain that standard. The Republican Party is pledged in the most solemn way to the minute and complete care of the National credit and the business interests of the country. It is essential to the safety of the party that this pledge shall be observed in a perfect and effective manner. It is not taking the steps necessary to that end.

The country is at the present time highly prosperous. There is no sign of any near approach of a check to that prosperity. But no sane observer doubts that the check will ultimately come and that there will be a period of reaction. When that period arrives it will have to be faced with a relatively rigid currency, which does not respond and cannot respond to the changes in the legitimate demand. Confusion will ensue. There will be the inevitable demand that the currency, issued or controlled by the Government, shall be manipulated to meet the occasion. The Government and the party in power in the Government will be pressed for impossible action and blamed whether the action is refused or whether it is taken and proves useless. The currency will become once more a political issue, and much of the weary and exhausting contest of 1892-1900 will have to be fought over again. The only effectual defense against this lamentable experience is to modify the bank currency so that it will adapt itself to changing conditions, and the Government will be measurably relieved from the responsibility for monetary conditions. That is the work now before the Republican Party, and the neglect of it will be very costly.

THE POWERS AND CHINA.

Have the words "national honor" any definite and enforceable international meaning? Do they mean any more than the old-fashioned conception of "personal honor" which once prevailed everywhere, but which appears now to prevail only in the more backward parts of this Union? According to this conception, "every man was the judge of his own honor," a proposition which is really undeniable in its proper meaning. But its meaning was improperly extended to mean that every man might do any dishonorable thing he liked, provided he stood always ready to fight to the death any other man who said it was dishonorable.

It seems, from the proceedings of the "Christian" Powers in China, that this conception of honor, obsolete in personal relations, is still valid in national relations. Certainly no circumstance of what in private life would be called dishonor has been omitted in the procedures of these Powers toward China. On account of the weakness, tainted with complicity, of the Chinese Imperial Government, a representative of one of the "Christian" Powers had been murdered, and missionaries representing the others, and representing "Christianity" in general, had been driven out, injured, and their property destroyed. Thereupon the Christian Powers rushed to the defense of their beleaguered and remaining representatives. That was a good work, a noble and indispensable work, and we of this country did our full share in it. But after that came the punitive raids which killed some hundred promiscuous and unoffending Chinamen in retaliation for every single European a hair of whose head or a thatch of whose bungalow had been injured. In this bloody business Germany, under the command of Field Marshal the Count of Waldersee, dishonorably distinguished itself by taking the lead. The United States, under the lead of the Secretary of State, honorably distinguished itself by taking no part at all. Then the European Powers further demanded an "indemnity" which was openly calculated to the very utmost of China's supposed ability to pay, although we alone expressed our willingness to waive any pecuniary indemnity in consideration of increased trading privileges. But the indemnity was nevertheless fixed at a certain and specified number of the "haikwan taels" which were the sole international currency of which the Chinese knew, and which were computed on a silver basis, silver being the only standard known to the Chinese, or to W. J. Bryan, Esq. Silver went down, down, down, and the obligations of China mounted up, up, up. Finally, after many proceedings on the part of the "Christian" Powers which denoted the intention not merely to exact the pound of flesh, as Shylock did, but to increase the tract to be surgically operated upon according to the emaciation of the patient, the "Bankers' Commission," quite naturally under the lead of Russia, has fixed the rate of exchange at a point which increases the obligations of China by $400,000 a year. We protest. Great Britain protests. These two Powers, it seems, still desire to be known as "Christian," still have some sense of national honor and of national shame. But none of the others has the least. These two are outvoted.

And now we hear that there is a recrudescence of the "anti-foreign feeling" in Peking. We should think so. To be treated as the Chinese have for these three years been treated by the "Christian" Powers "would make a cotton rabbit fight." In the point of pugnaciousness the Chinaman may not unfairly be described as a cotton rabbit. But these repeated outrages seem to have brought even him to a fighting mood. Who can blame him? Above all, who can blame the individual Chinaman for rejecting with disgust the Christianity the ethical standards of which he knows by the procedures of the "Christian" Powers in his country?

"EQUALITY BEFORE THE LAW."

The announcement that a mob of blacks was beleaguering a little village of whites in the "black belt" of South Carolina with the avowed intention of exterminating the white inhabitants was very shocking. But it ought not to have been unexpected. The unlettered negroes of South Carolina were and very likely still are ignorant of what has been going on in Delaware and elsewhere. But they cannot help knowing what is going on in their own respective neighborhoods. What happened in this South Carolinian village of Norway was this: A white boy had publicly beaten some negroes, and these negroes or others had made threats of revenge. Two nights afterward the father of the boy, while seated at table in his own house, was murdered by being shot through the window, the shot which killed him also wounding other members of his family. It is perfectly plain that this was a horrible murder. But it is equally plain, from the mere recital of the circumstances, that it was a case in which the identification of the murderer was difficult and doubtful, and that a careful legal trial was needed to do justice. A negro was arrested on suspicion, which must, in the nature of the case, have been mere suspicion, and held to await trial. A white mob took him from the jail and murdered him, it is a relief to find, by shooting and not by burning, which latter mode of death by torture seems to be reserved for "the usual crime." At the same time four other negroes were so savagely beaten by the mob that all were rendered insensible and one died from his injuries.

Now evidently this murder, committed by the whites of Norway acting in concert, was every whit as atrocious as the murder which may have been committed by a single negro assassin. There was not the slightest reason to doubt that the murderer of the white man would receive the full legal penalty of his crime, when he had been convicted of it according to law. In murdering negroes who were merely suspected of the crime the white mob set those "bloody instructions which return to plague the inventor." We may say that the crime of the lynchers was more atrocious than the crime of the assassin by how much the lynchers laid claim to a higher civilization. The higher the pretension to civilization the greater must be the self-control and the respect for law and order required to make the claim good, for these things are of the essence of civilization.

Happily the threat of the negroes of South Carolina has not been fulfilled. But for that the credit is not due to the white lynchers of Norway, but to the whites who hurried from afar to prevent the blacks of Norway from meting out to the whites the whites' own measure of justice. And the lesson of Norway is the lesson also of Evansville. Here a bloodthirsty mob of whites pursued a black criminal, already in custody for his crime, and, because they had been baffled by the good faith of his jailers, who had removed him from the danger of lynching, attacked the men and women of his, the criminal's, race. Here also the lynching was utterly without palliation. Here also it was not "the usual crime." It was the murder of a policeman by a black desperado, as it might easily have been the murder of him by a white desperado. But will anybody dare to say that a white desperado, in custody for this crime and with every prospect of meeting his full deserts at the hands of the law, would have received the same treatment that this negro received at the hands of a lawless mob?

There can be only one answer to this question, either in the case of the South Carolinian mob or in that of the Indianian. In each case the man was hunted and doomed to die at the hands of a mob by reason of his race. He was pursued as a negro and not as a criminal. Practically the equality of men before the law is denied, or at least set at naught, when men of one race are taken out of the hands of the law, in which men of the other are left. What can be expected of the members of a race thus discriminated against but that they shall prepare to defend themselves against lawless violence, or even to avenge it, even if they should thereby precipitate a "race war," by which of course they would be the chief losers and sufferers? The chief blame belongs not to them, but to the men who have assumed to put members of their race to death without due process of law because they are members of that race. The acts of a white mob in the black belt are not only savage and brutal but insane, since, although the blacks would be sure to suffer in the end, the whites might suffer frightfully in the meantime. It is in the black belt that it most of all behooves the whites to see that the equality of the blacks before the law is recognized and protected, and that they shall not be deprived of life, as in South Carolina, or of liberty, as in Alabama, "without due process of law."

AMERICAN SHIPPING IN THE FOREIGN TRADE.

The ghastly parody of "enterprise" in the effort to keep the American flag creditably represented in the ocean-carrying trade would be pathetic if it did not represent a futile struggle against artificial conditions which make it impossible to establish and conduct this business profitably. Obviously, Congress could enact laws conferring bounties and subventions so liberal that the losses of the business would be compensated by payments from the United States Treasury; and if such an arrangement could be made it is very likely there would be a rapid increase in American maritime enterprise. Under like conditions bananas would be grown in Minnesota and oranges in Maine. The experience of a receiver of an American line of steamships to Brazil, who found that it was cheaper to tie up the American vessels and do the business with British tramps than to run them, recognized conditions which have remained unchanged for the better since that date.

Syren and Shipping, which seems to be the most candid and least conventional of the journals concerned with that industry, publishes a table of great interest showing the difference in the three elements of cost of furnishing ocean transportation in vessels of the type of the steamship St. Louis under the American as compared with the Belgian flag, the ship claiming Belgian registration having been built in England, where wages are slightly lower than in Belgium. It makes the following showing:

Cost in the United States	$2,550,000.00
Cost in England	2,000,000.00
Difference in cost	$550,000.00
Depreciation on difference in cost at 6 per cent	$33,000.00
Average interest on difference in cost at 3 per cent	16,500.00
Average insurance on difference in cost at 3 per cent	16,500.00
Difference in wages, based on 394 men	43,908.00
Difference in subsistence, based on 10 cents per man per day	14,184.00
Difference in cost of repairs	9,654.00
	$133,746.00
Difference in interest charges (1¼ per cent. on cost)	$31,875.00
Total	$165,621.00
The St. Louis, making an average of twelve voyages per year across the North Atlantic, if under the British flag, would receive, relatively, the same subventions as similar steamers of the International Mercantile Marine and the Cunard lines receive, to wit, $12.67 per gross ton, which, upon the gross tonnage of the St. Louis, say, 11,629 tons, is equivalent to	$147,339.43
Adding this last amount to the loss of	165,621.00
Carried forward above, we have a total of	$312,960.43

—which is the handicap in dollars and cents under which the ships of the St. Louis type sailing under the American flag have to suffer because of our economic policy.

In explaining the desperate nature of the emergency which confronts American shipping enterprises, the journal above quoted, in a comment on the editorial views of THE TIMES, says:

The evil that exists is an artificial condition, raised by ourselves. To offset the increased cost of construction and operation we have done nothing, not to speak of meeting the action of our commercial rivals. We have no one remedy to offer, though many are proposed and none are chosen. Let THE TIMES, however, believing as it does that our economic policy is at fault, consider whether or not the passage of a discriminating duty bill, which should reduce the present high tariff on imports brought in American ships, would be a step in the direction it desires in our economic policy and at the same time be of some value in encouraging the building of American tonnage.

THE TIMES can discover a great many better reasons for reducing the tariff to the point of eliminating protection than are found in the stimulus it would be likely to give to American shipping. If, however, that advantage should result from a discriminating duty, so much the better. The partial abatement of a nuisance is better than its continued toleration. To lower the duties on imports brought in American bottoms would benefit the consumer to some extent, no doubt; and if it also benefited American industry and promoted profitable maritime enterprise it would be a useful object lesson and serve as an entering wedge for the undoing of the mischievous McKinley-Dingley system of high protection for industries and interests which would prosper better without it. In itself considered, it is a makeshift expedient, and the advocates of a sane economic policy need to be vigilantly on guard that it be not made the pretext for increasing the duties on merchandise brought in foreign ships. The beneficiaries of protection are not sufficiently altruistic to give something for nothing. If a bill providing for a differential of say 10 per cent. in duties in favor of American ships reaches Congress, the American Iron and Steel Association would "throw a fit," and every good protectionist would see "midnightmost ruin" in the immediate future.

STREET RAILROADS AND THE STATE COMMISSION.

The public will make a mistake if it takes the State Board of Railway Commissioners too seriously. This might lead to disappointment and would, moreover, be unfair to the Commissioners. Their function in matters pertaining to railway management would seem to be much like that of the Industrial Committee of the Civic Federation in connection with labor troubles. They have no power to adjust differences, nor to enforce their judgment of what is right and necessary. It should not be assumed, however, that they are useless or that no public advantage results from their labors. They serve a useful purpose in bringing to specific recommendations the public complaints of inefficient service, defective equipment, or bad management. When these recommendations are or are not complied with, the commission is again useful in reporting back to the public what has been or has not been done. When the commission puts its official finger on an evil or an abuse, or on a weak point in a transportation system, the public knows better than it otherwise would what it is justified in demanding and insisting upon. All of which makes for good as far as it goes.

The investigation the commission has undertaken in this city will doubtless be useful in the ways we have indicated. Considering the rapid increase in the number of passengers to be carried, the gain over last year between Feb. 1 and July 1 having been nearly thirty-two millions of single fares, the commission now recommends a general increase of power available for car movement. This, of course, is more necessary in the case of some roads than in that of others. Brooklyn Rapid Transit is a conspicuous example of a system run for years with a wholly insufficient power provision. The management has fed the public with promises. It seems to have lacked the courage to say that the reason for its negligence in this matter has been, like Mr. BLAINE's Presidential canvass, "largely a question of finance."

For what the State Board of Railway Commissioners has accomplished of public advantage in the past we may be appreciatively thankful; for what it may do in the future we may be anticipatively grateful. It will have the support of public opinion for any proper and necessary recommendations it may make looking to the increase of facilities for rapid and comfortable travel. Its public statements will assist it in effectively directing the efforts of citizens' associations along practical lines for the attainment of results of immediate benefit. As a bureau of information concerning what the elevated and surface roads have done, are doing, and still need to do to meet the public requirements to the best advantage, the commission is doing a useful work. It might, perhaps, have been more industrious and less spasmodic, but its work is not useless, and of late it has acquired an interest for the residents of this city which it formerly lacked.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

—Army men have good memories for everything that concerns the honor of their caste, and hence is it that a good many of them are watching with an attention the reverse of sorrowful the troubles through which ex-Congressman DRIGGS is just now passing. For Mr. DRIGGS was a member of the Congressional committee that investigated the matter of hazing at West Point, and his attitude at that time was such as to create much indignation in military circles. The Army and Navy Journal, noting that Mr. DRIGGS is now under four indictments in connection with the Post Office frauds, says: "This is of interest to those who recall the display of virtue made by this man in connection with the investigation of the charges of hazing at the Military Academy in December, 1900. DRIGGS, who was a member of the committee appointed by Congress to inquire into the matter of hazing, made himself particularly obnoxious by his insulting remarks concerning the corps of cadets and individual members thereof. He went so far in his display of high virtue that on one occasion he was hissed by those present because of his insinuation that a cadet on the stand was giving untruthful testimony. It was evident at the time that he was more concerned with the promotion of his own political fortunes than with the improvement of conditions at the Academy." Military men do not regret that the abuses of hazing have been banished from West Point, but they insist that with the bad went much that tended to the preservation of discipline and the development of character, and they object to many features of the regulations to which the cadets are now subjected as a result of the inquisition in which Mr. DRIGGS participated. It is not unnatural, therefore, that the sentiments and opinions of Congressional action which they cannot themselves publicly express should be voiced by one of their journalistic organs, and it is only fair to the latter to say that not a few civilians who closely followed the course of the West Point inquisition found much to criticise in the tone and what seemed to be the intentions of Mr. DRIGGS.

—Hitherto it has been only in fairy stories that there could be found incidents like the one described in a dispatch from Saratoga which we printed yesterday. As the tale was told, an unknown woman appeared in the village of Schuylerville, and, knocking at the door of one JAMES H. MEALEY, left there as a "little present" a package which, when opened later, was found to contain $11,110. To have a thing like that happen is to change, very materially for the better, all current ideas as to the world and its latter day possibilities. It is confusing, but it is pleasant, particularly as the $11,110, when carried to the local bank, did not change to dry leaves, as was too often the custom when fairy gold was in circulation, but remained good current paper money for which acknowledgment was made in a pass book in the ordinary way. It is much to be regretted that our dispatch did not end until it had stated that Mr. MEALEY recently went through bankruptcy. That fact has no obvious relevancy to the mysterious woman or her mysterious gift, but it seems to cast a gloom over the whole episode and streaks its splendor with base suspicions. That is, it will do so for some. As for ourselves, we firmly refuse to be gloomy or suspicious, and remain convinced that the convenient happenings of a nobler age can again be numbered among the reasonable expectations of everybody to whom $11,110 would be acceptable.

—One of the small but very curious mysteries of the day is the existence in the mind of almost everybody who uses the telephone of a feeling that he has a special claim upon the time and attention of anybody whom, for his own interest or convenience, he chooses to "call up." The man who seeks an interview in the old-fashioned way has no such feeling. He sends in his card, usually with an explanation of his business, and then with more or less patience waits until the person he wants to see is ready to receive him. The man at one end of a telephone wire, however, demands that he be treated on a "favored nation basis," and if he is kept waiting more than a few seconds by the man at the other end he resents it as a discourtesy, if not as an actual wrong. And the telephone companies themselves seem to assume that each subscriber has entered into a tacit contract to leap promptly to his instrument every time the bell rings, and they scold him when he doesn't do it, on the ground that he "hurts the service." This assumption of the companies is seriously—and therefore amusingly—expressed by The American Telephone Journal, which, after telling how much better the telephone service is now than it used to be, proceeds to lecture the called subscriber for not doing his part to make it still more prompt. "The average time," it says, "taken by the subscriber to answer the telephone bell is still much greater than it should be, and it still lies in the power of the subscriber greatly to increase the efficiency of the telephone service by cutting this time down. It represents at present the larger proportion of the total time occupied in getting two subscribers together on the telephone, and as long as that is so it will remain a standing reproach to telephone subscribers in general. In order to give a phenomenally perfect telephone service all we now ask of the telephone user is that he shall speak his orders clearly and accurately and answer the bell as quickly as he can—much quicker than he does. * * * Having made things so simple and easy for the subscriber, it should be a point of honor with him to aid us in perfecting the service by giving the uniformly quick answer we ask." That reference to a "point of honor" is simply delightful. For all that is generally known, the companies have been pretty well paid in hard cash for everything they did, and for a good many things they didn't do. That there is any obligation on the other side would be very hard to prove.

—Georgia, by again refusing to divide its school money among the State's white and colored schools in proportion to the taxes paid by each race, has shown not less regard for self-interest than for justice. The foundation principle of public education is ignored and violated when any attempt is made to confine their benefits to less than the entire public or to impose their cost within narrower limits than that. The Georgians who in effect tried to abolish the colored schools would have suffered from their own success, if they had attained it, quite as much as, if not more than, the negroes whom they would have condemned to ignorance.

Common Patriotic Tunes.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your several editorials and one letter from F. M. C., Baltimore, in regard to the music used to "America" and "God Save the King" recall an incident which may interest. Some years ago a party of Americans were in Hanover at the time of the Autumn review of the army. As the different bands passed the War Monument, where the reviewing stand was, many played this tune.

One of the American girls turned to the German ladies and asked, "Why do the bands play the English national anthem?" The governess of the Duke of Cumberland (the exiled King of Hanover) was present and answered: "Because it is Hanover's national anthem. When we sent our Elector George to be King of the English he gave it to them; but what right have the Americans to it?" Mr. William A. McIntosh answered: "Oh, when we thrashed the English in 1776 we took it as a spoil of war."

HARVEST TIME AT HOME.

Somehow, when business has a lull about this time of year,
My thoughts take their vacation back
among the scenes once dear,
I stray about the harvest fields where long and long ago
I watched the cereal ocean in its golden ripples flow,
While now and then, upon some blade a tired reaper bore,
The sunbeams flashed and then went out like thoughts recalled no more.

As faint as falling echoes of a signal far at sea,
The clink of scythe and whetlock come in rhythmic harmony;
Among the brooding hills near by, in evening shadows dim,
One would not start to catch a glimpse of winging seraphim;
For sweet the ways with tinkling bells
where browsing cattle roam,
And all of nature hints of heaven in harvest time at home.

How pleasant then the journey home along the country road,
Where larkspur blooms beside the fence like knots of lovers glowed—
Now listening to the whippoorwill beyond a darkling field,
Or tarrying where the berries tempt—a shower of wine congealed;
And long before we reached the gate to hear the watch dog's bark,
And see the distant windows gleam like blossoms of the dark.

* * * * * * *

It seems so long since those old years—so long indeed that I
Now wonder that a time could be without a sob or sigh.
And yet, enough do I recall to vow that in the end—
When the no more and ever more in death's twilight shall blend—
It would suffice to know that life beyond the gathering gloam
Would really prove as care free as—the harvest time at home.

COLLEGE PRESIDENTS ON HIGHER EDUCATION

Discussion at the National Convention at Boston.

President Butler of Columbia University Thinks the Course Should Be Elastic.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, July 7.—The Department of Higher Education, a branch of the National Educational Association, discussed to-day the topic, "Length of the Baccalaureate Course and the Preparation for the Professional Schools."

After a historical introduction by Prof. Elmer E. Brown of the University of California, papers were presented by President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia, President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard, President William R. Harper of Chicago University, and Andrew F. West, Dean of the Graduate School, Princeton University.

Dr. Butler said in part:

"One of the worst of all educational evils is that of quantitative standards, and it persists surprisingly in the discussion of college and university problems. Every higher course of study that I know of, except only that of graduate work leading to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at the best universities, is primarily quantitative. These courses are all based on time spent, not upon performance. The adjustment of the period of work to the capacity of individual students, now so common in elementary schools and not unusual in secondary schools, is almost wholly absent from the colleges. The 'lockstep' is seen there to perfection, and class after class of one hundred or even two hundred members moves forward (with the exception of a few delinquents) as if all its members were cast in a common mold. The place of the baccalaureate course and its standards will never be established on sound principles until the question of its length is made subordinate to those relating to its content and its purpose.

"The college course is in serious danger by reason of the fact that the secondary school is reaching up into its domain on the one hand and the professional school is reaching down into it on the other. Purely professional subjects in law, medicine, engineering and architecture are widely accepted as part of the baccalaureate or college course by university colleges, and now independent colleges in different parts of the country are trying various devices with a view to doing the same thing. If this tendency continues unchecked, at many institutions there will soon be little left of the old baccalaureate course but the name.

"To preserve the college is (a) to fix and enforce a standard of admission which can be met normally by a combined elementary and secondary school course of not more than ten years well spent, and (b) to keep out of the baccalaureate course purely professional subjects pursued for professional ends by professional methods. The college course, in other words, should be constructed for itself alone and for the intellectual, moral, and spiritual needs of the youth of our time, without reference or regard to specific careers. This course must be widely elective, and so offer material to enrich and develop minds of every type. This course is the best preparation for the professional study of law, medicine, divinity, engineering, architecture, and teaching, simply because it does what it does for the human mind and the human character, and not because it is so hammered and beaten as to serve as a conduit to a particular career or careers.

BOYS SHOULD BEGIN EARLY.

"This course should be entered upon at seventeen, or in some cases at sixteen. Eighteen is too late for the normal boy; the boy who has had every educational advantage and is not ready to meet any existing college entrance test at eighteen has been dawdling and weakening his mental powers by keeping them too long in contact with merely elementary studies.

"For the boy who enters college at seventeen and who looks forward to a career as scholar, as teacher, or as man of affairs four years is ordinarily not too long a time to spend in liberal studies. On the other hand, the boy who, entering college at seventeen, proposes to take up later the study of a profession in a university ought not to be compelled to spend four years upon liberal studies just at that time in his life. To compel him to do so is to advance the standard of professional education arbitrarily without in any way raising it. It is a fallacy to suppose that the more time a boy spends in study the more he knows and the more he grows. Whether he grows by study depends entirely upon whether he is studying subjects adapted to his needs, his interests, and his powers. Pedagogues suppose that the more time a boy spends in school and college the better; educators know the contrary. There is a time to leave off as well as a time to begin. A boy can develop intellectual apathy in college as well as knowledge, weakness of will as well as strength of character.

"There should be a college course two years in length, carefully constructed as a thing by itself and not merely the first part of a three years' or a four years' course, which will enable intending professional students to spend this time as advantageously as possible in purely liberal studies. The university colleges can establish such a course readily enough; the independent colleges will have to establish such a course or see their influence and prestige steadily decline. To try to meet the new situation by simply reproducing all present conditions on a three-year scale instead of on a four-year scale is a case of solvitur ambulando. The shortening of the college to three years for all students involves an unnecessary sacrifice. As usually defended, this policy involves no educational principle, but merely concedes a year of liberal study to the modern demand for haste and hurry.

"Whether the completion of such a two-year course should be crowned with a degree is to me a matter of indifference. Degrees are the tinsel of higher education and not its reality. Such a two-year course as I have in mind would imply a standard of attainment at least as high as that required for the degree of A. B. in 1860, which had many characteristics that we of to-day persistently undervalue. If this discussion could be diverted from degrees to real educational standards, it would be a great gain. The compromise plan as to degrees, now becoming so popular, whereby the baccalaureate degree is given either for two years of college study and two years of work in a professional school or for three years of college study and one year of work in a professional school, is disastrous to the integrity of the college course. It deliberately shortens the college course by one year or two, while proclaiming a four-year college course. It is a policy that only university colleges can adopt; independent colleges must suffer if it becomes a fixed and permanent policy.

"The most difficult point to establish, apparently, is that at which the baccalaureate course should begin. Colleges with courses nominally four years in length are admitting students with from one to two years' less preparation than is demanded by other colleges with four-year courses. The lax enforcement of published requirements for admission, together with the very general acceptance of certificates from uninspected and unvisited schools, has demoralized college standards very generally. It does not make much difference how long the baccalaureate course is if it does not begin anywhere.

"A university ought not to admit to its professional schools students who have not had a college course of liberal study, or its equivalent. A minimum course of two years of such study should be insisted upon. A four years' course should not be required for the two reasons (1) that it delays too long entrance upon active life-work, and (2) that it does not use the time and effort of the intending professional student to the best advantage."

FAVORS A THREE-YEAR COURSE.

President Eliot's views were opposed to those of Dr. Butler. He said, among other things:

"Inasmuch as it is the interest of society and the interest of the individual that young men should be enabled to enter, well trained, on the practice of a profession by the time they are twenty-five years old, it follows that the period of training preliminary or preparatory to professional training should come to its end by the time the young men are twenty-one years old.

"If we ask, next, at what age a boy who has had good opportunities may best leave his secondary school—whether a high school in a city, or a country academy, or an endowed or private school for the sons of well-to-do parents—the most reasonable answer is at the age of eighteen. At that age the average boy is ready for the liberty of a college or technical school, and will develop more rapidly in freedom than under the constant supervision of parents or schoolmasters.

"Seventeen is, for the average boy, rather young for college freedom, though safe for steady boys of exceptional maturity. Between the secondary school and the professional school, then, there can be, as a rule, only three years for the college.

"The principle on which the Harvard Faculty have acted is this: They propose, in reducing the time required for the A. B. degree to three years, to make no reduction whatever in the amount of work required for the A. B. degree. In other words, they propose that the degree of A. B. taken in three years shall represent the same amount of attainment or power acquired which the A. B. taken in four years has heretofore represented."

Prof. West, in speaking of the dangers to liberal education, said:

"The chief one, I think, is commercialism, the feverish pursuit of what pays as the one end of life. The instinct for the useful is being perverted and exalted above the love of knowledge as a chief end.

"Another peril is a companion and natural follower of commercialism, namely, illiteracy. Not in the meaning of that word in the census table, but in the meaning of ignorance of good literature. Is it not a fact that the majority of college students to-day are not familiar with the commonplaces of literary information and the standard books of history, poetry, and so on? What a confession of the state of things it is that colleges have to make the reading of a few books of English literature a set task as an entrance requirement and then ask formal questions on what ought to be the free and eager reading of every boy at home.

"Another peril comes from the students themselves. It is a disposition to do the pleasant rather than the hard thing, even when the hard thing happens to be the best thing. This is most common among those whose main interest in college life is social. It is also fostered by the general absorption in athletics, though it is not so much the athletes who are affected, for they are at least used to a vigorous discipline in things physical—as it is the mass of onlookers who attend the games and waste so much time discussing them."

The National Council Committees to-day reported on several items of business. The following recommendations were made by various committees and adopted by the Council:

That the Board of Directors of the National Educational Association be requested to make the following appropriations:

Fifteen hundred dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, for a committee of seven to inquire and report to the Council upon the salaries, tenure of office, and pension provisions of public school teachers of the United States.

Five hundred dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, for a committee of five to investigate and report to the Council upon the subject of industrial education in schools in rural communities.

One thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, for a committee of seven to urge upon Congress and the country the erection of a bureau of education into a separate administrative department and its adequate equipment and financial support.

PANAMA CANAL TREATY.

Counsel for Panama Company Confers with Acting Secretary Loomis.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—William Nelson Cromwell, counsel for the Panama Canal Company, had an hour's conference to-day with Acting Secretary Loomis respecting conditions in Bogota so far as they affect the pending canal treaty.

Mr. Cromwell has received a cablegram from Bogota stating that the treaty was presented to the Colombian Senate July 2, and was to be taken up for consideration July 4. As less than two weeks remain of the special session of the Colombian Congress, it is apprehended here that the treaty cannot receive final action in that time. If not, then the regular session beginning on the 20th instant would displace the special order which gave the treaty the right of first consideration. It is believed here, however, that the difficulty in that case will be met by a renewal of the special order to govern the proceedings in regular session.

BOGOTA, Colombia, July 7.—The Senate yesterday resolved to discuss the Hay-Herran canal treaty in public sessions.

FEWER TROOPS IN PHILIPPINES.

Gen. Davis Recommends Reduction of Force and Abandonment of Some Posts Next Year.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Secretary Root has received from Gen. Davis, commanding in the Philippines, a long cable message over the new Pacific Commercial cable relating to the disposition and reduction of troops in the islands for the next year. In the opinion of Gen. Davis the conditions in the Philippines are such as to warrant quite a reduction of the force, and he gives in detail his plan for making this reduction.

It consists in the disposition of the Philippine scouts in a different manner than heretofore, and also in abandoning some posts which were deemed important to garrison a year ago. Gen. Davis does not think that any greater force is needed in the Moro country. It is expected that the recommendations of Gen. Davis will be approved in a few days.

ANOTHER CITIZENSHIP CASE.

Porto Rican Took Out Papers in 1897, but Perhaps in Vain.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—A dispatch from San Juan, Porto Rico, states that the last hearing given by Judge William H. Holt in the United States District Court before he sailed from San Juan for the United States on vacation, raised one of the most interesting questions yet presented in that court and involving the citizenship rights of an Americanized Porto Rican. The petitioner was Dr. José Casalduc, who is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and is a dentist in San Juan. His social and professional standing is high.

Dr. Casalduc showed the court that in 1897 he was in the United States and that he took out American citizenship papers. He remained in this country until after the exchange of the ratifications of the Treaty of Paris, on April 12, 1899. After that he went to Porto Rico to practice his profession. Now that the five years required by law after the taking out of first papers have elapsed he would be entitled, if he had resided all that time in the United States, to take out his full citizenship papers.

The question now to be decided is, has the doctor resided five years in the United States while part of the time he was in Porto Rico. He did not renounce his allegiance to Spain before the date provided in the Foraker act, and as he was a resident of Porto Rico it would seem by that fact he was made a citizen of Porto Rico. If this view of the case is taken then his papers do not entitle him to become a citizen of the United States.

Judge Holt is now at his former home in Kentucky. It is believed he will give the case consideration during his vacation and be prepared to render a decision upon returning to Porto Rico in the Autumn.

Good Work by the Kearsarge.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The United States battleship Kearsarge smashed all ocean records for speed in the battleship class in her journey to Kiel, making a total distance of 3,345 miles from New York to The Needles at the high average speed of 16.82 miles per hour. She made the entire run without a single stop or disarrangement of the machinery, which showed its perfect condition by running up the speed to 14.5 and 15 knots on the last few days of the voyage.

Move the Naval Prison Ship.

BOSTON, July 7.—The Southery, the only prison ship in the United States Navy, left the Charlestown Navy Yard to-day in tow of two large Government tugs for Portsmouth, where she is to be stationed permanently. On board the Southery are several score of prisoners who are serving terms of various lengths for breaches of discipline.

Consuls Change Places.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Harlan W. Brush of New York has been appointed United States Consul at Milan, Italy, exchanging places with William Jarvis of New Hampshire, at present Consul at Milan, who has been appointed consul at Niagara Falls.

Gen. Weston Restored to Health.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Gen. John F. Weston, Commissary General of the Army, returned to Washington to-day, after a long sojourn at Johns Hopkins Hospital, at Baltimore, where he has been under treatment since May last. His ailment was rheumatism of the heart, and at one time recovery was considered doubtful. The General feels that he has been fully restored to health, and hopes to resume his duties after taking a few months for recuperation.

AMERICAN SQUADRON IS WELCOMED IN ENGLAND

King Edward Sends Message of Greeting to Admiral Cotton.

Brilliant and Noisy Reception to Visiting Fleet at Portsmouth—American Officers Entertained on British Vessels.

PORTSMOUTH, England, July 7.—With the boom of cannon the British fleet, on behalf of King Edward, welcomed the United States European Squadron to Great Britain's naval headquarters this morning. During the day Lord Beresford, Vice Admiral of the British Navy, and the Mayor of Portsmouth exchanged courtesies and speeches of gratification with Rear Admiral Cotton of the visiting squadron, and showed him many honors. The King sent a message of welcome from Buckingham Palace.

This evening Admiral Cotton and the American Captains were entertained at dinner by Admiral Hotham. At the same time the junior officers of the United States vessels were guests at a dinner on a British gunnery ship.

The gunboat Machias joined the flagship Kearsarge, the Chicago, and the San Francisco early in the morning, and shortly after 8 o'clock signals began to flutter from the mastheads of the American and British ships. The latter, in obedience to a signal from Lord Charles Beresford, the commander of the Channel squadron, formed two lines, and down this lane of huge gray warships moved the Americans, their white sides gleaming in the sunlight.

ADMIRALS EXCHANGE CALLS.

National salutes were fired by each squadron, which was followed by an exchange of salutes to Rear Admiral Cotton and Vice Admiral Beresford. Subsequently the two Admirals exchanged calls on the flagships, according the usual honors as each came over the side.

At high tide the American warships entered the harbor, led by the Kearsarge, which was moored south of the railway jetty, and within a stone's throw of Nelson's old flagship, the Victory; King Edward's yacht, the Victoria and Albert, and the battleship Collingwood, flagship of Admiral Hotham, the Commander in Chief of Portsmouth.

As the Kearsarge approached the jetty "attention" was sounded on the Victoria and Albert, the Victory, and the other ships in the harbor, a courtesy which was returned from the Kearsarge's deck, on which was drawn up an Admiral's guard of fifty marines, under the command of Lieut. Colley. So soon as the Kearsarge was berthed Sir William Dupree, the Mayor of Portsmouth, boarded her and greeted Admiral Cotton, saying:

"The people of Portsmouth welcome the American squadron and extend to its officers and men all the courtesies they can offer."

Admiral Cotton replied, expressing his pleasure at the welcome extended to the squadron and thanking the Mayor, in behalf of the United States Government and himself.

On the departure of the Mayor, Rear Admiral Milne, commander of the royal yachts, specially detailed by King Edward to welcome the Americans, arrived on board the Kearsarge, and was received by Admiral Cotton and Capt. Hemphill. Admiral Milne expressed the gratification of King Edward at the arrival of the squadron, and, in behalf of his Majesty, welcomed it to England.

Subsequently Admiral Cotton, Capt. Hemphill, and the staff officers visited the naval officials, escorted by an Admiral's guard and a band. During Admiral Cotton's visit to Admiral Hotham the latter recalled the fact that they had previously met at Esquimault, when Admiral Hotham commanded the British Pacific Squadron and Admiral Cotton was in command of the Philadelphia. Admiral Hotham reiterated personally the warm message of welcome which he had previously transmitted to Admiral Cotton at Spithead. The Americans were presented to Lady Hotham and others.

Immediately after Admiral Cotton returned on board the Kearsarge Admiral Hotham and his staff returned Admiral Cotton's call. Deputy Governor Cochrane of the Isle of Wight also called on Admiral Cotton.

The day ended as brilliantly as it began. While Admiral Hotham entertained Admiral Cotton and the American Captains at dinner to-night, the junior officers of the United States vessels were dining on board the British gunnery ship Excellent. The dinner by Admiral Hotham was characterized by considerable warmth of feeling. There were no formal toasts, except those to King Edward and the President of the United States, and no set speeches. Admiral Cotton sat on the left of Lady Hotham. Among the others at the table were Admiral Sir John Hopkins, Sir Robert Arbuthnot, and other notable men. Lord Charles Beresford was unable to be present, owing to an attack of gout.

The following dispatch was received by Admiral Cotton:

"Buckingham Palace, July 7.—Admiral Cotton, United States Battleship Kearsarge: The King welcomes you and your squadron to England, and is looking forward to greeting you and your brother officers in London."

Admiral Cotton immediately replied as follows: "Rear Admiral Cotton acknowledges with grateful appreciation his Majesty's cordial welcome to himself and officers of the squadron under his command to England, and anticipates with great pleasure the honor of meeting and paying his respects to his Majesty in London."

Admiral Cotton has designated the officers who are to attend the State ball at Buckingham Palace, London, Wednesday in honor of President Loubet, as follows:

Rear Admiral Cotton.
Capt. Joseph N. Hemphill, commanding the Kearsarge.
Staff Lieut. Charles L. Hussey of the Chicago.
Capt. Charles C. Cornwell, commanding the Chicago.
Capt. Asa Walker, commanding the San Francisco.
Capt. Louis J. Magill, commanding the marine guard of the Kearsarge.
Capt. George C. Thorpe, commanding the marine guard of the Chicago, and fleet marine officer.
Lieut. Commander Abraham V. Zane of the Kearsarge.
Lieut. William V. Pratt of the Kearsarge.
Lieut. Patrick W. Hourigan of the Kearsarge.
Lieut. John M. Luby of the Kearsarge.
Lieut. Henry C. Mustin of the Kearsarge.
Pay Inspector Charles W. Littlefield of the Kearsarge.
Medical Inspector Walter A. McClurg of the Kearsarge.
Ensign Daniel P. Mannix of the Kearsarge.
Lieut. Commander Harry M. Hodges, executive officer of the Chicago.
Lieut. Commander Robert S. Griffin, Chief Engineer of the Chicago and Fleet Engineer of the European Squadron.
Lieut. David W. Todd of the Chicago.
Ensign Herbert C. Cocke of the Chicago.
Medical Inspector Ezra Z. Derr of the Chicago, Surgeon of the Fleet.
Lieut. Commander Richard T. Mulligan of the San Francisco.
Lieut. Commander Thomas F. Carter of the San Francisco.
Paymaster Henry A. Dent of the San Francisco.
Ensign George W. Steele of the San Francisco.
Ensign Cyrus W. Cole of the Kearsarge.
Commander Henry McCrea, commanding the Machias.
Paymaster William T. Wallace of the Machias.
Ensign Samuel W. Bryant of the Machias.
Ensign Harold E. Cook of the Machias.

The American officers, while in London, will be quartered at various hotels as the guests of the nation.

AMERICANS DID NOT DESERT.

Admiral Cotton vigorously denies the report which appeared in the German newspapers that over a hundred men deserted from his squadron at Kiel. The Admiral declares that the discipline of the crews is excellent.

"As a matter of fact," said Capt. Hemphill, "only one man, a Corporal of Marines, left the Kearsarge. This is a good record in view of the fact that we have 800 men on board."

The English and American ships were illuminated this evening, the spectacle attracting thousands of onlookers who watched it from the flag-bedecked streets. Outside Spithead the British Channel Squadron lay outlined in white electric lights. The royal yacht Victoria and Albert, moored a few hundred yards from the Kearsarge, was alone dressed in a different color scheme, being decorated with red, white, and green lights. At 10 o'clock all the vessels turned on their searchlights, the British warships flashing red and blue and the Kearsarge and her consorts red and green. The feature of the illumination was the display by the searchlights of the Victoria and Albert, which formed four different colors, the whole resembling a rainbow. The scene crowned by the full moon was most picturesque.

FEAR CHINA WILL MAKE CONCESSIONS TO RUSSIA.

United States, Great Britain, and Japan Watching Prince Ching Closely—China Pays Indemnity.

PEKING, July 7.—The representatives of the United States, Great Britain, and Japan are preserving independent action regarding Manchuria, and are awaiting the outcome of the conference of the Russian officials at Port Arthur and instructions from their respective Governments.

Only the Japanese Minister is occasionally adjuring Prince Ching, President of the Foreign Office, to avoid making secret concessions to Russia, which are possible, and which only vigilance will prevent, on account of the throne's weakness and Prince Ching's pliability.

Japan's initial action in her formal demand at Shanghai for the payment of the indemnity deficiency on a gold basis, on the occasion of the semi-annual reckoning July 1, is assignable to the strict nature of the present Chinese-Japanese relations. The demand may be expected to be imitated by the other powers when a favorable opportunity arises.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The State Department has been notified that the Chinese Government has paid the third installment on account of the Boxer indemnity. The money was placed in the hands of the United States fiscal agents at Shanghai Saturday.

The settlement was made on the basis of the rate of exchange at the time the Peking treaty was signed, the United States reserving all rights to further compensation if it shall appear that the indemnity payments are to be made on the basis of a present rate of exchange, which is much higher.

LONDON, July 8.—The Standard's correspondent at Tien-Tsin says that the Chinese are complaining bitterly that the Russians are continuing to commandeer fodder, mules, and carts beyond the Great Wall. The Russian troops encamped at Liang-Hen-Kwang have commandeered eighty carts to convey supplies of wheat to their forces on the Yalu.

LEGATIONS AT PEKING UNEASY?

Russian Official Paper Says They Are Preparing for Contingencies by Storing Up Ammunition.

London Times—New York Times Special Cablegram.

LONDON, July 8.—The Times's correspondent in Berlin says that according to a St. Petersburg telegram to the Cologne Gazette the Russian Government organ at Blagovestchensk has published a statement that the Peking Legations again are making preparations for possible contingencies. Stores are being accumulated and the legation buildings almost resemble armed forts. The guards have been considerably reinforced.

The Russian paper says it is credibly informed that the American Legation at Peking has applied to Washington for help, giving cogent reasons for the application. The temper of the people again is threatening, and it is feared that hostile demonstrations will break out at any moment.

CORRUPTION IN CHINA.

Governor of a Province and Other Officials Punished—Famine Relief Officer Plundered the People.

PEKING, July 7.—On the recommendation of Tsen Chun Hsuan, the new Viceroy of the Provinces of Kwan-Tung and Kwang-Si, an edict was issued to-day cashiering all the high officials in Kwang-Si, including the Governor, on account of corruption, incapacity, and connivance with the rebellion which has been constant for the past year, provoking a threat on the part of the French to interfere. Gen. Su and another General have been dismissed, and one Taotai has been exiled from the province with hard labor because of having plundered the people.

Tsen Chun Hsuan, whom the throne orders to organize a militia to defend the province, is distributing large famine relief, which it is expected will be unnecessary when the present crops have been harvested.

PLAN CHANGES IN THE GOVERNMENT OF RUSSIA.

The Czar and His Ministers Consider Local Administration Question and Determine on Scheme.

London Times—New York Times Special Cablegram.

LONDON, July 8.—The Times publishes from its Russian correspondent, under the heading "Sequel to Czar's Recent Manifesto," an account of a conference held at Czarskoye Selo, the imperial residence, the Czar presiding, to discuss the best means of carrying out the administration of decentralization announced in the manifesto.

The result, says the correspondent, hardly upholds the sanguine hopes of large extension of local autonomy cherished by many Russian Liberals, but rather shows that if there is any change, it will be in the direction of strengthening the autocratic bureaucracy.

The conference was attended by the Ministers of the Interior, Finance, Agriculture, and Justice, and the State Councilor, Platonoff. All declared that the Ministries will have to deal with many questions not really imperial, but which the local authorities are unable to deal with, since the latter are only empowered to handle a few unimportant questions, but that it would be otherwise were the radical reforms of provincial district administration made as announced in the manifesto, by raising the Provincial Governors to real representatives of the sovereign power.

The Minister of Agriculture explained that this would require many legislative changes of administration routine, and the Minister of the Interior said he had already drawn up a scheme for concentrating the control of all local administrative institutions whereby each province would be represented in a Council presided over by the Governor.

The Czar approved of this and ordered that lists of matters transferable from the central to the local authorities be prepared by the various Ministries by Aug. 14.

WEDS RUSSIAN BARON.

Miss Whitehouse of Newport Becomes Wife of a Gentleman-in-Waiting to the Czar in London.

LONDON, July 7.—Miss Frances Whitehouse, eldest daughter of W. Fitzhugh Whitehouse of Newport, R. I., and Baron Constantin Ramsay, a Gentleman-in-Waiting to the Czar, were married at St. Peter's Church, Eaton Square, this afternoon in the presence of a large gathering.

Among those present were Grand Duke Michael of Russia, Ambassador Choate and Mrs. Choate, the Russian Ambassador, Count Benckendorff, and Countess Benckendorff, Lord and Lady Dufferin, Lord and Lady Coventry, and Lord and Lady Dearhurst.

The bride, who was attended by four bridesmaids and three pages, was given away by her father.

The Baron and Baroness Ramsay will go to St. Petersburg. Mr. and Mrs. Whitehouse will sail within a fortnight for this country.

KING EDWARD GUEST OF PRESIDENT LOUBET

Dines with the French Executive at the Embassy in London.

DELCASSE VISITS LANSDOWNE

In the Afternoon M. Loubet Goes to the City and Makes an Address at the Guildhall.

LONDON, July 7.—France lavishly returned Great Britain's hospitality to-night by a dinner given by President Loubet to King Edward at the French Embassy. The scene around the Embassy was most animated. King Edward and President Loubet both arrived with their military escorts, and other distinguished guests drove up in handsome private equipages. A great crowd of people outside gave his Majesty an ovation. The King was met at the door of the Embassy by M. Loubet, who had arrived there a little earlier than his Majesty, and by Ambassador Cambon and the staff of the French Embassy.

The interior of the Embassy was profusely decorated. The white walled banquet hall was transformed into a bower of roses, a compliment to King Edward. The table, which was oblong, was open at one end. M. Loubet sat at the closed end, with the King on his right and the Prince of Wales on his left. The centre of the table was a mass of heliotropes and rare orchids, flanked by silver candelabra. Overhead were massive incandescent chandeliers, made more brilliant by numberless crystal pendants.

The guests included Premier Balfour, Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, Foreign Minister Lansdowne, the United States Ambassador, Mr. Choate; the Spanish, Italian, Russian, German and Turkish Ambassadors, the Portuguese Minister; Count Mensdorff, the Austrian Chargé d'Affaires; Lord Rosebery, the Duke of Devonshire, the French Consul-General and the Presidents of the principal French societies of London.

The gala operatic performance given at Covent Garden to-night in honor of President Loubet was a scene of marvelous brilliancy. There was an unsurpassed display of jewels and costumes, while the floral decorations were more magnificent than has ever been seen at a similar performance in London. At 9:30 a guard of honor arrived, and a little later a salute and a roar of cheers announced the arrival of King Edward and President Loubet, who entered the royal box and stood bowing while the bands played the British and French National anthems.

The King, who wore a Field Marshal's uniform, had on his right the French President, with the red sash of the Legion of Honor across his breast, and on his left Queen Alexandra. The Queen's neck and corsage were covered with diamonds, and on her head was a high diamond tiara, while the other members of the royal family and the nobility in neighboring boxes vied with one another in their display of jewels.

The whole house, floor and boxes, was a mass of color. Roses, orchids, electric lights, and flags covered every available point. All the members of the Diplomatic Corps in London were present, wearing their decorations, while with the members of the Cabinet and officers of the army, hardly a uniform in Great Britain was not represented. A detachment of Imperial Yeomanry formed a bodyguard of honor and the historical beefeaters in their quaint attire lined the approach to the royal box, which was in the centre of the house. The box for the foreign Ambassadors and Ministers was to the right of the royal box, and the Cabinet officers' box adjoined it on the left, the three boxes being outlined with red and white roses and orchids.

The other members of the royal family present were the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, and the Princesses Beatrice, Victoria, and Louise. Among the Americans present were Ambassador and Mrs. Choate, the Duchess of Marlborough, Mrs. Bradley Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont, Mrs. Ronalds, Mrs. Richie, Mrs. Chatfield Taylor, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bowring.

The performance consisted of selections from "Rigoletto," "Carmen," and "Romeo and Juliet," and was conducted by Neil Forsyth, who was afterward decorated by President Loubet with the Legion of Honor.

The President's day was a busy one. He was early astir and began an extensive round of functions, calling at the French Hospital, visiting the Home for French Governesses, and passing through the accident ward of the hospital he stopped to condole a Corporal of a detachment of Life Guards forming his escort who was injured by falling from his horse outside the hospital. The President returned to St. James's Palace at about ten o'clock. He was everywhere greeted with great cordiality and cries of "Vive Loubet!" in response to which he continually raised his hat.

A reception of a deputation from the Diplomatic Corps filled up the rest of his time until noon, shortly after which the President, accompanied by Ambassador Cambon and Foreign Minister Delcassé, started in semi-state to visit the City.

Long before the time fixed for his drive to the Guildhall the gayly decorated route was crowded with people and lined with troops the whole way, and in spite of the cloudy sky the uniforms, flowers, flags and bunting combined to form as bright a scene as London had produced in many years. The bells of the city churches pealed a welcome to the visitor, and the Presidential party, as it passed on, was greeted with unmistakable cordiality.

Shortly before one o'clock carriages containing the Prince of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, preceded by Life Guards, drove up to the Guildhall, where the royal party joined the Lord Mayor, Sir Marcus Samuel; Premier Balfour, the Judges, Aldermen, and others in awaiting the President.

Another detachment of Life Guards and outriders then rode up and amidst a volley of cheers President Loubet drove in. He sat in an open carriage beside Ambassador Cambon and wore a high hat, which he constantly removed, bowing right and left. The President jumped out of the carriage, shook hands all around, and after an address from the Corporation had been presented to him M. Loubet proceeded to luncheon.

The brilliant assemblage of guests, besides the notable French visitors, included the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and other members of the royal family, the Cabinet Ministers, a number of members of the House of Lords and of the House of Commons, and Field Marshal Lord Roberts.

After luncheon the Lord Mayor toasted the President of the French Republic. In reply M. Loubet said he was happy to bring to the heart of the City of London a cordial greeting from the French people.

"I join heartily," he added, "in the wishes which you express for a cordial understanding between the two peoples, each of which holds a necessary place in the history of civilization, feeling that their common interests should inspire them with a spirit of conciliation and accommodation, which will serve the cause of humanity. The presence at my side of the Minister for Foreign Affairs of the Republic is a pledge to you of the value which the whole French Government attaches to the development of these happy relations of friendship between our two countries."

M. Loubet returned to St. James's Palace at about 3:30 P. M., and spent the rest of the afternoon in a round of visits to members of the royal family. He then went to the Embassy to await the King, who arrived at 7:30 o'clock.

Foreign Minister Delcassé had a long conference with Foreign Minister Lansdowne this morning, and another with the Russian Ambassador, Count Benckendorff, after the latter had visited President Loubet.

President Loubet has bestowed the decoration of Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor upon the Lord Mayor of London, Sir Marcus Samuel; Admiral Sir Lewis Beaumont, known in America as the former commander of the British Pacific Squadron, and Lord Avebury, formerly Sir John Lubbock.

THE FRENCH ARE PLEASED.

London Times—New York Times Special Cablegram.

LONDON, July 8.—The Times has a dispatch from its Paris correspondent saying that the British welcome to M. Loubet has made a manifestly favorable impression on the French. There is an unmistakably convinced tone of satisfaction that France has recovered her old friendship.

Delcassé, who accompanies President Loubet, has the distinction of having a longer uninterrupted term in office as Foreign Minister than any French statesman since Decazes. M. Delcassé is a hard worker, and, according to a legend current in official circles, devotes eighteen hours out of twenty-four to his important duties. This does not prevent him from taking his regular morning ride.

GERMAN VIEW OF THE VISIT.

London Times—New York Times Special Cablegram.

LONDON, July 8.—The Times's correspondent at Berlin says that the German attitude toward President Loubet's visit to King Edward and the Anglo-French entente cordiale is outwardly an attitude more or less of impartial observation, coupled with attempts to minimize the facts of the situation.

Referring to the National Zeitung's assertion that Germany can afford to welcome an Anglo-French understanding as she welcomed the Franco-Italian rapprochement, the correspondent says that those who have had an opportunity of looking behind the scenes of European diplomacy during the past ten or twelve years know that the friendship now uniting England and France and Italy has a considerably deeper significance than the German critics publicly profess to attach to it. The aspect of Europe at the present moment would have been very different had certain projects of German diplomacy succeeded.

The sequel doubtless will show that German comments of to-day by no means exhaust the significance of the situation, even from a German viewpoint.

WHAT IS DOING IN SOCIETY.

In the suburbs, polo interests those who are on Long Island and there was an extremely good representation of society at the Rockaway Hunt Club yesterday. The polo games will last through the week. Sir Thomas Lipton entertained a party on the Erin, and the tennis tournament at the Country Club at Westchester was well attended. Those who were fond of racing assembled at the Coney Island Jockey Club for the last event of the season.

There will be a good list of passengers sailing on the New York to-day for Liverpool. Among those booked are Mrs. Goddard, Lawrence Godkin, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Phipps, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Plummer, Miss Plummer, Marsh Warren, and Gouverneur Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Widener and Miss May Van Alen are expected to return this week. Mr. and Mrs. William P. Thompson who have been in town for a few days left yesterday with Atherton Blight and Miss Alice Blight for Newport.

Mrs. Astor, Mrs. Ogden Mills, the Misses Mills and Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs are booked to sail to-day from England.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. S. Baring of High Beach, England, have taken two cottages at the United States Hotel, Saratoga. They will pass the Summer there.

Capt. and Mrs. Philip Lydig and Mrs. Frank Sturgis have been in town this week. Capt. and Mrs. Lydig will return to Newport to-morrow. They came to welcome Mrs. Acosta and Miss Acosta, who have just returned from Europe on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse.

The Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, by the way, brought in a large number of well known persons who have been abroad in the last two months. Among these were Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry and the Misses Gerry, who go direct to Newport; Mrs. Richard Gambrill and her young son, bound for the same place; Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke Jones and Miss Sadie Jones; Mr. and Mrs. George S. Scott, Mrs. Miles Carpenter, Monsignor Rooker, and Judge G. S. Batcheller and Miss Batcheller, of Cairo, who will Summer as usual at Saratoga.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Choate, Jr., who were married a few weeks ago at Albany, sailed yesterday on the Kronprinz Wilhelm. Mr. and Mrs. C. Graham Bacon, Clement C. Moore, Mrs. L. A. Thebaud, Dr. and Mrs. Bryant S. Passett, Miss Barbara Sedley and Miss Louisa Corbin were among the other passengers booked on the same vessel.

Mr. and Mrs. Sewell Boardman, who were married at St. Peter's, Galilee, a fortnight ago, are at Southampton, L. I. for their honeymoon.

George B. Schieffelin, who rented his cottage to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tracy Barney, will remain at Southampton this Summer and will not go abroad. Mrs. Schieffelin and Miss Schieffelin may go a little later to visit Mrs. Bruce Ismay.

Mrs. Henry Sedley and her son will leave town to-day for the Adirondacks and expect to spend most of the Summer there. They have gone to Lake Placid.

THE NEWS OF NEWPORT.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 7.—There was a considerable addition to the number of Summer residents here to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Widener came up quite unexpectedly on the steam yacht Josephine and went immediately to the Pinard cottage, which they have rented. Mr. and Mrs. George D. Widener accompanied them.

Mrs. C. H. Berryman arrived at the Willing cottage, Red Cross Avenue, where her daughter, Mrs. H. Casimer Derham, has been for several weeks.

Mrs. E. J. Knowlton arrived at the Cosy Nook cottage, near the One Mile Corner.

Mrs. S. Titus Zabriskie and Miss Zabriskie arrived at their cottage on Catherine Street.

The Mills villa was opened for the early occupancy of the family.

Ashmun—Richardson.

Special to The New York Times.

EAST ORANGE, N. J., July 7.—Miss Ethel Hall Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Warren Richardson, was married to-night to Donald Amos Ashmun of St. Joseph, Mo. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. W. H. Walls. Miss Marvin Fosdick of Hackensack was maid of honor and Miss Elizabeth Breslin Fletcher of Atchison, Kan., a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. The flower girl, a cousin of the bride, was Miss Fanny Louise Bacon of Boston, Mass. The bride was given away by her father. The ushers were George W. Richardson, Jr., and Percy Bacon Richardson, brothers of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Ashmun will live in Congress, Ariz.

IN THE SHOPS.

There are delightful plaster casts of Pope Leo sitting on the Pontifical throne. They are not of fine material, but the work is good and the likeness of his Holiness is excellent, the face being in flesh colors and the other parts of the cast appropriately toned. It is to be found in a collection of plaster work of all kinds and a variety of other things.

"Mosquito essence," the stuff is called, and it comes in small bottles about the size of an ordinary flavoring essence bottle, costing 25 cents. Rubbed on the hands and face it is said to keep off the mosquitos, and applied to places where the insect already has been at work is is credited with a soothing and curative effect.

One of the coolest of Summer hats, as far as looks go, was seen in one of the shops yesterday. It was a simple, wide-brimmed white straw, with strands of black plaited in here and there, just enough to bring out the cool effect of the white. Around the low crown of this hat was carried a band of pale green velvet ribbon, tied in the front in a long narrow bow, showing its full width of 2½ inches, extending across the front of the hat, a loop and end on either side. Nothing but that, and it is one of the simplest and prettiest of hats.

A big brown hat, more elaborately trimmed, has a big dark, but vivid green, ostrich feather around the front.

It is the easiest thing in the world to trim a wide-brimmed hat this year. Simpler to put on than the bows which are less elaborate in appearance in the long narrow shape are the "smashing" big bows of different kinds, made of sash ribbon of any color, tied around the crown of the hat. The big bow covers the entire front. Hats trimmed in this way are frequently seen in the smartest shops.

Pajamas for men in pale green silk have something of a white sheen, simple little frogs of white silk across the front of the coat, and the trousers drawn up with a white silk cord with tassels. On the patch pocket on the left breast is embroidered the monogram in green and white. For the man to whom green is not becoming there are other colors and white.

Around the top of the man's light wood walking stick, just below the crook, is twined a small gold serpent.

A liqueur set has a pair of antlers utilized for a standard. At the back between the horns stands the decanter, and the glasses in front are attached to the horns and carried up to the tips. They are held in place by means of brass bands in the form of serpents, a large one with raised head standing out viciously in the centre. From the associations of wine and the serpent the connection is not pleasant. It is a pretty set, however.

Any number of cool-looking nymphs form the designs on ash trays of metals of different kinds.

A little silver pen or sealing wax tray for the desk is oval in a simple design in silver and with a small candlestick for the wax taper at one end.

Attractive desk sets are of crystal ornamented with French gilt in filigree work and with solid metal covers to the boxes. There is a letter and paper holder of the crystal set in filigree work, and the pen box is also set in the filigree work of gilt, with a solid, ornamented gilt top. Even the paper clip is large and of the crystal and gilt. The paper cutter has the blade of crystal, and the handle of the solid gilt and other pieces match. The designs are all French.

ASBURY PARK'S BABY PARADE.

President to be Invited to Annual Review of Young America.

Special to The New York Times.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 7.—President Roosevelt is to be invited to come to Asbury Park on Friday, Aug. 28, and assist Queen Titania, the ruler of Fairyland, in reviewing the annual parade of the babies and children. The President is to be in this vicinity on that date, and the Common Council has appointed a special committee to interview the Chief Executive and endeavor to induce him to visit a resort where there are no advocates of the race suicide theory.

On the day in question over 500 tots will parade on the Board Walk. The officials of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association are endeavoring to secure the President for the same day. If the President accepts the invitation Asbury Park and Ocean Grove will make his visit a red-letter occasion for the Monmouth coast.

FOREIGN FIRMS MAY BID.

Expected That Several European Concerns Will Compete for New Bridge Construction.

When the bids are received for the construction of the superstructure of the Manhattan Bridge, or Bridge No. 3, it will be found that for the first time foreign corporations have submitted bids on matters of this kind. Among others, it is expected by Bridge Commissioner Lindenthal, that the Krupps of Germany will put in bids for the big work, while other bids from continental firm are expected.

The Bridge Commissioner said yesterday that to his knowledge several of these foreign bids will be received for the steel work. The Commissioner practically has completed his specifications and the advertisements for bids will be published within a week. Under the law there will be allowed fifteen days for the advertising, and then the opening of the bids will occur on or about Aug. 1.

The Commissioner said yesterday that the lowest bidder will certainly get the work, and that as there is a requirement for a $1,000,000 indemnifying bond for the city, it will be thoroughly protected even in the event of the work going to a foreign firm.

RUSSIAN AMBASSADOR SAILS.

Count Cassini Goes Home on Vacation, but Says He Will Come Back.

Count Cassini, Russian Ambassador to the United States, sailed for home on the Kronprinz Wilhelm yesterday afternoon, with the music of a band engaged for the occasion ringing in his ears. This band and several officials from the Russian Legation in Washington and the Russian Consulate in this city were on the pier to wish the Ambassador a pleasant voyage.

"I am going on a vacation," he said. "I shall be abroad for three months, but will surely come back. Reports that I am not to return are without foundation."

Greece's Cabinet Resigns by Telephone.

ATHENS, July 7.—M. Theotokis, the Premier, has telephoned to the King tendering the resignation of the Cabinet. The Theotokis Cabinet was only formed ten days ago, in succession to the Ministry of M. Zaimis, which resigned as a result of a vote of want of confidence in the Chamber. No reason for the resignation of the present Cabinet has yet been given.

KISHINEFF VISITOR BACK FROM RUSSIA

Prof. Steiner Places Blame on the Czar's Government.

He Also Tells of the Extent of Tolstoi's Influence Among All Classes, Even Moscow Cab Drivers.

Prof. Edward A. Steiner of Grinnel College, who went to Russia last Fall under commission from the Outlook Company to gather material concerning Count Tolstoi, devoted his Winter to this purpose and incidentally stopped at Kishineff a few days after the massacre. He arrived here Monday night on the Noordam of the Holland-America Line. He said yesterday:

"I went direct to Tolstoi's estate, Yasnaya Polyana, which is near the City of Tula, about twelve hours by rail from Moscow. Tolstoi was exceedingly ill when I arrived, and had been removed from the quarters which he had long occupied, a sort of hovellike room on the lowest floor of the house. He had been taken up stairs, where a physician lived with him. He recovered soon, but he remains, and will doubtless always remain, a broken-down man, a man who will be confined much to his house, and will never again be able to work in the fields, as has long been his custom.

"At different times while I lived on the Tolstoi estate, I took trips to Moscow, and was particularly interested in studying the cab drivers and prisoners and what might be called the lower order of people in the city, with the idea of finding out from them what influence the efforts of Tolstoi in their behalf, had upon them. One incident is enough to mark the point. Moscow is one of the most pious cities in the world. At every corner there are holy pictures and statues, at which the citizens reverently stop and bow. The driver of my cab, I noticed on my first day of investigation, passed by these pictures unnoticed.

"'Why don't you cross yourself!' I asked.

"'Tolstoi said we must not,' he answered.

"So I knew that the influence of Tolstoi had reached the cab drivers of Moscow at least.

"From my residence on the Tolstoi estate I am convinced that he knows everything that goes on in Russia. There is not a revolutionary scheme, I am sure, that any one is hatching that Tolstoi does not hear about. All manner of men are eager to submit ideas of violence to him, and they go to see him in droves and tell him their most secret thoughts without hesitation. But he sends them all away after he has reasoned with them and has told them that they must not resort to violence, that the kingdom of God is within them. There is no telling how many revolutionary outbreaks he has averted.

"I was in Moscow when the news was received of the Kishineff massacre; there was very little about it in the newspapers because of the censorship. There was no excitement—no more than if a pig had been killed—because the news was so scanty. There were two or three lines in the paper a few days after it happened from a little letter that had gotten through; the telegraph and telephone offices were closed. When I reached Kishineff there was no excitement; everything had died down.

"The Jews were huddled together in their quarters, especially around the synagogue. I went among them and staid a few days. Such horrible things happened during the massacre that I could not repeat them. But, while this is all true, at the same time the Jews told me there were also instances of extreme kindness on the part of a priest who tried to save them from the mob, even at the peril of his own life.

"This Jewish problem is a big, festering sore. We always think of the Jews as rich, but the mass of them in Russia are exceedingly poor; they often die of hunger. There is more hunger typhus among the Jews in Russia than anywhere else in the world.

"This hatred of the Jews is not the fault of the Russian people; they are not to blame; it is the Russian Government. The Government is anxious now to keep the Jew as a scapegoat, understand? The Russian peasantry is coming to the cities now, and Russia is becoming an industrial country, to some extent; the peasants are getting Socialistic ideas; they are getting ready for a revolution; never was there such a critical time in Russia as now, and the Government knows it, so it seeks to divert the peasant from the real sinner as much as possible, and is putting him on the Jews.

"First of all because the Jew is an economic problem there and he is getting to be a great political problem, and because, naturally, if the Jew is treated in that way he will be against the Government. You will find that some of the most violent Anarchists and Socialists in Russia are Jews; the Government knows that. For instance, it gave an order not long ago that the army be closely watched because of Socialistic literature which was being circulated, and that the Jewish soldiers should be specially watched. They are always the most intelligent in the ranks, and they become agitators."

Austrian Cabinet Crisis Settled.

VIENNA, July 7.—The Official Gazette will announce to-morrow the settlement of the Cabinet crisis in accordance with the statement made July 4. Premier von Koerber and his Cabinet, with the exception of Dr. Rezek, a Minister without a portfolio, will remain in office.

Answer to a Correspondent.

"Householder."—No company has a right to string wires across a private residence without first having obtained permission from the owner. The authorities have the right to grant a permit to string over housetops without the consent of the owners. All wires strung without permission constitute a trespass and suit can be brought for damages and for a mandamus to compel the immediate removal.

DEATH LIST OF A DAY.

John Dillon Mulhall.

John Dillon Mulhall died at his home, 1,287 Columbus Avenue, yesterday, from Bright's disease, after a brief illness. He was 68 years old. Mr. Mulhall was born in Ireland and, when nineteen years old, ran away from home and joined a lancer regiment in the British Army. His uncle, however, traced him, bought his discharge and took him home. He did not remain long, however, and in a few months was enrolled as one of the Papal Guard in the Vatican. For three years he served in this corps and Pope Pius IX. decorated him with the order of St. Gregory upon his resigning. The civil war was then on in this country and he came over here with Italian volunteers to fight for the Union. He was Lieutenant Colonel of the Sixty-ninth New York Volunteers, and took part in several of the great battles of the war. The funeral will be from St. Joseph's Church, in West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street, on Thursday.

Obituary Notes.

CYRUS KUNTZ, editor and proprietor of The Item of Allentown, Penn., died yesterday from paralysis, aged forty-nine years. He leaves a wife and five daughters. Mr. Kuntz had been the editor of The Item since its founding, in 1878, and sole proprietor since 1881.

MRS. ANNA WARNER, wife of William Warner, ex-Superintendent of the Brooklyn and Rockaway Beach Railroad, died at her home, at East Ninety-fifth Street and Avenue B, Canarsie, on Monday. She was sixty-three years old. Her son, William Warner, Jr., is the General Manager of the Brooklyn and Rockaway Beach Railroad.

ROBERT L. DAY, fifty-nine years old, died at his home in Somerville, N. J., on Monday from paralysis. For several years Mr. Day was the leading druggist in Somerville, but retired several years ago. He was formerly Chief of the town's Fire Department and was prominent in Masonic circles. He is survived by a widow and two children. The funeral will take place to-morrow.

JOSEPH O. MCCLOSKEY, seventy-six years old, died in Kearny, N. J., on Monday night from locomotor ataxia. He was a prominent carriage dealer in Somerville years ago, and was Captain of Company B, Third Regiment, New Jersey Volunteers in the civil war. He was also Captain of Company D, Thirty-fifth Regiment. About eight years ago he was removed to the Soldiers' Home in Kearny. He leaves a widow.

JOHN W. LITTELL, forty-five years old, of 14 Court Street, Newark, N. J., died at his home yesterday from kidney trouble. He was a member of St. Albans Lodge, F. and A. M.; Harmony Chapter, Kane Council, Damascus Commandery, Salaam Temple, Mystic Shrine, and New Jersey Consistory. The funeral will be held to-morrow and the interment will be in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

LARCHMONT WATER SPORT

Gay Crowd Sees Races and Fun at Larchmont Yacht Club.

Grounds Lighted and Fleet of 100 Yachts Illuminated for Dance in the Evening.

The Larchmont Yacht Club was given over to the ladies yesterday, and the handsome clubhouse, the spacious grounds, and the pretty harbor were gaily decorated by and for them. In the afternoon there was a programme of races and water sports, and in the evening there was a ball at the clubhouse. Hundreds of Chinese lanterns were strung through the grounds, multi-colored lights encircled the trunks of the trees and flashed among the leaves and around the fountains. In the harbor more than a hundred yachts were anchored, and each had its own display of bunting in the afternoon and of lights in the evening. In the afternoon the ladies, with their gowns, hats, and parasols of all conceivable shades, although white predominated, packed the lawn in front of the clubhouse and overflowed on to the harbor in yachts, launches, and canoes, and formed a picturesque setting for the water sports, and in the evening the beautiful illuminations of grounds and harbor made no less fitting a setting for the dancers.

The features of the afternoon's racing were the contests for the "Hen and Chickens Colors," presented by ex-Commodore H. M. Gillig, for four-oared gigs, not over 28 feet long on the water line; the "Dauntless Colors" for pair-oared gigs, not over 21 feet long on the water line, presented by Mrs. C. L. F. Robinson, and the dingey race for the "Execution Colors," presented by H. B. Seeley.

The four-oared gig race was won by the crew from the Sachem, Commodore Adams's flagship. They held the lead all the way for the two miles, which they covered in 23:19, finishing 16 seconds before the crew from Seymour L. Husted's Crusader. The Crusader crew, however, won the pair-oared race for the "Dauntless Colors," beating out the crew from William H. Langley's Montauk by 36 seconds. In the four-oared race the Atlantic crew was third and the Katrina crew fourth. In the pair-oars Isolde's men were third, Idalia's fourth, and Atlantic, Weetamoe, Clara, and Delauradora followed in the order named.

The dingey race for half a mile, for the "Execution Colors," was the closest of the three. The Paladin boat covered the distance in 10:08, winning by 2 seconds from the Mira. Cornelia was third, Corona fourth, and Lodona and Flosshilde tied for fifth place. There were twelve starters in the race.

Atlantic's twenty-one-foot naphtha launch won the race in her class, beating the Corona, Sedonya, and Montauk launches. In the smaller class, Delauradora's launch won from Comanche and Zenobia. In the Series A race for alco-vapor launches, the Toris launch won, and in Series B Paladin's launch went over the course alone.

The tilting contest furnished most of the amusement in the water sports, and F. W. Vuite of the New Rochelle High School won. L. R. Goodwin won the seventy-five-yard scratch swimming race, with J. Ruddy second and F. A. Wenck third. E. H. Adams won the 300-yard scratch swimming race in 5 minutes flat, defeating E. E. Wenck of the New York Athletic Club and C. P. Halpin of Columbia. A. Gerry won the fifty-yard race for boys and L. D. Handley the tub race.

YESTERDAY'S BASEBALL GAMES

All First Division Teams of Both Major Leagues Were Beaten.

None of the first division teams in either of the major baseball leagues won a game yesterday. At St. Louis the New Yorks were beaten 4 to 3. Brooklyn won from the Pittsburg champions by the score of 5 to 2 and secured fourth place by getting away from the tie with Cincinnati. The last-named team was defeated by Boston and the Philadelphia representatives beat the Chicagos 6 to 3.

In the American League race the Chicago team won a ten-inning victory over the Greater New Yorks, and both are tied again for fourth place. The Bostons, leaders in the struggle for the pennant, lost to the St. Louis players; Detroit beat Philadelphia 8 to 7, and the Washingtons, who are in last place, closed the series with the Cleveland visitors by winning handily.

Following are the scores of the games in the National and American Leagues respectively:

St. Louis, 4; New York, 3.
Brooklyn, 5; Pittsburg, 2.
Philadelphia, 6; Chicago, 3.
Boston, 5; Cincinnati, 3.

Chicago, 3; New York, 2.
Detroit, 8; Philadelphia, 7.
St. Louis, 3; Boston, 2.
Washington, 5; Cleveland, 2.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

New Yorks Beaten in First Game of St. Louis Series.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, July 7.—In a baseball game which was marked throughout for hard, clean playing the St. Louis team defeated the visitors from New York by the score of 4 to 3. Currie and Taylor [illegible] for the local and New York teams respectively. Each worked earnestly, but Currie was the more effective. Each was hit safely nine times, but the home team bunched theirs opportunely.

St. Louis made two runs in the first inning, and New York tied the score by some clean hitting in the third. The locals tallied another in the fifth, but the visitors tied the score for the second time in the following inning. The winning tally for St. Louis was scored in the eighth, but in the ninth it looked as though New York would win out. Lander, the first man up, went out on a fly to Smoot. McGraw, batting for Gilbert, singled, and Bowerman followed with another. Warner then went in and batted for Taylor, but the best he could do was to pop up an easy fly to Donovan. Browne, the next man, was expected to bring home the two men on bases, but he was quickly fielded out at first, Williams to Hackett, ending the game. The score:

BROOKLYN, 5; PITTSBURG, 2.

PITTSBURG, July 7.—Brooklyn scored a 5-to-2 victory over the National League champions here to-day. The home team could not solve Jones's delivery when hits were needed, while the vistors managed to hit Doheny safely at times when fielding errors by the locals helped them to score. The score:

Umpire—Mr. Johnstone.

BOSTON, 5; CINCINNATI, 3.

CINCINNATI, July 7.—Boston took the first game from Cincinnati to-day by a score of 5 to 3. The errors of Donlin and Seymour in the third inning were very costly, giving Boston two runs. Poole pitched a good game, but the players behind him could not hit when they had men on the bases. Score by innings:

											R.	H.	E.
Boston	0	0	2	0	0	0	2	0	[illegible]	—5		[illegible]	0

Batteries—Poole and Bergen; Pratt and Moran.

PHILADELPHIA, 6; CHICAGO, 3.

CHICAGO, July 7.—The visitors hit Wicker at the right time in four innings, and with a little good base running won easily. Duggleby kept the local players guessing, excepting in the sixth, when two passes, two errors, and a pair of singles gave them three runs. Score by innings:

											R.	H.	E.

Chicago Beat New York in Long, Turbulent Game.

Ten innings were required to decide the closing game of the series between the Greater New York and Chicago teams at American League Park yesterday, which was won by the visitors by the score of 3 to 2. It was a hard and well fought struggle, but the local team would have won had Williams been livelier in his base running at a critical moment in the fourth inning, for his slowness then lost a run for the home players. The game was interrupted by an unlooked-for incident in the seventh inning, which resulted in the arrest of Umpire Sheridan on a charge of disorderly conduct and the substitution of a player from each team to officiate in his stead.

The recent victories of the New York aggregation placed them in fourth place in the pennant race, just a few points ahead of their opponents. Both sides worked hard and earnestly in order to improve their respective standing, and the victory of the visitors placed both teams on an equal footing, as they now are tied with a percentage of .508.

Chicago scored a run in the first inning and repeated in the second. The local men tallied once in the fourth, when they should have made two runs, and tied the score in the eighth with another run. In the tenth a single and a double won the game for the visitors.

Holmes opened up for Chicago with a two-base hit to the right-field fence. Jones struck out, and Green was fielded out at first. Callahan singled between short and second, scoring Holmes. In the following inning Magoon singled to left, L. Tannehill's sacrifice advanced him to second, and he scored on E. McFarland's hit to left field. With one out in the fourth Williams singled, and only got as far as second on McFarland's long hit to left, which looked good for two bases. Ganzel popped up a foul fly, which was missed by Isbell, and the big first baseman then drove the ball to left, scoring Williams.

With McFarland on third and Ganzel on second, Howell could not find the ball, and O'Connor sent a fly to Green.

L. Tannehill's fumble in the eighth inning let Fultz reach first base. Then Williams sacrificed, and H. McFarland was thrown out at first. Ganzel hit to Callahan, who threw badly to Isbell, and Fultz scored the tying run.

In the tenth Hallman struck out. Callahan singled, and, after Isbell was dismissed by J. Tannehill and Ganzel, Magoon sent the ball over third base, scoring Callahan. The home team did not get a man as far as first base in the latter half of the extra inning. The score:

WASHINGTON, 5; CLEVELAND, 2.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Cleveland did the heavier batting to-day, but was unable to hit the ball fair with men on bases. Dorner pitched well, but the weak fielding behind him at critical times lost the game to Washington. Lajoie has been notified of his suspension for an indefinite period. Score by innings:

ST. LOUIS, 3; BOSTON, 2.

BOSTON, July 7.—The losing streak of the St. Louis team terminated to-day with a ninth-inning batting rally after two were out, which beat the home team. A pretty catch and throw home retired Boston with bases full in their half. The fielding was brilliant. Score by innings:

											R.	H.	E.

DETROIT, 8; PHILADELPHIA, 7.

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—A combination of hits and errors in the first three innings caused the local team's defeat to-day by Detroit. The champions rallied toward the end, and a hit in the ninth inning would have tied the score, but it was not forthcoming. Score by innings:

LANCASHIRE CRICKETERS OUT.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MANCHESTER, ENGLAND, July 7.—The cricket match between Philadelphia and Lancashire was continued here to-day, and when stumps were drawn this evening the visitors had decidedly the best of the contest. In their first innings they topped Lancashire's total of 158 by 29 runs through good contributions of F. H. Bohlen, R. D. Brown and P. H. Clark.

Lancashire then went in for the second attempt fully expecting to run up a big score, and P. MacLaren and Radcliffe made a good beginning; but J. B. King had one of his bowling streaks on, and the wickets soon began to yield to his accurate delivery with great regularity. Cuttell and Heap made a good stand, but the other men fell easy victims to the Belmont bowler who eventually was credited with 9 wickets for 62 runs. This splendid performance was made more remarkable from the fact that not one of the other five bowlers who were tried obtained a wicket.

With Lancashire's innings over for a total of 171, the Philadelphians began their second innings needing 143 runs to win. F. C. Sharpless and N. Z. Graves opened the batting and so well did the pair play that when play ceased for the day they had obtained 73 runs without the loss of a wicket. Graves hit vigorously for 43, while Sharpless played steadily for 21. The game will be resumed in the morning when the Philadelphians will need only 70 runs to win.

The score:

Plans for Racing at Buffalo.

The announcement, authorized by the officials of The Jockey Club, was made yesterday that all just claims made by horse owners who raced last season at the Kenilworth Park race meeting in Buffalo will be paid by the new owners of the Buffalo race track, which recently was bought by New York men interested in racing affairs and identified with The Jockey Club. The claims of horsemen against the property are chiefly for purses and stakes which were offered by the old management, but which were never paid. The claims, it was stated, will be settled in full by the new owners.

It also was said that there was a strong probability of a Summer meeting being held at the Buffalo course, as the new owners contemplate making application for dates for a three weeks' meeting, to follow the Saratoga Summer races.

BASEBALL UMPIRE ARRESTED.

During the seventh inning of the baseball game between the Greater New York and Chicago teams at American League Park yesterday Umpire John F. Sheridan rushed over toward the visiting players' bench and struck Rightfielder Green of the Chicago team across the head with his mask. Green retaliated by striking Sheridan with his fist, and a rough and tumble fight ensued. The spectators were astonished at the sudden and unexpected onslaught and many of them jumped from the stands and swarmed over to where the men were fighting. A riot seemed imminent, but Police Capt. Halpin, with some of his men, assisted by several players from both teams, quickly separated the men and cleared the diamond.

Capt. Halpin placed Sheridan under arrest immediately, but Green, whose head was bleeding from the blow, refused to make a complaint of assault against the umpire. The latter was taken from the grounds to the Thirty-third Precinct Station House and locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct. About an hour later he was released on bail furnished by President Joseph Gordon of the Greater New York Club.

The game had progressed very peaceably up to the seventh inning, in the first half of which Sheridan called Green out at first base, a very close, but eminently fair, decision. Green protested, and as he was walking toward the bench he stopped and talked loudly to Sheridan, whose decision he disputed. Sheridan ordered him out of the game. When Green reached the bench he continued to shout at the umpire, who took exception to some of the player's remarks, and rushed at him swinging his mask as he approached the bench. The fight and arrest followed.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

PETITIONS IN BANKRUPTCY.

JAMES FORD.—James Ford, a bartender, at 620 Eighth Avenue, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities $9,480 contracted in 1894 and no assets.

JOHN H. COLLINS.—Judge Adams of the United States District Court has appointed George H. Gilman, receiver of the assets of John H. Collins, restaurant, at 354½ Greenwich Street, who filed a petition in bankruptcy on Monday.

WILLIAM E. LOWN.—William E. Lown, promoter, of 50 Broadway, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $89,-849 and nominal assets $33,234, consisting of stocks of oil and mining companies $22,125, debts due $5,104, and office fixtures $20. Among the creditors are the estate of Gustave Roberts of Paris $12,246, Dexter O. Tiffany $6,016, Andrew Mills $5,000 secured, E. H. Grant $3,721 secured, and William Ives Washburn $3,468.

UNION MOLASSES COMPANY.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against the Union Molasses Company of 77 Pine Street by the following creditors: William S. Gray, $233; Olney & Warren, $686, and the Impervious Packing Company, $162. It was alleged that the company is insolvent and on June 1 transferred outstanding accounts to creditors, whose names are unknown, to prefer them. The company has a capital stock of $100,000, and was incorporated in May, 1900.

JOHN H. MUELLER.—Judge Adams of the United States District Court has appointed Edward G. Benedict receiver of the assets of John H. Mueller, dealer in masons' materials at One Hundred and Twenty-ninth Street and the Harlem River, against whom a petition in bankruptcy was filed on Monday and who was reported to have sold out his business on June 25 and gone to Denver, Col. It was stated that he left behind $15,000 in outstanding accounts. William E. Bruyn stated that he saw Mr. Mueller on July 4 at the Pennsylvania station in Jersey City on his way to Denver, and Mr. Mueller hoped to be able to arrange his business affairs from that point hereafter.

H. & B. SIROTTA.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Herman and Bernard Sirotta, doing business as H. & B. Sirotta, makers of fashion models, at 853 Broadway, by Abraham I. Spiro for the following creditors: David Proakey $1,054 and Meyer J. Lenkowsky $575. It was alleged that they are insolvent and have transferred money, merchandise, and accounts to the amount of $1,000. They have been in business since 1895, and up to December last were dealers in fashion journals, but since December have been making models for skirts and waists for dressmakers. In March last they claimed to have assets of $35,000 and practically no liabilities.

JOHN F. BAARS, JR.—John F. Baars, Jr., of 27 William Street, formerly a dealer in pine lands at Duluth, Minn., has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $370,550 and nominal assets of $1,166,665, most of which have been assigned or pledged. The debts were contracted some years ago, principally at Duluth, growing out of his dealings in pine lands and timber. Among the assets are 20,444 shares of stock of the Temperance River Silver and Copper Mining Company, par value $511,-100, and 400 shares of stock of the North Shore Silver and Copper Mining Company, par value $10,000, all of which stocks have been assigned to J. Frederic Baars, Sr., of Grand Rapids, Mich., a creditor for $52,808. Whatever interest the petitioner may have in 7,434 acres of pine lands in St. Louis County, Minn., transferred to Frederic W. Paine of Duluth to secure the petitioner's debts to Mr. Paine and the Security Bank of Duluth; present value of the tract, $500,-000; other pine lands, transferred to Mr. Paine, present value, $12,860; claim against the City of Duluth for $50,000, assigned to J. F. Baars, Sr.; also claims against various persons and money due him from many persons in small amounts. Among the secured creditors are the Security Bank of Duluth $42,655; Frederic W. Paine of Duluth, $9,779; Simeon Chapman of Chicago, $8,847; John Martin of Minneapolis, $106,-687; American Exchange Bank of Duluth, $2,304; E. T. Buxton, West Superior, Wis., $11,066, and Bank of Commerce, West Superior, $8,594.

THE FINANCIAL MARKETS

Money easy, 2½@4½ per cent.

So far as the general stock market was concerned yesterday it turned upon the cotton market as much as upon any one other thing, and, so far as any special movement was concerned, that in Steel was more important than anything else in a very dull session. The alternate strength and weakness in the cotton dealings had a double effect—they both attracted attention from stocks and exercised a more direct influence through consideration of the effects of the weakening of the cotton corner upon Stock Exchange business. It was argued that lower prices would stimulate exports of cotton, lessen exports of gold, promote resumption of work by some mills, and prevent stoppage by others, and release funds now tied up away from the money market—all of which are legitimate and favorable considerations, apart from the speculative situation in the cotton gamble. Nobody is competent to say just how matters stand in that respect without an inspection of accounts, but there is a general idea that the cornerers and their followers were engaged in a three-cornered competition with new bears to take profits at each other's expense. A competition in selling anything is obviously not well adapted to maintain prices, and the ebbing away of paper profits gives no regret to anybody except those undergoing the experience.

The weakness in the Steels is a singular commentary upon the cablegrams announcing placing of contracts for 50,000 tons in Germany. News like that antagonizes the idea of weakness in the steel market, and attests conditions in which the trust can earn its dividends if ever. The quarterly statement makes a bad comparison with last year, but a good comparison with 1901. The gain in June compared with 1902 approximately offset the loss in May, leaving most of the quarter's loss assignable to April alone, when conditions were known to be unfavorable without reference to the trust's specific business. To a certain extent the report lends itself to pessimist construction, but less so than when the iron trade and the trust securities were at higher prices. Much has been discounted in present quotations, the common yesterday getting below 30 again and the preferred tending toward 80. The dealings were very large for the day's business, about one-eighth of the total quarter million shares being supplied by Steel common alone.

Regarding the general run of business, it is enough to say that the changes were fractional and irregular for representative properties, larger fluctuations being confined to specialties or to exceptional and small business. In the bond market Standard Rope and Twine 6s sold from 50 to 45 and closed at the lowest, disregarding the statement that the approaching interest money was in bank. Steel 5s closed at 83, the day's best.

Imports and exports of gold being announced simultaneously about offset each other. Little attention was paid to excellent traffic statements or to crop news of encouraging tenor. The Government weather report makes the week the "most favorable of the season," and unofficial reports make the conditions for the harvest of Winter wheat "perfect." The produce markets were inconsistently strong, partly owing to survival of old fears, and in part perhaps to speculation resembling that in another market. Perhaps it is as well that stocks are stagnant under present conditions, but every day of inactivity under improving conditions makes more certain the inevitable response when the time is ripe—provided conditions do not change for the worse in the meantime.

FEATURES OF THE MARKET.

It was the belief in many parts of the Street after the close of business that the early advance in the market, and especially in the Granger stocks, had been engineered by Mr. Keene to permit of selling of the Steel Trust stocks, which in the final trading (after holding steady all day) gave way under the pressure of long stock. This device would be a simple one for Mr. Keene, and one of which in times past, in his capacity of syndicate manager, he has, it is understood, not been slow to take advantage—this in no small measure accounting for the handsome dividends paid by the Steel Trust syndicate. In respect to the Steel stocks it is pointed out that Mr. Keene plays, as it were, with marked cards. As syndicate manager he has been in the fortunate position of knowing in advance whether earnings would be good or bad, and whether developments within the company were to be favorable or otherwise. Thus he has been enabled systematically—for the benefit of himself and the syndicate, though at the expense of the public—to "milk" the stocks, pulling them now up, now down, as advance information might seem to warrant. While this has been profitable in one sense—to individuals—it has not been so from a strictly corporation standpoint, for undoubtedly this "milking" process has done as much as anything else to shake confidence in the shares, there being recognition that the stock market end of the syndicate has been almost too important for a purely industrial and commercial concern.

However all this be, it would seem that some big operator had advance information of what would be shown by yesterday's report, which was not published until after the close of the market. One broker alone sold 15,000 shares of Steel common stock, and another broker about 5,000—both of them ofttimes acting for Mr. Keene. Just previous to this selling, another broker prominent in the Metropolitan suit and lately very close to Mr. Keene went about the room rather ostentatiously bidding up stocks and giving the market an appearance of strength which late developments showed to be wholly artificial—as illustrated by the drop of 1⅜ points in Northwest and of 1 point in New York Central between sales. As for the Steel report itself, while the actual quarterly figures, standing alone, were perhaps no better nor worse than had been expected, yet in comparison with the quarterly figures a year ago they were regarded as disappointing, while for the half year the opinion was that they were distinctly bad. The only consolation believers in the stocks could find was that inasmuch as there had been syndicate selling in advance the syndicate might decide to support the stocks to-day. The common stock sold down over a point, to 29¾, closing at the lowest on dealings in 32,000 shares. Better support was extended the preferred, which was off only ⅝ on dealings in 7,000 shares.

Continued liquidation showed in Amalgamated Copper, though around 53 there seemed to be some support. It is said that a large stop loss order will be uncovered should the price touch 51¼. The talk is that an effort will be made to dislodge that stock.

The 6-point break in United States Cast Iron Pipe was on the selling of 400 shares of the stock, prompted, it is said, by the pending litigation in respect to the affairs of the company.

London did not trade in more than 5,000 shares in this market yesterday. These were said to be about evenly divided between purchases and sales and to have no other than a trading significance.

Stock covering was reported in Hocking Valley, while long stock came out in the Eries on failure of confirmation of the report of probable dividend action on the second preferred stock to-day.

THE MARKET'S NARROWNESS.

As an evidence of the market's narrowness, despite the somewhat greater activity than on the day previous, it is interesting to note that five stocks—Steel, Copper, Atchison, Missouri Pacific, and Pennsylvania—contributed one-half of the entire transactions, while but three other stocks—Reading, St. Paul, and Union Pacific—in addition to those already mentioned, were traded in to the extent of 10,000 shares or more each.

The morning session was especially dull—so strikingly so that up to 11:30 o'clock not a share had been traded in of such ordinarily active stocks as Car and Foundry, Alton, Smelters, Colorado Fuel, Chesapeake, Hocking Valley, Illinois Central, Delaware and Hudson, Louisville, Leather, Metropolitan, Central, People's Gas, Texas Pacific, Tennessee Coal, Wabash, and 'Frisco.

BANKERS FAVOR DULLNESS.

Banking interests continue firm in their expression of opinion that, in view of the uncertain money market and crop conditions, the present dullness in the market is eminently to be desired. This, they declare, is normally a waiting time, and there is no wish to have a repetition of last Summer's ill-timed, ill-advised upward movement.

As bearing upon the crop uncertainty, the Iowa State report, published yesterday, and supplementing other State reports of a similar tenor, was cited as showing the necessity for conservatism at present. This made the condition of Iowa Spring wheat 88 per cent., against 97 last year; corn, 77, against 92, and oats, 87, against 95. The decrease in corn area is 13 per cent.

FROM STOCKS TO GRAIN.

It is no exaggeration to say that at no time within the past half dozen years have brokers generally been complaining so bitterly as they now are of poor business. In times past even in periods of extreme dullness there has always been a little commission house activity at least, with the public willing once in a while to "nibble." Now, however, there is absolutely no outside business. Brokers' offices are deserted, nor does there seem to be any chance of attracting the public in, whatever the device. The lambs have been sheared once too often; the promoters and speculators have finally overreached themselves.

It probably is a realization of this fact that is now prompting many Stock Exchange operators to turn their attention to the grain markets and let the stock market take care of itself. If not in stocks, then perhaps in grain can public interest be aroused—this is the argument and this one explanation of the present activity in the grain markets. It remains to be seen what the response will be.

MR. GOULD'S DENIAL.

The early advance in Pennsylvania and the Gould stocks was on the published report (by way of Boston) that all matters in dispute between Gould and Pennsylvania interests had been settled.

Mr. George Gould, seen in the matter, said: "I have not heard a word about it."

Another Gould interest said: "There is nothing to settle. We are going into Pittsburg, and that's all there is about it."

In the Missouri Pacific movement an effort was made to create the impression that John D. Rockefeller was interested in it. Close business associates deny this and say it is absurd.

MANY CLERKS DISCHARGED.

As a result of the continuing market dullness many brokers and commission houses have been obliged to reduce their clerical forces. Almost every important office has dispensed in the past few weeks with the services of from two to five clerks each, with the result that "skilled" labor in Wall Street is now at a discount, whereas in the big bull market where clerks were working day and night it was at a premium.

The brokers, it need hardly be said, regret the present necessity of discharging these clerks, but with no business doing they say there is no other alternative—unless, indeed, to go ahead losing money, with expenses greater than receipts.

BUFFALO AND SUSQUEHANNA.

To stockholders of the Buffalo and Susquehanna Railway Company Fisk & Robinson forwarded the following notice yesterday:

Under the terms of our contract covering our purchase of Buffalo and Susquehanna Railway Company stock we have received a payment of five-eighths of 1 per cent. on the par value thereof. We accordingly inclose herewith our check for the pro rata amount due on the stock standing in your name on June 30.

The Buffalo and Susquehanna Railway Company was organized Sept. 22, 1902, to extend the line of the Buffalo and Susquehanna Railroad Company from Wellsville, N. Y., to Buffalo, N. Y., a distance of eighty-four miles. This extension is now in course of construction, and should be in operation next Summer. Upon the completion of its line the railway company will lease the lines of the railroad company for 999 years for interest on the latter's bonds and a guaranteed dividend of 4 per cent. per annum on its preferred stock.

The Buffalo and Susquehanna Railway Company owns the capital stock of the railroad company, which pays regular dividends at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum. This stock has been deposited with the United States Trust Company, as additional security for the railway company's bonds.

SAN PEDRO BOND ISSUE.

The San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad Company has executed a mortgage to the Equitable Trust Company of New York as trustee under a first mortgage, or deed of trust, dated July 1, 1903, authorizing an issue of $50,000,000 4 per cent. fifty-year gold bonds, payable Jan. 1 and July 1.

Announcement was made yesterday that the formal transfer of the Caliente Branch of the Oregon Short Line to the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad had been made. The amount of cash involved was about $11,000,000. This sum of money was raised by Senator Clarke and his personal friends. The transfer was made at the office of the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

ROPE AND TWINE ISSUES.

The decided weakness in the Standard Rope and Twine issues—the first mortgage 6s being down 9 per cent—was accompanied by reports of poor business and by some suggestions of a probable default in the interest in the mortgage 6s.

No official statement in respect to the affairs of the company was obtained, but one of the Wall Street news agencies, apropos of the report that the interest on the 6s, due Aug. 1, will not be paid, put out this statement, understood to have been semi-officially inspired:

"Representatives of the company are reticent, when approached for information on this point. A prominent representative of the company states that the company has nothing to give out for publication on this matter. It is understood, however, that the money for meeting this fixed charge is on deposit with the Manhattan Trust Company. It is understood also that inside interests were pretty heavy purchasers of the bonds some months ago, and that they have not parted with these holdings. The same interests are said to have been purchasers of the stock to-day."

Pennsylvania's New Stock.

In connection with the announcement by the Pennsylvania Railroad that the new stock for the full-paid subscriptions would be ready for issue after July 15, it was learned yesterday that of the $75,000,000 of stock offered for subscription about $74,800,000 were paid for in full. The stock under the offer was not to be issued until after Aug. 27, as it was not anticipated that so many persons would pay their subscriptions in full, since the last installment would not have fallen due until Jan. 25, 1904.

British Trade in June.

LONDON, July 7.—The June statement of the Board of Trade shows increases of $3,151,000 in imports and $5,098,000 in exports.

GENERAL BUSINESS ITEMS.

A Director and leading official of the Canadian Pacific Railway quoted from Montreal as saying that the fiscal year which closed Friday, July 3, was by far the most successful in the history of the company.

Statement that Erie Canal tonnage for June, 1903, was greater than in any June since 1892.

Capital stock of the Ohio River and Columbus Railway increased from $10,000 to $1,000,000.

THE LONDON MARKET.

LONDON TIMES—NEW YORK TIMES Special Cablegram.

LONDON, July 8.—The Times in its City article to-day says that there was a fair demand for money yesterday. The repayment of the very large amount due the Bank of England made the rate short and advances rather firmer. Discount quotations were hardly altered.

The Bank reported the withdrawal of 10,000 sovereigns for South America. The Stock Exchange was quiet; in most departments the tone was good. Consols were a quarter up, to 92⅝ cash and 92 13-16 on account.

Home railroad shares were fairly brisk. American railroad issues at first were generally lower; subsequently there were some advances, closing irregular. Foreigners were dull.

The general mining market was chiefly occupied with contango business. South Africans were firmer. Bar silver was unaltered, 24⅝ spot, 24⅛ forward.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, July 7.—The release of dividends increased the supply of money in the market to-day. Discounts were steadier on the weakness of foreign exchanges and a better supply of bills.

Operators on the Stock Exchange were idle, but prices were steady. Consols were quietly supported and closed higher. Home rails were fairly cheerful on the strength of investment buying. Americans opened irregular, with little doing, hardened late in the afternoon and closed firm. Dealers in Kafirs were occupied with the carry-over.

Closing prices: Consols for money, 92⅝; Consols for account, 92 13-16; Anaconda, 4¼; Atchison, 69⅞; Atchison, pf., 95¼; Baltimore and Ohio, 88¼; Canadian Pacific, 127⅞; Chesapeake and Ohio, 39¼; Chicago Great Western, 19½; Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, 154⅜; De Beers, 20¼; Denver and Rio Grande, 29¼; Denver and Rio Grande pf., 85¼; Erie, 34⅝; Erie first pf., 69⅝; Erie second pf., 58¼; Illinois Central, 137; Louisville and Nashville, 113⅝; Missouri, Kansas and Texas, 22½; New York Central, 131¼; Norfolk and Western, 68⅝; Norfolk and Western pf., 92; Ontario and Western, 26⅝; Pennsylvania, 64⅝; Rand Mines, 10¼; Reading, 26⅝; Reading first pf., 42; Reading second pf., 35¼; Southern Railway, 24⅝; Southern Railway pf., 90¼; Southern Pacific, 50⅞; Union Pacific, 83⅜; Union Pacific pf., 90¼; United States Steel, 31¼; United States Steel pf., 83¼; Wabash, 25; Wabash pf., 45¼.

Bar silver steady, 24⅝d per ounce.

Money, 1@1½ per cent.; rate of discount in the open market for short bills, 2¼@2 3-16 per cent.; rate of discount in the open market for three months' bills, 2 3-16@2¼ per cent.

Bullion amounting to £10,000 was withdrawn from the Bank of England to-day for shipment to South America.

In Continental Centres.

PARIS, July 7.—Business on the Bourse to-day was animated. Prices at the opening were well sustained, but later they became heavier and inactive and ended hesitatingly. Rentes were firm and Foreigners were heavy. Rio Tintos lost two points.

The private rate of discount was 2 11-16 per cent.

Three per cent. rentes 97f. 80c. for the account. Exchange on London, 25f. 12½c. for checks.

BERLIN, July 7.—Quotations were maintained on the Boerse to-day, and trading was extremely light. Home railroads were stagnant. Canadians were slightly higher. Exchange on London, 20 marks 38½ pfennigs for checks. Discount rates—Short bills, 3½ per cent.; three months' bills, 2⅞ per cent.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, July 7.—The money market is gradually working easier, but no appreciable change is yet noted in rates. Call loans, 3½@4 per cent.; time loans on collateral, 5 per cent.; time loans on mercantile paper, 5½ per cent.; Clearing House loans, 3 per cent.; New York funds, par @5c premium; clearings, $25,470,652; balances, $1,488,524. The foreign exchange market is steady and dull.

The stock market was rather tame again to-day. Business was very quiet. Prices were irregular, but they did not move far in either direction. The Dominion securities continued to be the feature. Both Coal and Iron and Steel were strong. The demand for these stocks was almost entirely from Canada. Telephone was fairly active and several thousand rights were sold. The coppers were very dull and rather heavy. American Pneumatic Service was manipulated a little.

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—The local issues were devoid of feature to-day, the only activity displayed being in the arbitrage stocks. Prices were inclined to sag, but the bear element was not aggressive and net losses for the day did not exceed small fractions, the largest decline being ⅜ in Consolidated Lake Superior preferred. There was no development regarding the company's loans, but Directors spoke hopefully and said that Speyer & Co. would not foreclose on July 15, if the loans should not be paid by that time. Official denial was made that another assessment will be called on Philadelphia Rapid Transit stock this year. The feeling here is that the proposed Asphalt suits are a friendly affair brought to head off real opponents of the company's management and promoters. Total sales, 18,988 shares and $38,000 bonds. OUTSIDE SECURITIES.

While showing some improvement over Monday's market, the trading in the outside market yesterday was still on a very small scale. Price movements were irregular, but those which attracted most attention were those which appeared on the side of net losses. The number of issues dealt in was somewhat larger than on the previous day, and among the stocks which contributed to the day's business were some which recently had been very inactive. In spite of the dullness which has prevailed in the market for so long, efforts have recently been made to establish markets for new stocks, some of which already have a market in other cities. Among the latter is Pneumatic Tool, which within the last few weeks has been among the stocks quoted on the curb. This, the most recent of the Chicago stocks to be brought to New York, has not yet shown much activity, but it is stated that an effort will be made to give the stock a well-established market in this city.

INTERNATIONAL MERCANTILE MARINE was more active than most other stocks in the list, and at the same time made itself conspicuous by declining to 4¾, the lowest price on record. While the preferred stock was not dealt in, it shared the weakness displayed by the common, inasmuch as it was offered at 23½, with no better bid than 18. The lowest price at which the preferred stock has thus far sold is 24.

AMERICAN CAN was dull but firm. The Street is again discussing the question of the first dividend on the preferred stock, but no definite time is yet named for the first dividend payment. In some quarters it is stated that there is no likelihood of a dividend for some months to come.

The principal transactions reported in the outside market yesterday, with high, low, and last prices, were as follows:

Copete Mining Co.
27 William Street, New York.
CAPITAL STOCK, - $5,000,000
Par Value of Shares, $5.
More than forty-five per cent. of the stock is in the Treasury.

The properties of this company at El Copete, Sonora, Mexico, are pronounced by experts of world-wide reputation to be among the richest and most valuable copper properties of North America. They are rich in gold as well as copper, and the ores exist in almost inexhaustible profusion.

Prof. Robert T. Hill, late of the United States Geological Survey, who has carefully examined the property, says:

"I have seen many mines in my life, but never one which showed such rich and satisfactory deposits of ore."

Prof. George A. Treadwell, a metallurgist of distinguished reputation in Europe as well as in America, who has also repeatedly examined the property, says:

"I think it will be another United Verde."

The mines have also been strongly recommended by the many experts who have examined them, including Mr. Seymour W. Tulloch, C. E., Washington, D. C.; Mr. George Mitchell, formerly of the United Verde and the Greene Consolidated, and Mr. Erwin D. Treadwell of the George A. Treadwell Mining Company.

A large amount of development work has been done on the property, and 500 feet in depth reached. A first-class 200-ton smelter has been erected and successfully installed, producing during a short run something over $100,000. A water system, including four miles of heavy piping, has also been installed, and the necessary buildings erected and machinery put up, all of first quality and in every way suitable to the company's operations.

A portion of the Treasury stock is offered for sale—to complete the development and equipment of the property—now for a short time only at $2.50 a share.

Make checks payable to the order of the company and send to 27 William Street, New York.

MYRA B. MARTIN, Assistant Secretary.

WEATHER BUREAU CROP REPORT.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The Weather Bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions is as follows:

The week ended July 6 was the most favorable of the season, giving ample and much-needed heat in all districts east of the Rocky Mountains. Drought in the northern portion of the Spring wheat region has been relieved, but need of rain is beginning to be felt in the Ohio Valley, portions of the Central Gulf States, and in Western Texas. In the Central and Northern Rocky Mountain districts and on the North Pacific Coast it has been too cool, frost, more or less damaging, occurring from the 2d to the 4th in Idaho, Wyoming, and Utah.

Under the very favorable temperature conditions corn has made rapid advancement in the central valleys, and is now greatly improved and generally well cultivated. In the northern portion of the Middle Atlantic States, in the Upper Ohio Valley, lake region, and the Dakotas the crop continues backward, but is improving, though needing cultivation in many parts of these districts. In the Southern States corn is largely laid by, an unusually fine crop being practically assured in the West Gulf districts.

Harvesting of Winter wheat has progressed under favorable conditions, and is nearing completion in portions of the central districts. Thrashing is also in general progress, with yields lighter than anticipated in nearly all districts. Winter wheat is now ripening on the North Pacific Coast, the crop being practically safe in Washington. High winds and excessive heat have caused injury in California in some sections, but excellent yields are reported from the southern part of the State.

Early Spring wheat has sustained permanent injury in portions of North Dakota and Northern Minnesota from drought, which has been broken by abundant rains that were of great benefit to the late crop. In Southern Minnesota and parts of South Dakota lodging and rust are reported. In Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, and Kansas, and on the North Pacific Coast the crop is progressing satisfactorily. Spring wheat is now heading in the Dakotas.

The outlook for oats in Minnesota and South Dakota is improved, and the crop continues generally promising in the States of the Missouri and Upper Mississippi Valleys. A light crop, however, is indicated in the Ohio Valley and portions of Illinois and Southern Missouri.

Cotton has made rapid growth throughout the cotton belt, an improvement being shown in all districts, the reports from the Carolinas and Georgia indicating the most decided advancement. Wet weather has, however, been unfavorable in portions of Louisiana and Texas, where the crop is grassy, being quite foul in Northern Texas, in which State boll weevil is causing considerable damage and continues to increase.

In the most important tobacco States tobacco has made fine growth, the condition of the crop being very promising, except in Southwestern Ohio, where rain is needed, and in Pennsylvania, where slow growth is reported. Cutting and curing continue in the Carolinas.

The outlook for apples appears to be somewhat more promising in the Ohio Valley and portions of the Middle Atlantic States, and fair to good crops are indicated in Michigan, Tennessee, and Iowa. Poor prospects are reported from Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois, and West Virginia, and in New York the outlook is less favorable.

In the Missouri and Upper Mississippi Valleys an excellent crop of hay is being secured, and further improvement in the condition of the crop is reported from New England and the Middle Atlantic States. In the last-named district, however, and in Minnesota haying has been retarded by rains, which caused some damage in Pennsylvania and Maryland.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Large Water Front Parcel on the North River Sold—Justice Dugro Buys Madison Avenue Hotel at Auction.

Mrs. Mary A. Ryan has sold the property at the northwest corner of Twelfth Avenue and Forty-ninth Street, a plot 117 by 150, within the bulkhead line, together with the abutting land under water, 117 by 528, extending to the westerly side of Thirteenth Avenue, as proposed. Mrs. Ryan bought the parcel from Edwin A. Johnson in 1901.

Charles Rubinger & Co. have sold for Weil & Mayer 1,751 and 1,753 First Avenue, corner of Ninety-first Street, two five-story double tenements, on plot 50 by 100; also, 354 and 356 East Ninety-first Street, two five-story double tenements, on plot 50 by 100.

Richard V. Harnett & Co., through Edward L. King, have sold for Tekulsky Brothers 245 and 249 West One Hundred and Fifteenth Street, two five-story flats, each 25 by 100.

J. Powel & Co. and Adler & Potsdam have sold for Charles Wynne to Philip Ritter the five-story double flat 287 West One Hundred and Fortieth Street, 25 by 99.11.

Porter & Co. have sold for the estate of F. C. Havemeyer to Walter J. Bean the two dwellings 17 and 19 West One Hundred and Thirty-fourth Street, each 18 by 100.

Alfred Hutter has sold for Frank Mosner 165 West End Avenue, a five-story flat, with stores, on lot 25 by 100.

Henry D. Winans & May have sold for Mrs. Anna C. Hull the four-story dwelling 52 West Fiftieth Street, 20 by 100.5, Columbia College leasehold. The buyer will occupy the house after it has been extensively altered.

Louis Lese has resold, through Robinson & Co., to Max Fertig 521 Grand Street, running through to 223 Henry Street, a five-story tenement, on lot 25 by 60.5 and irregular.

Louis Lese has bought the following properties: The northeast corner of Park Avenue and One Hundred and Fifteenth Street, four frame dwellings, on plot 75 by 72; 69 East Ninety-ninth Street, two five-story flats, on plot 50 by 100.11; 172 East One Hundred and Sixth Street, a five-story flat, 25 by 100.11; 449 East One Hundred and Twenty-second Street, a three-story brick dwelling, on lot 25 by 100.11, and 84 East One Hundred and Seventh Street, adjoining the southwest corner of Park Avenue, a five-story flat, 25 by 75.11.

Louis Frankel has sold for the Borough Realty Company to Samuel Solomon 1,515 Brook Avenue, a four-story triple flat, 100 by 40.

The property 61 West Twenty-second Street has been leased by William F. Hencken and others to James McCreery & Co. for fifteen years at an annual rental of $7,200.

Pease & Elliman have leased for J. Henry Alexandre to A. W. Tilman of Denver, Col., the four-story dwelling 10 West Thirty-second Street.

The Auction Room.

The monotony of buying by plaintiffs in the salesroom was broken yesterday when Justice P. Henry Dugro purchased, for $489,000, the twelve-story hotel at the southwest corner of Madison Avenue and Twenty-ninth Street, sold under foreclosure by Auctioneer Joseph P. Day. Justice Dugro had no previous interest in the property, and the sale was one of very few recent instances in which a parcel of large value, under foreclosure, has been bought by anybody except one of the mortgagees. The hotel is a thoroughly modern structure completed only last year. It covers a plot 74.1 by 95, which was formerly the site of Scottish Rite Hall, and was built by Maitland E. Graves, who was the defendant in the foreclosure proceedings. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company was plaintiff and the amount due on judgment about $435,000.

Other auction offerings yesterday resulted as follows:

By Joseph P. Day.

2,063 Arthur Avenue, northwest side, 348.2 feet southwest of Samuel Street, 47.6 by 18.2, vacant; foreclosure sale, to the plaintiff, the Twelfth Ward Bank ... $2,800

By Samuel Goldsticker.

Lenox Avenue, southeast corner of One Hundred and Nineteenth Street, 100.11 by 65, eight-story brick apartment house; foreclosure sale, to the plaintiff, the Batavia and New York Woodworking Company ... 240,110

By Bryan L. Kennelly.

25 and 27 West One Hundred and Thirty-fourth Street, north side, 221.3 feet west of Fifth Avenue, each 17.10 by 99.11, two four-story brick tenements, with stores; foreclosure sale, to the plaintiff, Frank Russak ... 12,000

By McVickar Realty Trust Co.

221 West One Hundred and Thirty-third Street, north side, 240 feet west of Seventh Avenue, 20 by 99.11, five-story brick tenement; foreclosure sale, to the plaintiff, Ann Bussing ... 12,000

To-day's Auction Sales.

The following sales at auction are down for to-day at 161 Broadway:

NOTES OF INSURANCE INTERESTS.

The Columbian National Life Insurance Company of Boston has been licensed to conduct life underwriting operations in the State of Ohio.

The fire losses during the month of June in the United States and Canada are estimated to have aggregated nearly $14,800,000, as against $10,300,000 in June, 1902, and $9,500,000 in June, 1901. Despite the increase of nearly $4,500,000 in June losses, the total for the first six months of this year is about $83,900,000, as against $87,000,000 during the first half of last year and $83,900,000 during the corresponding period of 1901. Insurance premium receipts are larger because of the general increases in rates throughout most of the country. On the other hand, the drop in stock market values of securities held by the companies tends to offset underwriting gains in the shortly forthcoming semi-annual statements of such companies as do business in Georgia, where reports as of June 30 are required.

COTTON.—The opening was weak at an advance of 2 points to a decline of 7 points. The advance was confined to August, and almost immediately this option, in common with the rest of the list, became sensationally weak in common with the rest of the list under active selling for both accounts. Wall Street was an especially heavy seller, and August showed particular weakness. It had opened at 11.63, but was very soon forced down to 11.12, while July, opening at 11.75 and selling at 11.60 on the call, was next reported at 11.50. September, opening at 10.68, sold down to 10.49 without any apparent pause, and the balance of the list ruled quite as weak, though moving within a narrower range. From this level, which occurred in the first twenty minutes, the market was rallied slightly under buying by a local commission house, who were credited with taking some 20,000 bales of August for the account of the New Orleans pool, and which advanced that option about 30 points from the lowest. The improvement was of but short duration, however, and was followed by another sharp break, which left midday prices at the lowest level of the session, showing a net loss of 25@31 points. The list was finally steady, net 12 to 36 points lower. Sales were estimated at 500,000 bales.

Contract prices ranged as follows:

BREADSTUFFS.—WHEAT.—Even bulls themselves were surprised at the extent of yesterday's advance in the wheat markets of the country in view of the splendid weather all through the West. Locally the full advance amounted to 1@1¼c on futures, last prices being top for the day. To a great extent demand most of the day came from outside sources, the country evidently being impressed with the poor thrashing returns and hot weather in the Northwest, although some advices intimated that the latter might be modified somewhat during the night by showers. In a general way the weekly Government crop bulletin was bullish. Quotations of cash wheat, free on board afloat basis, were as follows: No. 1 Northern, Duluth, 94¼c, and No. 1 Northern, Chicago, 90¼c, all to arrive; No. 2 red, New York, 87¼c, nominal.

ST. LOUIS, July 7.—Close: Wheat, No. 2 red, cash, 77¼c; July, 77¼c; September, 76c; December, 76¾c; No. 2 hard, 72@80c. Corn—No. 2 cash, 49¼c; July, 49¼c; September, 51¼c. Oats—No. 2 cash, 38¼c; September, 34¼c; No. 2 white, 45c.

MILWAUKEE, July 7.—Wheat, 1c higher. Close: No. 1 Northern, 88½c; No. 2 Northern, 87@87½c; September new, 77¾c. Rye higher; No. 1, 55c. Barley—No. 2, 58@60c; sample, 45@53c. Corn—September, 52½@52¾c.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 7.—Close: Wheat, cash, 86¾c; July, 85c; September, 76¼c; No. 1 hard, 87¾c; No. 1 Northern, 86¼c; No. 2 Northern, 85¼c; No. 3 Northern, 82@83c.

DULUTH, Minn., July 7.—Close: Wheat, to arrive, No. 1 hard, 87c; No. 1 Northern, 85¼c; No. 2 Northern, 84c; July, 85¼c; September, 77¾c; December, 76¼c.

FLOUR AND MEAL.—Spring patents, $4.50@4.75; Winter straights, $3.65@3.85; Winter patents, $3.90@4.20; Spring clears, $3.55@3.75; extra No. 1 Winter, $3.10@3.20; extra No. 2 Winter, $2.90@3; red dog, $23.50@24.50, to arrive. RYE FLOUR—Fair to good, $3@3.35; choice to fancy, $3.40@3.60. CORNMEAL—Kiln-dried, $3.15@3.20, as to brand. BAG MEAL—Fine white and yellow, $1.45@1.50; coarse, $1.12@1.14. FEED—Spring bran, spot, $19; sacks, to arrive, 200 lb, prompt, $18.50; Spring bran, middling, $19@22; in 200-lb sacks; city feed, $20; linseed oil cake, $27; hominy chop, $21, bulk, $21.75, sacks, to arrive; oil meal, $25.50.

BUILDING UNIONS VOTING

Painters and Tile Layers Ratify Arbitration Plan.

Employers' Board Expect to Consider the Resumption of Work in Many Trades To-morrow Afternoon.

In spite of the opposition of the Board of Building Trades, the indications yesterday were that in a week work would be resumed on the buildings throughout the Greater New York. Some of the more aggressive members of the unions, it was said yesterday, may delay matters a little by fighting the arbitration agreement of the Employers' Association, but the general membership of the unions is anxious to return to work on any reasonable basis, as they have gained the most important point, the recognition of the union.

The Amalgamated Painters' Society and the Tile Layers' Union yesterday morning sent notifications to the Building Trades Employers' Association under the seal of their unions that they had accepted the plan. The Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers' Union has indorsed the arbitration agreement of the George A. Fuller Company, but also accepted the plan of the Employers' Association provisionally. This union was represented unofficially at the conference with the employers on Friday evening, but will send a committee of three to the employers to-morrow to propose acceptance of its plan subject to some slight modifications.

According to members of the Employers' Association, the two plans do not conflict, as the Fuller Company is not a member of the Employers' Association, and those working for the Fuller Company and the Employers' Association can work under the separate plans. Both recognize the union, which means the granting of union wages and conditions. The following statement was made by a member of the Press Committee of the Employers' Association:

"In all probability by Thursday enough acceptances of the plan will be received to justify the resumption of work, and I am reasonably certain that by Monday, if not sooner, work will be generally resumed by most of the trades. In the original plan the idea was that work would be resumed trade by trade as the unions accepted the plan. Since the Civic Federation took a hand in the matter, however, our plans are necessarily changed, and work will be resumed when a reasonable number of unions have accepted the plan. As to the acceptance of the Fuller plan by the people who are employed by the Fuller Company, we have nothing to do with that, as the Fuller Company is not represented in our association."

The question of resuming work will be seriously considered by the Board of Governors of the Employers' Association to-morrow afternoon. Over 125,000 persons are said to be idle, 90 per cent. of whom are reported to be anxious to go to work as soon as their respective unions allow them to do so. Some of the men are nearly desperate, it was said last night, and if the shut-down lasted two weeks longer their credit bills with the small grocers and the workingmen's districts would have either to be cut off or many of the grocers might be embarrassed.

ATTACHMENT AGAINST A BROKER.

Ware & Leland Bring Action Against Sigmund Goldberg.

Deputy Sheriff Cronin yesterday received an attachment for $25,000 against Sigmund Goldberg, a stock broker at 60 Broadway, in favor of Frank J. Fahey, on an assigned claim of Ware & Leland, brokers, of 49 Wall Street and Chicago, for the amount due on various stocks held by Mr. Goldberg for Ware & Leland.

It was alleged that on July 6 Ware & Leland tendered Mr. Goldberg $80,000, making a demand for the stocks. Mr. Goldberg informed Mr. Leland that he had transferred on July 1 some of the stocks to his wife, father-in-law, and sister-in-law. The stocks claimed by Ware & Leland were valued at $105,000, and the difference between that amount and $80,000 is sued for. The Sheriff put a keeper in Mr. Goldberg's office. He has been a member of the Consolidated Exchange since January, 1901.

Platzek & Stroock, attorneys for Mr. Goldberg, said that he had a wire business with Ware & Leland. The latter firm called on him for a large amount of stocks, and upon going over his books he discovered a discrepancy, the result of an embezzlement. He told the circumstances to Ware & Leland, and he asserts they said they would take up the stocks and make an adjustment with him, by which he gave them a demand note for $24,000 for the market difference and $4,000 cash, with the understanding that it was a complete settlement of the whole transaction. Subsequently they declined to take up the stocks, and offered the settlement note of $24,000 back, but not the whole sum necessary to take up the stocks. The suit will be defended.

PREACHING IN THE STREETS.

Ordinance Introduced Lessening Restrictions on Outdoor Evangelism.

During the proceedings of the Board of Aldermen yesterday an ordinance, drafted by Alderman Parsons, was introduced with a view to lessening the restrictions against street preaching. It was referred to the Committee on Laws and Legislation. Under the present law, which applies to Manhattan and the Bronx, a permit to preach in the street may be issued only to clergymen, and must specify the place at which the preaching may be conducted. Only one place may be named.

Under the Parsons ordinance, which applies to the entire city, the permit may cover any number of places, so long as they are specified, and may be issued to any one —lay reader, minister, or missionary—who feels called upon to preach on the streets and who is indorsed by any recognized religious society or clergyman. Such a permit may be issued by the Mayor, the Commissioner of Police, or by a member of the Board of Aldermen. Accompanying the resolution was a petition signed by 800 clergymen of this city, all of the Protestant faith, indorsing it.

By a unanimous vote, the board adopted the report of the Finance Committee approving the issue of $648,000 corporate stock for public baths in Manhattan.

TO TEST RACING LAW.

Police Officer in Charge at Race Track May Be Arrested To-day.

Lawyer Benjamin Steinhardt, after an hour's conference with Deputy Commissioner Ebstein at Police Headquarters, yesterday afternoon announced that he would obtain evidence of gambling at the Brighton Beach race track opening to-day, and with that evidence would obtain a warrant for the police officer in charge of the police there on a complaint of neglect of duty in failing to suppress gambling, and also for permitting the traffic in liquor in a place where gambling exists.

Deputy Commissioner Ebstein when seen after Mr. Steinhardt's visit said that he and the lawyer had gone carefully over the letter containing Corporation Counsel Rives's opinion and the race track situation in general, and he had decided to refer the whole matter back to Mr. Rives.

Mr. Steinhardt's attempt to arrest a police officer in connection with the gambling will be made as a test case to determine whether or not the police are responsible for gambling in the form which it now takes on metropolitan race courses.

St. John's Guild Begins Season.

The first trip of the twenty-eighth season of the St. John's Guild Floating Hospital took place yesterday. The boat left the foot of West Fiftieth Street, with 836 people on board, of which 75 were babies. The boat also made stops at West Thirty-fifth Street and West Tenth Street, where about 600 more adults and children were taken on board. The boat proceeded down the bay, and off New Dorp landed whatever children were very ill, where they were taken to the Seaside Hospital of the guild. The guild will only operate one boat this year, owing to lack of sufficient funds.

DRESSER UNABLE TO SETTLE.

Does Not Deposit the Promised $850,000 for Creditors—May Settle at 25 Cents on the Dollar.

It was announced yesterday that D. Le Roy Dresser of Dresser & Co., commission merchants in hosiery, silks, and webbing at 15 and 17 Greene Street, which firm made an assignment and was put into bankruptcy on March 7, was unable to carry out the arrangement proposed on April 8 to his creditors for a settlement in full by depositing $850,000 within ninety days with the Knickerbocker Trust Company. Morris J. Hirsch, attorney for Mr. Dresser, made the following explanation:

"The proposed adjustment of the affairs of Dresser & Co., being outside of the pending proceedings in bankruptcy, required the assent of each and every creditor. As several of the creditors have withheld their signatures and as serious complications have recently arisen by reason of matters relating to Mr. Dresser's association with the Trust Company of the Republic and the United States Shipbuilding Company, and also by reason of the decline and value of collateral held by some of the secured creditors, thereby increasing the amount of the unsecured liabilities, it has been concluded that an order of adjudication in bankruptcy be entered, and that the settlement now take the form of a composition in those proceedings. Meanwhile the receivers will remain in possession of the assets."

Mr. Hirsch said that some merchandise held as security, amount to a very large amount of money, in which there was a margin at cost of 20 per cent., was disposed of by the creditors holding the same, wiping out the margin and leaving a deficiency of 40 to 60 per cent. The stock of the Trust Company of the Republic, amounting to several hundred shares, and which was held by some of his creditors as collateral, worth over par at the time of the failure, has since depreciated to less than 50. So with the securities of the United States Shipbuilding Company held as collateral, which are practically now without a market. Creditors who were supposed to be amply secured have since turned out to be unsecured creditors, and the amount of money necessary to be raised proved to be so much larger than expected that Mr. Dresser could not raise it. What the amount of the composition will be Mr. Hirsch could not say at present, but others who are familiar with the affairs of Dresser & Co. are under the impression that it will be about 25 cents on the dollar.

G. A. KOLB DIES SUDDENLY.

Leader of Marine Engineers' Strike Expires in Peculiar Manner—Had Suffered Mentally.

George A. Kolb, for some time Business Agent and General Manager of the Marine Engineers' Benevolent Association, was found dead in bed at his home, 321 East Thirty-fifth Street, early yesterday morning by his wife.

Early in May Mr. Kolb came into sudden prominence by reason of the strike of the Marine Engineers. At that time the strike had been started but a short time, and Mr. Kolb, holding the position he did, was the man to settle the strike. On May 4 he disappeared. Vain search was made for him in various places. About two weeks afterward he was found in San Francisco. He appeared to be in his right mind, but said how he got to San Francisco and his subsequent stay there was a blank.

After his return from San Francisco Kolb, with his wife and attending physicians, went to Groton, Conn., for rest. He appeared to recuperate considerably and returned to New York on June 28, and started in to work to settle the strike which is still on.

Mrs. Kolb said yesterday that Kolb since his return had appeared to worry greatly over the strike and had devoted his entire time trying to settle it. Early Monday morning, about 4:30 o'clock, he became suddenly ill. He was very nervous during Monday night, and his wife lay awake by his side for hours watching him. She dozed off early yesterday morning, however. About 4:30 o'clock she awoke and was surprised to find her husband exceedingly quiet. She investigated, and found he was dead.

Mrs. Kolb said she believed that Kolb had died of heart failure. She believed that death was really caused by worry over the strike.

At the headquarters of the Marine Engineers' Benevolent Association, 283 Hudson Street, Secretary Murphy said: "Mr. Kolb has been here every day since he came back from California. He has complained all along of not feeling well. He kept insisting that he had been struck on his head and ever since he returned has seemed to be dazed. His accounts and affairs with the association are all right."

CUPID MAY OUST A RABBI.

Mr. Luebke's Son Insists on Marrying Out of the Faith and Congregation Threatens to Depose Father.

The courtship of Kate Eichholz, a daughter of Mrs. Emma Eichholz of 90 Newell Street, Greenpoint, and Jacob Luebke, a son of Rabbi Morris Luebke, who has charge of the Synagogue of the Congregation Shaari-Zedek, has aroused the indignation of the members of Rabbi Luebke's congregation. It is said that the members have threatened that if he permits the marriage he will lose his position.

Miss Eichholz is a prominent member of St. John's Lutheran Church. Young Mr. Luebke belongs to his father's congregation. He and his fiancée met on a trolley car some time ago, and it was love at first sight. When the parents of the young folks learned of this state of affairs there was much objection by both families on religious grounds.

Rabbi Luebke tried to induce the young woman to break the engagement, but she refused, and neither would she change her faith. The Rabbi's son was just as obstinate regarding his matrimonial designs. He declined, however, to become Christianized.

Despite the objections of their parents the couple fixed their wedding day for July 22, but who will officiate is not known. It probably will be an Alderman.

When the trustees of the synagogue heard of the aproaching wedding a committee was appointed and waited on Rabbi Luebke and informed him that if his son married Miss Eichholz he would probably lose his position. He is in a quandary as to what to do.

GEORGE W. VANDERBILT YIELDS.

Will Remove Objectionable Porte Cochere on Fifth Avenue Property.

Borough President Cantor yesterday received a communication from Corporation Counsel Rives in which the latter informs Mr. Cantor that he has received word from the counsel for George W. Vanderbilt that the latter will voluntarily remove the porte cochère in front of his mansion, at Fifty-first Street and Fifth Avenue, emphasizing the assertion that he, however, reserves all of his rights in the matter.

The porte cochère was some time ago declared to be a violation of the Building Code, notwithstanding the fact that Perez M. Stewart, while Building Superintendent, had approved of the plans for it submitted to the Building Department by Mr. Vanderbilt's architects.

Mr. Cantor held that the Superintendent had no power to approve of plans that were contrary to the provisions of the law, and ordered its removal. The matter was taken to the courts, where President Cantor's position was sustained. It is presumed that by "reserving his rights," Mr. Vanderbilt will appeal the case, and if he wins out will restore the porte cochère, and sue the city for the expense of taking it down and putting it back.

New Rug for Mayor's Office.

The handsome $1,000 rug for the Mayor's office, which was ordered some time ago, arrived yesterday and was laid in the large reception room. The rug is 22 by 25 feet in dimensions, is very thick, and the background of Wilton variety is buff with scroll work around in blue, yellow, and green. The words "New York" are in the centre, and the city's coat of arms appears at each of the corners.

Portrait of Rodin Goes to Cincinnati.

John W. Alexander's portrait of Rodin, the famous French sculptor, has been purchased by the Directors of the Cincinnati Museum of Fine Arts for the permanent collection. This portrait took a gold medal at the Paris Exposition of 1900, and is one of the artist's most important works.

STEEL TRUST EARNINGS

Quarter's Showing Better Than Had Been Expected.

Corporation's Earnings Decreased $1,162,530, as Compared with the Corresponding Period of Last Year.

The earnings of the United States Steel Corporation for the month of June and for the quarter ended June 30 was made public yesterday. They were more favorable than it had been expected they would be. The earnings for the quarter this year were $36,499,528, while for the same period last year they were $37,662,058, showing a decrease from last year of $1,162,530, while the expectation had been that the decrease would reach over $2,000,000.

The statement, with comparisons for the last three months with the same periods of the last previous year, shows as follows:

NET EARNINGS.

	1903.	1902.
January	$7,425,775	......

Undivided profits or surplus for the six months		$17,037,047

*Subject to adjustment on account of conversion of preferred stock into the ten-sixty year 5 per cent. bonds.

The unfilled orders on hand this year are slightly less than they were at this time last year. On July 1, 1903, there were on hand orders for 4,666,578 tons, while on July 1, 1902, the amount was 4,741,993 tons. The regular dividends on the preferred and on the common stock were declared. The preferred dividend is payable Aug. 15 and the common dividend is payable on Sept. 30.

STORY OF THE VASTY DEEP.

Fisherman Found Diamond-Set Coin in Cod's Stomach and Man in Kansas Claims It.

Some few weeks ago A. B. Levy of 529 Broadway went fishing down at the Fishing Banks. His luck was not exceptionally good, but when he reached home and the catch had been cleaned he found that he had broken the record. In the stomach of a cod was found a ten-dollar gold piece, with two diamonds set on one side and the initials "P. C. E." on the other. Mr. Levy was so amazed that he sent the story to the papers, and it was copied throughout the country. This he thought would be the end of it, and the matter slipped from his mind and was forgotten. But yesterday he received a letter from Patrick C. Evans, residing in Kansas, who claims the ten-dollar piece as his own, and Mr. Levy will surrender it to him. Mr. Evans in his letter tells the following story:

"I some days ago saw in a St. Louis paper an item about your catching a codfish which when you opened it gave up a ten-dollar gold piece, on one side of which was a couple of diamonds and on the other the letters 'P. C. E.' The coin is my property, Mr. Levy. The coin is valuable to me, for the following reason: I was fool enough about five years ago to go into a 'wildcat' gold mining scheme in Colorado. I paid the piper to the tune of about $4,000 before I found out what I was up against. The only thing I got out of the enterprise was this same ten-dollar piece, which I borrowed from the President of the company, a man named Harris Colby, at Leadville, Col., having only a check in my pocket at the time and being shy of ready money. As it happened, I did not change it, and the next day the mine busted up. So I said I would keep the coin as a warning to me not to be played as a sucker by any man or men who owned gold mines. Frank H. Wells, a jeweler, of Denver, Col., put two diamonds in the piece, and also put my initials on the date side, charging me $30 for the job, and I guess the transaction is still on his books if you wish to verify my statement.

"I wore the coin some years, and it made good whenever I was tempted to go into some scheme that promised a bunch of money for next to nothing invested. I was in New York on May 4, and remained over for some time with friends. We went blackfishing in the lower bay, and I was hauling in a fish, when somehow or other the chain to which the coin was fastened got caught in the rigging of our sloop, which just then rolled, the chain snapped, and away went the coin. You can prove the truth of this if you will write me, when I will write and send you the addresses of witnesses of the accident. I will also give you references of good men here and in New York, who will vouch for my business and moral character. I am interested in the salt industry of this town, and have also mining and ranch interests."

BAER RESTORED TO DUTY.

City Librarian Had Been Suspended Under Charges.

Philip Baer, the City Librarian, who was suspended from duty five months ago, was restored by the City Clerk, P. J. Scully, yesterday, and immediately took up his work in the City Hall. Baer was arrested five months ago with two friends, and subsequently was indicted on the charge of conspiring to defraud the Tax Department. It was said that Baer and his two friends employed decoys to go to the tax office, represent themselves as wealthy taxpayers, and then would swear off the taxes of the latter, receiving in return a big commission for so doing.

City Clerk Scully suspended Baer immediately after his arrest. Mr. Scully said yesterday that when he suspended Baer he supposed he would have a speedy trial, but that with five months having passed and Baer still drawing pay and another man being compelled to do his work, it did not seem right, and so he reinstated Baer on the advice of the District Attorney.

THOMPSON ELIGIBLE TO ACT.

Corporation Counsel Upholds New Building Superintendent.

Corporation Counsel Rives yesterday forwarded to Borough President Cantor an opinion upholding the qualifications of Henry S. Thompson to be Superintendent of Buildings to succeed Perez M. Stewart, the appointment having been made by the Borough President. The question had been raised that Mr. Thompson was not eligible in that he had not been engaged in the building business for ten years prior to his appointment.

The opinion written by the Corporation Counsel follows:

"In the particular facts, however, of Mr. Thompson's case, I am of the opinion that his salary should be paid. The charter imposes upon you the entire responsibility of appointing the Superintendent of Buildings. You also have the power under the charter to remove such Superintendent whenever, in your judgment, the public interests shall so require. The presumption is that you have exercised your power of appointment in accordance with the limitations of the charter, and that you have satisfied yourself that Mr. Thompson was eligible to an appointment. Under these circumstances the appointment is legal upon its face and cannot be collaterally attacked."

BOOK COMBINE UNLAWFUL.

Appellate Division Reverses Supreme Court Judgment Under Monopoly Statute.

The interlocutory judgment of the Supreme Court sustaining the demurrers interposed to the complaint in the injunction suit brought by Isidor Straus and another against the American Publishers' Association was reversed yesterday by the Appellate Division. The plaintiffs, who are the proprietors of R. H. Macy & Co.'s department store, complain that the defendants are engaged in a combination or arrangement to prevent them from purchasing and selling books without joining the American Book Publishers' Association and others in an agreement that all books sold by them are to be sold at a net price to be fixed by the publishers of the books. The court holds that the arrangement is clearly within the prohibition of the statute of this State against monopolies. Justice Ingraham, for the court, says, in part:

"Was not the nature and object of the combination to compel every dealer in books to fix the selling price of each book owned by him at the price designated by the publisher of the books? If that was the nature and object of the arrangement or combination, is it not clear that by it competition in the price of books is or may be restrained or prevented? I can conceive of but one answer to that question. What competition in the price at which books are to be sold or retailed can exist if these defendants, constituting, as they do, 95 per cent. of the publishers of books in the United States and Canada, can carry out the object and intent of this combination? For no bookseller who sells a book at a less price than that fixed by the publishers can obtain a book to sell. If he sells a book at a less price than that fixed, the members of the association, who are the publishers of the book, will sell him no books. If he goes to a bookseller to purchase books, and they sell him one, his supply is at once cut off; and if this agreement could be carried out, all competition in the sale of books would necessarily be at an end."

As to the contention that as the books are copyrighted the agreement was merely to carry out the publishers' monopoly given by the copyright law, Justice Ingraham says that he does not understand that that law gives to a publisher any right in the book when once it is published and sold.

TRANSFER SUIT DENIED.

Appellate Division Holds That Lehmaier Fails to Show That He Has Been Denied Any Right.

The decision of Justice O'Gorman of the Supreme Court refusing a mandamus to James S. Lehmaier compelling the Interurban Street Railway Company "to carry for one single fare of 5 cents any passenger desiring to make one continuous trip between any point upon its Eighth Avenue line and any point upon its One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street and Amsterdam Avenue line, &c., was upheld yesterday by the Appellate Division, in an opinion by Justice Ingraham. The court below denied the application for a mandamus on the ground that the remedies provided for in the statute which imposes the duty of granting transfers are legal remedies affording adequate relief to aggrieved passengers. The remedy given by the railroad law is a suit for a penalty of $50. In such a case the Appellate Court holds a resort to the extraordinary remedy of mandamus will not be permitted.

Justice Ingraham calls attention to the fact that there was no allegation that the relator had applied for or been refused a continuous ride on the two lines mentioned for a single fare, and that the application was not to enforce any individual right of Mr. Lehmaier.

To entitle him to the relief asked for, says Justice Ingraham, "it must appear from his affidavit that upon the facts which are not disputed he as an individual is entitled as a matter of law to the relief for which he asks. The relator, so far as appears, has been denied no right to which he is entitled. He seeks to enforce in this proceeding the right that the people have to require the defendant to obey the law under which it exercises certain franchises in the City of New York. Whether or not the defendant should comply with these provisions of law is generally a question for the State to determine and not for an individual, and the statute which imposes this obligation provides the method of its enforcement."

CHIEF TAX CLERK REMOVABLE.

Appellate Division Decides Against Mandamus in Berlinger Case.

The Appellate Division decided yesterday that the position of Henry Berlinger, chief clerk in the Tax Department for Manhattan Borough, was not that of a regular clerk, but was confidential in its nature, and that he could, therefore, be peremptorily removed without charges. Following this decision the Appellate Court reverses an order of the Special Term of the Supreme Court, granting Berlinger a writ of mandamus against James L. Wells and the other Tax Commissioners.

The court comes to its conclusion chiefly on the showing of an ex-President of the Tax Board who wrote to the Municipal Civil Service Commission stating that the position of chief clerk was one that it is not practicable to fill by examination, and that his duties are of a supervisory nature in acting for the Commissioners.

RAPID TRANSIT MEN'S CLUB.

New Home for Brooklyn Street Railroad Employes Opened.

The Brooklyn Rapid Transit Railroad Men's Building, which has been erected on the site of the company's old car barn at Jamaica Avenue and Gillen Place, Brooklyn, was formally opened last evening. The building is intended as a clubhouse for the company's men, and has a most complete equipment.

The structure was built at a cost of about $40,000. It is a large frame building facing on Jamaica Avenue, and contains an entertainment hall, gymnasium, billiard room, bowling alleys, showerbaths, library, and reading room.

John Keating, an employe of the road, presided at the exercises last evening. The music for the occasion was furnished by the Brooklyn Letters Carriers' Band and the Church City Quartet. After a few introductory remarks by the Chairman, the Rev. Dr. P. S. Henson, pastor of the Hanson Place Baptist Church, offered prayer. John F. Calderwood, Vice President and General Manager of the Rapid Transit Company, then addressed the gathering of employes and their friends, who numbered about 1,000. An address by George F. Wolfram, a motorman of the Bridge Division, followed. Addresses were also made by T. J. Nicoll, Vice President and General Manager of the Rochester Street Railroad Company; J. F. Moore, Secretary of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, Railway Department, and J. M. Dudley.

The new building is said to be one of the largest and best-equipped clubhouses for street railroad employes in the country. Besides the club features, it contains rooms where classes in mechanics and electricity will be taught. In this school a skeleton trolley car will be used for purposes of instruction.

Veteran Negro Policeman Retired.

The police force of Brooklyn has lost one of its most interesting and picturesque characters in the retirement yesterday of Doorman Christopher Givens of the Liberty Avenue Station. Givens is a negro and a giant in size. He is 6 feet 7 inches in height and was the tallest policeman in Brooklyn. He had been in the department twenty-three years and is said to have been the first negro appointed as a policeman in Brooklyn. He has retired on a pension.

Pere Marquette Bonds.

N. W. Harris & Co. offer at par and interest $1,500,000 Père Marquette Railroad Company 4½ per cent. gold bonds, secured by a first lien on the Lake Erie and Detroit River Division through the deposit of $3,000,000 5 per cent. first mortgage gold bonds of the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railway Company. They are dated June 1, 1902, and due Aug. 1, 1932, and the interest is payable Feb. 1 and Aug. 1 in New York by the Morton Trust Company as trustee.

ANOTHER COTTON BREAK

Slump in Prices Follows Previous Day's Panic.

August Option Declines to a Level 155 Points Below the High Mark—Heavy Bull Pool Losses.

The cotton market experienced another severe decline yesterday, as had been expected, after the panic of Monday, and prices slumped away some 50 points and more. Toward the close, however, there was a rally of about 25 points, and after the close the opinion was expressed that the bottom had about been reached for the present at least.

The opening of the market was accompanied by scenes of the wildest excitement. Selling orders had accumulated over night, and every broker in the pit had cotton for sale. The attendance was unusually large, and the galleries were crowded by visitors who had come in the hope of seeing things doing. In this hope they were not disappointed, for when the gong announced the opening of the market a shout went up from the pit as if a volcano had blown its head off. There was absolute confusion, and for a time it was impossible to get any idea of the quotations. These differed as much as 5 and 10 points in various parts of the pit at the same time. When some semblance of order had finally been reached, it was found that prices had undergone another violent slump.

Shortly before 11 o'clock the demoralization was at its worst, because at that time more selling orders had been sent in from Southern points. Just about this time the following quotations appeared upon the ticker showing the wild fluctuations that were then taking place. August cotton sold at 11.40, then at 11.20, next at 11.15, then at 11.18, and so on.

The break did not come to a halt until shortly after the noon hour, when the lowest prices for the day were reached. At that time July sold at 11.15, August touched 11 cents, September went to 10.16, and October to 9.16. At these prices the declines from the high point reached on June 26 were 155 points in the August option, and 140 points in the July option. This means that the value of one bale of cotton for August has shrunk nearly $8 a bale. The losses to the bull pool are estimated at nearly $2,000,000, mostly in paper profits.

According to the opinion of experts, the bull leaders are in the main largely responsible themselves for the sudden collapse of the speculative pyramid which it had taken them months to build up. They were so anxious to secure a following to which they could sell out their long cotton at top prices that they forgot the danger which lurks in a great public following. By openly talking of much higher prices for cotton and giving the impression that they had only to move their little fingers to put the price up to where they wanted it, they got a lot of people on the long side whose accounts were only weakly margined. In Wall Street the danger of "having too much company" is well known. This danger they neglected to provide for; at least, that is the opinion of many cotton brokers, and when the crash came and these followers were frightened into selling, the impetus thus given to the downward tendency of prices was too great to be overcome by any ordinary or even extraordinary amount of supporting orders.

The same experts stated yesterday that in their opinion the situation was now very much cleared, and would probably offer to the bull pool a good opportunity to get out of their long cotton, of which it is supposed they still hold some 200,000 bales. At the prices reached yesterday it was thought that the spinners who have been holding off, and even selling spare cotton, would again come into the market and buy for manufacturing purposes.

The closing prices were from 12 to 3 points below the opening, but instead of being demoralized as the market was at the close on Monday, the tone was decidedly steady. The July option closed at 11.40, the August delivery's final price was 11.25, September closed at 10.36, and October at 9.76.

COTTON DROPS IN NEW ORLEANS.

Prices Go Down Under Energetic Hammering by the Bears.

NEW ORLEANS, July 7.—It was a continuation of yesterday's struggle in the cotton market this morning. The bureau crop report was read, but had little effect on prices, although it was considered slightly bullish because of reported damage by the boll weevil in Texas.

Much liquidation was in evidence, and the bears hammered the market with great enthusiasm. Late in the morning August was selling 36 points below the close of yesterday, at 12.49; September 77 points down, at 10.21; October was 40 points down, at 9.49, and December was 27 points down, at 9.32.

WRIGHT TO FACE CHARGES.

British Promoter Waives the Extradition Proceedings—Probably Will Start for England July 29.

Whitaker Wright, British promoter, whose dealings in the London and Globe Finance Corporation have resulted in his spending four months in Ludlow Street Jail, and who has been the subject of extradition proceedings since his arrival in this city in March, appeared yesterday morning before United States Commissioner Alexander. While still contending that his case was not such as to permit extradition, he waived his rights and agreed to return to England.

Commissioner Alexander accordingly held the financier for extradition, and it is said that he probably will be taken to England about July 29. There he expects to get bail.

Wright appeared with his counsel, Samuel Untermyer, who asserted that the depositions introduced fell short of making out a case in support of the charges against his client—these charges being that he was concerned in the making of reports of the affairs of the London and Globe Finance Corporation to its stockholders in the years 1899 and 1900 which were untrue, and that the same statements as contained in the reports were also entered in the books of account of the company.

Mr. Untermyer said that it was not asserted that Mr. Wright personally made any of these reports or entries.

"It is not for a moment pretended," said the lawyer, "that these reports were permitted by Mr. Wright to be distributed with a thought of personal advantage to himself. No act of dishonesty has been charged or suggested against him in all these large transactions.

"The offenses charged are purely technical in character—if they be offenses at all, which I say they are not. It is well known that Mr. Wright depleted his own fortunes in the attempt to rescue the corporation from disaster, and that the present prosecution is at the instigation of private individuals after public prosecution had been refused.

"Under these circumstances the counsel who are representing Mr. Wright in England have urged that he contest these proceedings, and he has been advised, as before stated, that they cannot succeed in securing his involuntary return. Mr. Wright, however, instructs me to say that he insists on returning to meet the charges. From the beginning it has been his wish to return, and again thrash out the questions that have already been ventilated ad nauseam. He has thus far refrained from acting on his own judgment out of deference to his friends and advisers abroad. I assume that the order for his extradition will protect his rights so that he cannot be tried upon any charges other than those on which his extradition is now sought."

The wording of the commitment was a matter of some discussion between Mr. Untermyer and Charles Fox, legal representative of Sir Percy Sanderson, the British Consul. Mr. Untermyer was urgent that the commitment should make it clear that Mr. Wright, once in England, would have to answer to no other charge than the one on which in his waiver to-day he consented to extradition. Commissioner Alexander was of opinion that under the law no other charge could be made than that set forth in the complaint before him—that of fraud as Director of a company.

Mr. Untermyer wanted the commitment to specify that the charge was "being privy to false entries in a statement to the shareholders and in the corporation's books of account."

The Commissioner decided that the commitment should testify that he had found the evidence before him sufficient to hold the accused for extradition for the crime of fraud as a Director of the London and Globe Finance Corporation of London, as alleged in the complaint.

SERVED 17 TERMS IN PRISON.

Henry B. Allen, Expert House Thief, Once More Sent to Sing Sing.

Henry B. Allen, who has been sent to prison seventeen times on burglary charges, was brought up before Judge McMahon, in the Court of General Sessions, yesterday and sent to prison for seven years and ten months on two indictments out of four to which he pleaded guilty. On the other two sentence was suspended.

When Allen was arrested, a few weeks ago, after a great number of burglaries in Harlem, he had in his possession a set of burglar's tools which for nicety of construction and elaborateness of design surpassed anything of the kind that ever came under the observation of the police.

The set is now a part of the collection of police relics on exhibition at Police Headquarters.

SUFFOCATED IN EXCAVATION.

One Life Lost and Several Workmen Injured in Crumbling Earth.

One man was killed and another seriously injured by the fall of a mound of earth in the excavation for the new building at Sixth Avenue and Thirteenth Street yesterday.

The man killed was Giuseppe Casamasi, thirty-two years old, living in East Eleventh Street. Giovanni Terelli of 78 Thompson Street was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital, suffering from internal injuries and scalp wounds.

About a dozen men were undermining a large mound of earth in the excavation when it fell in, covering all the men to a greater or less degree. Casamasi and Terelli were completely buried, and it took twenty-five minutes to recover the body of Casamasi. He had died of suffocation.

WOODEN AWNING COLLAPSES.

Six Pedestrians Injured Near New Harlem Building.

Six persons were hurt yesterday by the falling of a plank covering over the sidewalk at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street and St. Nicholas Avenue.

A large building is being erected there, and a plank awning protects pedestrians from falling bricks. A hoisting engine was being moved on the first floor when it bumped against the covering, knocking about fifty feet of the structure to the sidewalk, inflicting bruises on passers-by.

John Law, 384 West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street, the foreman in charge of the work, was arrested and paroled by Magistrate Baker of the Harlem Court.

Woman Killed by Wagon.

While attempting to cross Myrtle Avenue at Prince Street, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Johanna Burke, fifty-five years old, of 109 Prince Street, was knocked down and run over by a wagon driven by John Henry of 288 Columbia Street. The woman received injuries which resulted in her death an hour later. Henry was arrested and arraigned before Magistrate Tighe in the Adams Street Court. It was shown that Mrs. Burke had stepped suddenly from behind a car in front of Henry's team and that he could not possibly have avoided the accident. He was discharged.

REAL ESTATE MEN MEET.

Four New Directors in United States Realty and Construction Company.

The annual meeting of the United States Realty and Construction Company was held in Jersey City yesterday. All of the old Directors were re-elected. Four new members were also elected to the board, bringing that body up to its full membership of thirty. The new Directors are Faulkner Hill, Byron M. Fellows, R. G. Babbage, and Morris B. Mead.

The Directors will meet to elect officers within a few days, by which time it is expected that the company's annual report will be ready for presentation.

Estate of Dr. C. M. Bell Appraised.

Personal property to the extent of $[illegible] was left by the late Dr. Christopher M. Bell, who died September 3, 1902, at Baden-Baden, according to the official appraisement filed yesterday with the Surrogate for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of inheritance tax due. Under the will the widow, Mrs. Mary Bell, who lives at Newport, has a life interest in the entire property with the exception of a [illegible] bequest to a brother of the testator, [illegible] Bell. The estate, on the death of Mrs. Bell, goes to the son, D. M. Bell, who also lives at Newport.
